what has been achieved in the New. There are points where the American spirit is in sympathy with the spirit of Canada, Australia, Africa, and New Zealand. These countries, in the same way as America, have been settled and made by British people who, still loyal to the traditions of the Old Country, set out to till new soil and carry the traditions of English husbandary across the seas.

The Empire Exhibition, towards which the eyes of the world are turned, is a gigantic and successful effort to prove to the world, that even through the tragery of her War, and | the strain that came after, Great Britain and her Dominions have grown, in fact and in vision, making the greatest Empire of them all.
