WAR LOAN

1,750 Million Dollars

Income of Country is Nine Times What it Was in Napoleon's Time--
The First Year of War Will Cost 2,250 Million Dollars.

11.30 A.M.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-day.
Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in presenting the financial statement to the Commons yesterday afternoon said, he was making proposals not merely to meet an increased expenditure up to the end of March next but to meet also a deficit in the necessary sum for which provision had been made. Already £535,000,000 covering ordinary war expenses. The additional amount which had to be found was £233,571,000. The full year of the war would cost £450,000,000. The proposed income tax should be doubled in this year there would be collected in that respect one-third of the income tax. He announced an extra duty of three pence per pound on tea, one halfpenny on a half pint of beer. It would be necessary, continued the Chancellor, to borrow £230,000,000 in the country through to the end of the financial year. It was also desirable to have some surplus, hence he proposed a loan of £250,000,000 at three and one-half per cent. The issue price would be ninety-five redeemable at war on the thirty-first of March, 1928; £100,000,000 had already been offered the Government. The tea duty, he said, would produce £95,000,000 this year, £2,200,000 next year. The beer duty would yield £2,000,000 this year and £19,000,000 the year following. The new taxation this year would realize £15,500,000, the suspension of the sinking fund would give £2,750,000. Proceeding, Lloyd George declared the income of the country at present to be £2,200,000,000, whereas during the Napoleonic war it was £250,000,000. If, he added, we rose to the heroic level of our ancestors, we should now be raising almost £700,000,000. The war, he said, might be long or short, but we are fighting an enemy who will submit to no terms that we could accept or on no terms we could prudently accept without a smashing defeat. A wise Chancellor undertakes to give the States certain facilities in connection with the new loan. The Bank for three years would be prepared to make advances against the deposit of war stock taken at issue price without collateral security at one per cent below the market rate of interest. In conclusion, he appealed for support for the loan. He said it was a loan to help this country to fight this battle for her existence. Victory meant value. Defeat meant destruction. It was an excellent investment because the credit of Britain was still the best in the world. Lloyd George was loudly cheered upon resuming his seat. The resolution was passed.

TURKS FIRE ON U. S. LAUNCH.

LONDON, To-day.
A despatch from Athens says a launch of the United States, carrying a gun, was entering the Gulf of Smyrna to arrange for a cruiser to come into the harbor, was fired upon by the forts and sunk. The launch returned to the Tennessee. The Commander informed the Vell that he had orders from his Government to enter the harbor of Smyrna and had decided to do so.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF LORD ROBERTS AT THE BRITISH HEAD-QUARTERS.

LONDON, To-day.
The Official Press Bureau gives a touching account of the funeral services of Lord Roberts at the headquarters of the British Army in France. The route of the cortege from the house where he died to the Matre where the funeral service was held, says the statement, was lined with British and French troops. The coffin was borne on a gun carriage. The guards of honor were Indian and British troops.

'O the Forest' from the pipers. The cortege moved slowly through a double rank of soldiers with arms reversed. General officers acted as pall bearers, those following the casket included representatives of the family of Lord Roberts and King Albert and President Poincare, the Prince of Wales, Prince Arthur of Connaught and General French. The simple funeral service was conducted by Chaplain Anderson of the British forces. At the conclusion of the service British bugles rang out 'The Last Post.' As the coffin was removed to a motor ambulance for conveyance to Boulogne, French trumpeters across the square blew a fanfare and the guns of Roberts' old regiment roared out the last farewell.

CAPT. LUCE'S REPORT OF THE NAVAL BATTLE OFF THE CHILEAN COAST.

LONDON, To-day.
The Admiralty issued last night the report of Captain Luce, of the British light cruiser Glasgow, of the battle with the German squadron on Nov. 1st, off the Chilean coast. The Glasgow, which left Coronel on the morning of that day was advised by Rear Admiral Craddock that the enemy's ships were to the northward. Towards evening the Glasgow sighted the smoke and reported to Rear Admiral Craddock and the British fleet formed a line ahead with the Good Hope leading, the Monmouth, Glasgow and Otranto following. The enemy had turned South and were also in single line ahead, the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau leading. The enemy was at that time 15,000 yards away says the report and maintained this range, at the same time jabbing the wireless signals. The sun was setting immediately behind the British ships and while it remained above the horizon the British had the advantage in light, but the range was too great. When it had set and visibility of conditions were altered, the British ships were silhouetted against afterglow and the falling light made the enemy difficult to see. The Germans opened fire at 7 o'clock at twelve thousand yards, followed in quick succession by the British; the growing darkness and heavy spray and head sea made firing difficult, particularly from the main deck of the guns of Good Hope and Monmouth. The enemy firing salvoes got the range quickly and their third salvo caused an outbreak of fire on the forepart of both ships which were constantly on fire until 7.45 in the evening. At 7.50 an explosion occurred on the Good Hope amidships, the flames reached 200 feet high. Total destruction must have followed. It was now quite dark and both sides continued firing at the flashes of the operating guns. The Monmouth was badly down by the bow and turned away to get her stern to the sea, signalling the Glasgow to effect a landing. The Glasgow signalled to the Monmouth, the enemy is following us, but received no reply. Under a rising moon the enemy ships could be seen approaching and as the Glasgow could render the Monmouth no assistance she proceeded at full speed to avoid destruction. At 8.40 we lost sight of the enemy. At 9.30 we observed flashes of fire which were doubtless the final attack on the Monmouth. A statement issued by the British Admiralty on November 6th, concerning the sea fight off Chile said the battleship Canopus was not present at the time of the battle. The report of Capt. Luce indicates that Craddock tried with his wireless to locate the Canopus which was doubtless in the Pacific and within range of a wireless call, with the hope that the battleship would turn her prow in his direction and assist in giving battle to the Germans.

GERMANS MEET HEAVY LOSS.

LONDON, To-day.
A correspondent at Amsterdam sends the following: "According to the Telegram's St. Netherlands correspondent, the Germans occupying Dixmude have suffered heavy losses in fresh fighting which has taken place there. They lost 2,700 men. The town of Nieupoort is badly damaged. Heavy cannonading was heard on Tuesday in the direction of Ypres, indicating the renewal of severe fighting there."

NO OVERTURES FOR PEACE.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
No suggestion of overture for peace in the European conflict has been made by any of the belligerents in response to President Wilson's tender of friendly offices of the United States, and there is no present intention on the part of the President to renew negotiations to end the war. The President gave this information to callers yesterday and added that his Government now awaits some action by belligerents.

Why Indians Fight in France.

The London Times prints this translation of an interview between the correspondent of the Secolo and one of the King's Indian soldiers now in France. The correspondent was curious to discover the temper of the Indian troops. "Are you glad," he asked, "to have come here to fight for a country which is not yours—France—England—which dominates you?" The Indian looked at him with eyes full of wonder and indignation, and replied: "India is not oppressed by any one; she is a part, and not a small part of a great Empire. Therefore the Indians are not slaves of this Empire, but subjects as are the English, the Scottish, and the Irish. The English Empire is menaced by a nation called Germany, and to defend itself it has appealed to all its subjects. If the Empire were menaced in India, the English soldiers would have gone there, but as it is menaced in Europe, we have come here." He added in accents of profound pride, "We are English!"

Not Tempting to France

Springfield Republican:—For France to desert its Allies would mean the gravest possible peril, whichever side should win; in the case of a triumph for Germany, France would always be her mere vassal, while if the Allies should win France would probably be made to suffer in many ways. The very fact that France never had a more pacific government than when the war broke out has apparently united the nation to an extraordinary degree. Russia has its pro-Germans, whose influence is felt in the press, and England has its Russophobes who may seek a peace which will preserve a strong Germany, but in France all classes, including the socialists, seem resolved to see the thing through. Even the whole of Alsace-Lorraine would hardly be a temptation.

Spaniard's Bay Briefs.

Our men have all arrived from Labrador; the last of them came by the s.s. Sagona. Whereas some of them have done fairly well, others haven't done much, this with a smaller price than previous years, coupled with the increased prices of foodstuffs and the scarcity of labour, many will find it difficult to tide themselves over the winter months.

On behalf of the Parish of Spaniard's Bay, we take the opportunity (although late) of congratulating our Rector Rev. J. S. Adams on his success in satisfying the examiners of the London University and thereby gaining the degree of B.D.

The public building is now completed and we hear that within a few days it will be opened.

We feel keenly for Mr. Simeon Sheppard, who on Nov. 5th had his dwelling house and shop entirely destroyed by fire. He carried no insurance whatever on the property.

On the 11th inst., the Ladies of the Patriotic Association held a hot supper followed by a short entertainment, when the grand amount of $132 was realized. Much credit is due to the ladies for bringing it to such a successful issue.

On Saturday, 14th inst., we were very much pleased with a visit from Lady Davidson, who addressed the ladies of the Patriotic Association in the Parish Hall, and by her noble and patriotic address not only endeared herself to those of her hearers, but encouraged them to continue the noble work which they had been doing.

We were very sorry His Excellency the Governor could not pay us a visit owing to his time being limited, but many of the men drove to Bay Roberts and had the pleasure of listening to his patriotic and instructive address and also the privilege of shaking hands with him.

The following young men from Spaniard's Bay are now doing active service for King and Country: James Jewer, Stanley Hutchings, James Gosse, John Hutchings, Edward Neil, Herbert Drover and Levi Chipman.—COR.

Charleston, S.C., Nov. 12.—F. W. Heman, business manager of the Jacksonville, Florida, Times-Union, was killed; Captain Ingram, of the Clyde liner Mohawk, and C. L. Wright, of Utica, New York, were seriously wounded by a passenger, alleged to be H. G. Perkins, of Baltimore, while aboard the Mohawk last night at sea.

Perkins was arrested when the steamer arrived here to-day, and held pending action by the coroner.

In response to a wireless call, the hospital steward of the torpedo boat destroyer Flusser, came to the assistance of the wounded men.
