WILL DEMAND A SHARE.
WASHINGTON, March 13.—The United States Government has stated on high authority that it does not intend to allow the Allies to reap all the fruits of the war. It will demand a share in the occupation of Rhineland, and leave nothing for the United States as recompense for expenses incurred in the occupation of Rhineland. This announcement was occasioned by a report from Paris that the Allied Governments contemplated deferring the occupation of the Rhineland at the request of the United States for Rhineland occupation, on the ground that the United States Government had not ratified the Treaty of Versailles. The announcement further said that under the terms of the Armistice, the United States was to remain in the Rhineland at the express request of the Allied Governments, and there was an explicit understanding that the United States should be reimbursed for the cost of keeping troops in Rhineland under the Versailles Treaty. It was explained that the United States was not to be charged with the cost of occupying the Rhineland, but that the cost of occupying the Rhineland was to be charged against the cost of occupying Germany. It was stated that the United States should share equally with the Allies in these payments, and that this was added cannot be obtained from this plain issue.

PEACEFUL BELFAST.
BELFAST, March 13.—Twelve persons, including women and children, were injured through the explosion of a bomb thrown in a crowded street to-night. There were no bomb outrages during the night. Sergeant Clark, accompanied by a constable, was returning from the scene of the disturbance when he was shot in the chest. The constable returned the shot of an armed man, when a civilian was dangerously wounded.

SHOULD ACCEPT THE JOB.
TORONTO, March 14.—The United States is in the best position of all nations to play the role of mediator in Europe, said Colonel C. A. Repton, the well known English writer, in his address here to-night. Great Britain has done its best as mediator and banker for other nations, was the opinion of the Colonel, and now that she was involved in difficulties in India, Egypt, South Africa and Ireland, the time seemed opportune for the national colossus of North America to take over the job. Colonel Repton estimated that the United States had about fifty per cent. of the world's gold locked up in its vaults, which at present was largely unproductive. He was forced to the conclusion that the world would have to turn to the gold standard, and that issues of paper currency would have to cease. Colonel Repton stated that the smaller nations of Europe could not carry out a disarmament program fully, until the Russian situation was cleared up. Speaking of the position of France, he said that country had military superiority, might be with Germany. Colonel Repton seemed to think that the best mass of the better class people of Germany still entertained hopes of restoration of the monarchy. He said they regarded the monarch as the symbol of authority, and as the only person for successful combatting of the machinations of Socialists.

A POSSIBLE CHALLENGER.
ESSEX, Mass., March 13.—A schooner, as yet unnamed, and a possible contender for the honor of being the fastest of the North Atlantic, was launched at the shipyard of A. D. Dyer. She is owned by Gloucester, and is from designs by T. J. McManus, of Boston. It is expected that she will be launched within ten days. The vessel, which is named "graceful as a yacht," will be taken out by Capt. Clayton Carney in general fisheries.

PIERRE IS ALWAYS NEAR.
NEW YORK, March 13.—Plans for "a floating liquor palace," says J. V. Martin has announced, will be stationed in the Atlantic, outside the three mile limit, are going forward, according to Martin. In view of an announcement by Roy A. Dyer, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, that the vessel will not be permitted. Furthermore, declares Martin, who says he is the agent of the financially interested, the vessel and possibly the third "Liquor Palace" will be constructed should the first be successful. In answer to a question, Mr. Hayes' assertion that he will seek action to thwart the plans, Martin says there is nothing in this character. Martin asserts "the recreation vessel" will be as large as the steamer Leviathan, and it will be constructed in Europe by European workmen, and that the vessel will amount to ten million dollars. The vessel, it is planned, will have five sections, each representing a different country, with liquors and wines of those countries. Thirty New Yorkers will be transported to and from stations in Manhattan, Brooklyn, New Jersey and Staten Island shores.

TRUSTY ON THE STUMP.
MOSCOW, March 13.—Leon Trotsky, Soviet Minister of War, addressing an extraordinary session of the Moscow Soviet to-day, declared the Genoa conference was intended to develop plans of international capitalists for intervention in Russia, accompanied by encouragement of revolutionary activities. Foreign capitalists, with the aid of Grand Duke Nicholas, hoped to get control of the Russian oil fields, he said.

ALLIES ARE WORRYING.
PARIS, March 14.—The Allies are worried by the tone of communications from Moscow, with regard to the Genoa Economic Conference, and views have been exchanged among the Allied Governments in the past few days, as to conditions under which the Conference is likely to open. If Russian Soviet representatives go there in the spirit indicated by recent declarations of Soviet leaders, these declarations are interpreted in French circles as meaning that Russian representatives will go with a determination to talk about anything they desire to, or not take any part at all.

REBELS, STRONGHOLD TAKEN.
JOHANNESBURG, March 14.—Government forces have captured Brakpan from the rebels, entering the town yesterday afternoon. Brakpan is a coal mining centre twenty-two miles East of Johannesburg, and has been one of the strongholds of the revolutionists.

THE RIGHT TO SMOKE.
A remarkable strike occurred at Leeds, 100 girls employed by Messrs. Hepworth and Sons, wholesale clothiers, throwing up their employment to obtain the reinstatement of five girls discharged for smoking. The firm enforce rigidly a rule that no person shall smoke on the premises. On Friday afternoon five girls were found smoking and were instantly dismissed.

LUNenburg FLEET HELD UP.
Lunenburg, N.S., March 7.—The first strike in the history of the Lunenburg fishing fleet has resulted from a demand of the vessel cooks for $150 per month. The captains and crews are willing to pay $125. The schooners expected to sail for the banks this week or next, but many will probably be delayed. The cooks of the Lunenburg fleet are the only men who receive a stated wage. The captains and crews work on a co-operative basis, sharing according to the success of their vessels.

English Boxing Fans Watching Closely.
LONDON, (Associated Press)—With four home champions expected to uphold their titles during the coming two months, and the prospect of seeing Carpenter again in a London ring, English enthusiasts are following the boxing game closely. George Cook recently defeated by Carpenter returns to the ring on March 27, meeting Joe Beckett, the English champion in a match labelled the British Empire heavy-weight championship. It is expected that this same bill will include a bout between Joe Fox, the holder of the feather-weight belt, and the Belgian, Arthur Wyns, which has been postponed from this month because the former fell a victim to the influenza epidemic. Wyns has already beaten one English featherweight champion, Mike Honeyman. Boy McCormick, who lost last November to Ted "Kid" Lewis, the middle-weight holder well-known in America, will meet Jack Bloomfield two weeks later to decide future possession of the light heavy-weight belt, now held by McCormick. Lewis is also recovering from an attack of the "flu" and is expected to be in perfect condition for his match with Carpenter which, according to present arrangements, will be held here about the middle of April.

Don't Want Tame Rabbits.
TIERED OF DOMESTICATED BUNNIES.
BERLIN, (Associated Press)—Germans are turning against the use of tame rabbits as food. Rabbit sausage was a staple of the Teuton table in wartime and Germans explain its present unpopularity by saying they had too much of it in that "starvation period." Millions of tame rabbits were imported from Belgium and Holland by the states and the municipalities, and sold at a normal cost to the citizens, who established rabbit hutches and bred them to replenish the beef and pork supply in the war. Berlin alone bought 100,000,000 marks worth of rabbits in one order, for which the city is still indebted. Whole trainloads of the little animals were distributed from 1917 to the middle of the following year. Many families tasted no other meat but rabbit for months, and the sweetish flavor of it palled. Then came a time when the cost of rabbit feed became so high that the citizens were compelled to kill the animals and eat them, or see them starve. Soon the rabbit houses on the roofs of buildings, on balconies, in backyards, gardens, and odd corners of alleys and streets, disappeared. Wild rabbit is still sold in the market stalls, but the tame variety of the species has virtually vanished, unlamented.

That Shorn Lamb.
A subtle form of irreverence shown in prayers for the weather was well illustrated by a Western American township. Its main street pointed due east, and bitter eastern gales blew fiercely and continuously down it till life became a burden. At length the leading citizens determined (on the suggestion of the local editor) that a shorn lamb should be tethered at the open end of the main street—on the ground that "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb." What their luck was I don't know, but I wonder how many people could say where exactly this proverb occurs in the Bible? Not many, I expect; because it comes from Sterne's "Sentimental Journey."—From the Daily News.

ROYAL DANCES.
The man who thinks that dancing is beneath him will be interested to learn that the Royal Family contains many good dancers, of whom the Prince of Wales is probably the best. His Royal Highness learned to dance when he was a small child, and even if he were not a prince, would be an asset to any ballroom. Prince Henry is trying to emulate him, and has lately taken lessons at an academy near Regent Street. Princess Mary, of course, is a very graceful dancer, her two favourite dances being the fox-trot and the waltz. The Queen puts the waltz first of all, possibly because she dances it best.

A Bit Off.
Mrs. Newrich was describing her travels to an envious audience. "And have you been in South America?" somebody inquired. "Many times," said Mrs. Newrich, rather bored. "In fact, I know it from end to end." "Then, of course, you went up the Amazon?" "No! As a matter of fact I didn't." Mrs. Newrich fanned herself languidly. "My husband went to the top, but I never did care for climbing."

Black-Coated Criminals.
Students of sociological conditions will be interested to learn, on the authority of the British Commissioners of Prisons, that since the war a new class of offenders against the laws of the country has come into existence. These are people who are "educated and of respectable antecedents and parentage." One explanation is that these folk became accustomed to a certain style of living during the war, and since that period, finding themselves unable to sustain that standard by legitimate means, have drifted into crime. Both men and women figure in this gallery. The women are mostly shoplifters, and in this particular form of crime there has lately been a most formidable increase. The great stores are appalled by the extent to which this crime has grown, and their losses have lately been so great that they are talking of uniting in a common effort to suppress it.

TARTAR.
"Tartar" is a lime-like substance that forms on the teeth. It is composed of saliva, phosphate of lime, etc., and becomes attached to the teeth near the salivary duct. It is porous like a sponge and holds particles of food which decompose and taint the breath with an offensive odor. This tartar once formed increases, always in the direction of the gums; first inflaming them, then causing them to puff up and recede from the teeth, and finally by absorption of the bony sockets, to cause good, sound teeth to drop out for want of support.

The Last and Biggest Event in the "WASH OUT" SALE

Climax Sale of MEN'S HATS Soft and Stiff ALL THIS WEEK

A Sale for celebration purposes only. Water reached very few of our hats. Spoiled all our delicate stuff, left our hats untouched practically. Anybody knows that water couldn't take the color out of a Stetson, a Christy, a Borsalino. Something we've spouted about for years. And here comes a grand, royal chance to prove it, and the water hikes right into another part of the store. Rot-ten luck! We had to celebrate the closing of this Sale. All our damaged stock was bought up, so we cut into the ranks of the regulars. Every hat placed on the price-block. Prices we dare any store to duplicate, even where the hats come from. And the hats are untouched, unharmed, perfect. Man alive, there never was such a chance for you to save money.

CHRISTY
Blue, Green, Brown.
Regular . . . $6.00 to $8.50.
