

Be Sure You Get Duffy's

The merchant who tries to twist you away from what you first ask for and offers something "just as good" or "more for the same money" does so because he makes more money on the sale of inferior goods.

Get what you go after. When you ask for Duffy's, be sure you get Duffy's. Take no other. Substitutes are imitations and imitations are dangerous.

Stonewall Jackson

BY H. L. RANN.

This is the 50th anniversary of the death of Stonewall Jackson, Confederate General. General Jackson was not named Stonewall by his parents, who preferred Thomas Jonathan, but by the entire Union army, after it had run up against Jackson in the performance of his duty. The only fact that Stonewall Jackson ever turned his back to were liquor, profanity, backbiting and other similar pursuits.

General Jackson was born in the mountains of Western Virginia when a mere child, and soon after was made an orphan without any action on his part. After attending country school and learning how to throw the damp paper wad with unerring accuracy, young Jackson worked his passage into West Point and took the full course, including the 32d degree in plain and fancy hazing. When the Mexican war broke out, Stonewall broke out with it and returned home with a collection of shoulder straps which caused him so much embarrassment that he had to cover it with a heavy undergrowth of whiskers.

At the opening of the Civil war Jackson offered his sword to his state, which commissioned him to attack, defeat, scatter, separate, segregate and decimate the Union army whenever he felt in the mood for doing so. As Jackson was in this mood about nine-months of the time, his methods of doing business became very annoying to the Union generals, who never were able to whip him with any success except in the press dispatches to the northern papers.

General Jackson had the disagreeable habit of running around the Union army in circles, and then penetrating a neat surprise by piercing it in the left flank with great vivacity. It was while engaged in one of these movements that Jackson encountered the fire of some of his own men and fell. His death stilled a valiant, chivalrous heart and deprived the Confederate army of its most successful general.

Footers' Meet.

Pippy, League Delegate. The three former officers and Mr. T. Sparks comprise the Selecting Committee. The Collegians are now getting in trim and hope to give a good account of themselves in this year's league fixtures.

Nickel's Fine Bill.

The week end change at the Nickel Theatre was an attractive and interesting one. The programme was varied and lengthy and gave general satisfaction. The pictures were specially arranged and selected to suit everybody and the manager certainly succeeded in his object. Nickel patrons should not miss this excellent show.

Dear Sirs,—In reference to your inquiry as to the selling qualities of Mathieu's Syrup, we might say that it is of no use whatever for us to keep any other Cough Medicine in stock. When you first began to sell it here, the Druggists did not handle it, and now every Druggist in town has it, and we are sure they find a ready sale for it. Mathieu's Syrup is sold by at least 18 Dealers in Springhill.

Hr. Grace Notes.

A goodly supply of fresh salmon was in the market this morning, and sold for 12 and 15 cents per lb.

Our shoe factories are now rushing to fill spring orders, the operatives being forced to work overtime.

Farmers are now very busy preparing for their summer's work. The season is fully a month ahead of other years.

There will be a meeting of citizens at the Court House, to-night, to decide on some fitting way to receive His Excellency the Governor next Wednesday. Carbonnier will also hold a meeting to-night for the same purpose. His Excellency will visit that town on Thursday next.

Many of the roads in town are now in a bad condition, requiring immediate attention. The boulders on Death Hill, referred to by us three weeks ago, are still there, no effort being made to remove them.

The s.s. Lloydson, which arrived here on Monday morning, is discharging her cargo at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's. There are several young stowaways on board. The ship will finish this evening.

Mr. James W. Walsh, for the past 18 years on the Standard staff, has decided to try his luck in Canada, and leaves for Montreal in about two weeks. Mr. Walsh is a skilled job printer and has turned out some excellent work. We predict for him much success in the big Canadian capital.

Mrs. Alex. Butt and her four children, after spending the winter here with Mr. Butt's mother, left to-day for Sydney to join her husband who is working there.

It is so common to find fault with postal and in fact all Government officials, that perhaps a change will do no harm. The P.M.G. will be glad to hear that his postal arrangements are so complete that your correspondent posted a letter for Boston on Saturday, April 26th, and received a reply to it on Monday, May 5th—only nine days.

We regret to report the illness of Mr. John N. Ash, one of our best known citizens. Mr. Ash was stricken with what appeared to be a stroke of paralysis a week or so ago, and is still far from well, although slightly improved. We hope soon to be able to report the complete recovery of our old friend.

Tuesday last, the 6th inst., flags were flying in different parts of the town, it being the anniversary of the accession of King George V.

The schooner Ruby, Capt. M. Yetman, arrived from St. John's this a.m. with a load of provisions to R. D. McRae & Sons.

It is said the firm of R. D. McRae has just purchased the fine new three-masted schooner Hilda R., and will use her in the foreign trade.

Oh, well, I don't care if they fuss with the tariff and knock all the schedules sky high, fifty ways; I'll tend to my knitting and just keep on hitting my trusty old garden for what it can raise. That moldy old question won't spoil my digestion or cause me to lose half a minute of sleep; with pigs to be tended and sheds to be mended, oh, why should I worry or argue or weep? I see many neighbours neglecting their labours to prove that the tariff is noxious and rank; and while they are fussing and pawing and cussing I carry a package of bones to the bank. I see many a sleek, old grass-nourished relic, debating the duties on sheepskins and salt, and while they are spinning your uncle is wheeling a barrow of huddle to put in the vault. I see many fellows exhausting their bellows, explaining free trade as a thing that is fine, and while they are yawning I keep on a-hopping and pick the marks and the kroners in brine. Oh, cut out the fooling and mooning and drooling o'er tariffs and duties and schedules and such, and labor like thunder, and sit down the plunder where 'twas won't corrupt it, and soon you'll be rich.

FIRST BANKER HOME.—The banker Metamora, Capt. J. Lewis, has arrived at the home port with three hundred quintals of cod, after two weeks fishing on the Grand Banks. The Metamora is the first banker to arrive from the spring trip.

ENLARGED FOR TOURIST TRAFFIC.—Since her last visit here, the s.s. City of Sydney has been extensively renovated. The dining room and state rooms in the saloon have been beautifully painted and additional beds have been installed. It is expected that the tourist traffic this season will be large.

MUCH ICE ABOUT.—Wednesday, the s.s. Meigle left Bay of Islands and arrived at Cow Head yesterday. There is much ice in the Straits and she has her work cut out for her to get through. The Duchess of Marlborough which left Lewisporte Monday last for Battle Harbor, could only get to Fortune. She met a heavy jam of Arctic ice below this and was forced to return. The ice is closely packed on the shore and extends away north. The ship will make another attempt to get north next Monday.
