THREE TOWNS WIPED OUT

Dakota Tornado Does Its Work With Great Dispatch.

Farm Buildings, Telegraph Lines and Other Trifles Brushed Away.

St. Paul, Minn., June 16.—Tremendous damage, and, it is thought, loss of life, were caused by a tornado which last night swept in a southwesterly direction from the international boundary across the northeastern portion of North Dakota. Three towns, according to reports, were literally wiped out. Railway and telegraph lines are wrecked.

The first intimation of the seriousness of the storm came when the Great Northern and Northern Pacific telegraph lines in the storm district were suddenly snuffed out. A few moments later communication west of Fargo on the Great Northern and west of Ulen on the Northern Pacific was cut off. Telephone lines suffered the same damage, and from the St. Paul headquarters it was impossible to reach farther than Fargo.

ABSOLUTE WRECK.
The little town of Borup, on the St. Vincent line of the Great Northern, is an absolute wreck. The final report was that the entire town was wiped out, and hardly a structure of any sort left standing. This came from a plucky Great Northern telegraph operator who, his station office had been laid flat, saved his life from the ruins and tapped the wires at the nearest available point. He also reported the razing of hamlets some miles distant, with destruction of a large amount of property. No casualties have been reported at Borup as yet.

TWO MORE TOWNS.

With the report from the St. Vincent branch came reports that the towns of Eldorado, about seven miles from Grand Forks, and Thompson, between Grand Forks and Larimore, had been destroyed. At Thompson the Great Northern station lies a confused mass of wreckage directly across the main line. Stores and residences are in ruins, and the main portion of the town is wiped out. The population is about 400.

More fragments of information came from Eldorado, but these indicate the destruction of that town of about 250 people. Nearly all the reports from Thompson or Eldorado speak of loss of life.

TRAIN BLOWN OFF TRACK.
At Winnipeg Junction a stock train was blown completely from the track, but whether or not the crew escaped could not be learned. The train was carrying a large number of passengers.

WESTERN HAILSTONES.

Sauk Centre, Minn., July 16.—About $100,000 damage has been done by hail crops near Sauk Centre by a rain, hail and wind storm about midnight. Hail nine inches in circumference fell.

A PORCH-CLIMBER'S BOOTY

He Stole Diamonds and Jewelry Altogether Valued at $3,600.

Train Robbers Cornered by Deputy Sheriffs—Fight Expected.

San Francisco, July 17.—A porch climber entered the residence of the French consul-general, M. Dalmagne, last night, and stole diamonds and jewelry worth $3,600. Altogether, 33 pieces of jewelry were taken, many of them heirlooms and gifts from rulers of nations to whom M. Dalmagne had been sent on diplomatic missions.

The robber stole the green crown of Turkey, a gold and enameled emblem with which M. Dalmagne had been decorated. This decoration was merely loaned, and upon the death of the recipient it was to be returned to the sultan. This was a heavy piece, worth as gold $400.

TRAIN ROBBERIES SURROUNDED.
Sagache, Col., July 16.—The men who robbed the Denver and Rio Grande train at Mills Switch, on Marshall Pass, have been located between Middle Creek and Sheep Creek, in Sagache county, not over 20 miles from the scene of the hold-up. Three posses have been practically surrounded, and it is believed that a battle will take place today.

Budapest's postmaster has invented an apparatus by which it is possible to send and receive wireless telephone messages at stations four miles apart.

He got into his buggy this morning, but his mother noticed that the young man was dead. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

ROOSTER'S SPUR CAUSES A MAN'S DEATH.

Trenton, N. J., July 17.—The death of James W. Carroll, 58 years old, whose funeral took place yesterday, is attributed to an attack by a rooster. While handling chickens in his yard he was struck on the back of the right hand by a fowl, the wound being on a vein. The hand swelled greatly. He went into the house and lying on the floor expired instantly.

UNDER A TREE

Woman and Her Son-in-Law Struck by Lightning and Killed.

Albany, N. Y., July 16.—Charles Coons, Jun., and his mother-in-law, Mary Kemp, who lived on a farm about 14 miles west of this city, took shelter under a tree during the progress of an electrical storm. Almost immediately a bolt of lightning struck the two, instantly killing both of them.

REFORM IN THE COLONIES

Self-Government Productive of Best Results.

Sir Wilfrid's Remarks at the Colonial Premier's Banquet.

London, July 16.—At the banquet given by the National Liberal Club in honor of the colonial premiers, Sir Wilfrid Laurier responded to the toast, "Our Guests." He said no reform in the colonies had been so productive of results as that of self-government. Touching the question of the future of the empire, Sir Wilfrid declared that the policy is impossible, local interests not being the same everywhere. It would be a great blessing if the entire united on a commercial policy, yet he doubted the accomplishment of such a policy. "Interests are too diversified," he explained.

Sir Edmund Barton, premier of Australia, declared that the time for parchment bonds politically uniting the empire has not yet arrived. He was unable to see how such bonds could be made.

Mr. Seddon thought their kinsfolk in Britain should be helped. Preferential trade, Mr. Seddon believed, should be carefully discussed. Manufacturers throughout the empire might be favored.

Lloyd's Register gave a furch at their offices in honor of the colonial visitors and leading shipping owners. Sir William Mulock replied to a toast to the prosperity of the colonies. He said that marine insurers in Britain do a great injustice in making a discrimination against Canadian waters.

Canada, he said, was determined that her products should find markets. He said that a committee of Lloyd's met the Canadian ministry. He also suggested that there should be expenditures to improve the ocean approach to Port Charlotte, is to reopen its camp there for the shipment of horses, mules, and cattle to South Africa, says the Chronicle's London correspondent. It is found that the American animals are the hardest for the vet work, and the British Government will need a great number under the agreement for restoring the farms of the burghers.

Horses and Mules for Africa.
Chicago, July 16.—The British Transport Service, which for so many years has conducted an active trade at Port Charlotte, is to reopen its camp there for the shipment of horses, mules, and cattle to South Africa, says the Chronicle's London correspondent. It is found that the American animals are the hardest for the vet work, and the British Government will need a great number under the agreement for restoring the farms of the burghers.

HORSE CHOKED WITH GOLD

American Double-Eagle Lodged in the Animal's Throat.

Owner Offered the V. S. $1,000 to Save the Creature's Life.

New York, July 16.—Dr. George Cohen, a veterinary surgeon, who has an office in this city at 136 Division street, went down to his summer place at Rockaway Beach on Sunday to loaf, says the Sun. He had just got his toes in the surf, when a bathhouse man and another fellow came plunging through the sand to him.

"Hey, Mr. Doctor," shouted the other man. "Come quick. Engel's horse has swallowed a million dollars. Hurry!"

"What is it?" asked Dr. Cohen, with the judicial calmness of the medical practitioner who is disturbed at recreation by a call.

"Engel's horse has all his money swallowed. He has lost a thousand dollars by his fast horse."

"There, there, my good fellow," said the horse doctor, who thought that in this case at any rate he could diagnose a two-footed ailment. "Mr. Engel, whoever he is, is not the first man who has lost money by a horse lately. He will very likely lose more before long. There, there," Dr. Cohen kept his eye on the excited callers and edged out further into the waves.

"I think you are a crabbiness," howled the caller. "Couldn't you understand what I say? Martin Engel's horse is choking itself to death, and you play waltz like a baby that never was near the water before. Come quick. Don't you want Mr. Engel's business, that you swim when his horse drowns?"

But as soon as Dr. Cohen had heard what Mr. Engel it was that required his services he had dashed out to the shore and quickly took the horse by the nose. He ran to his bathhouse, grabbed his coat, put it on over his bathing-suit, and commanding a carriage, he made a wild dash for Avenue, where Martin Engel lives in summer.

He found Mr. Engel's horse, Rathbue, in trouble.

"It is the way," explained Mr. Engel to the veterinarian. "I was handing the horse a lump of sugar with a twenty-dollar gold piece in my hand, and the horse made a quick grab for the sugar and pinched the twenty dollars, too. The horse is worth $5,000 to me and I would give $1,000 to save him."

"Can you save him?" inquired Engel cautiously.

"I think I can," answered Dr. Cohen.

"Well, then," said Engel, "I will give $500 to save him."

"Oh," said Dr. Cohen, "all right." He located the gold piece in the horse's esophagus. Then he got his instruments, made an incision, took the coin out and sewed the wound up. The horse seemed to stand the operation very well.

"It will be like to have that gold piece for a keystone," remarked Mr. Engel. The veterinary put it in his pocket.

"So would I," he said. He added: "You owe me $30, Mr. Engel."

"I wonder," said Dr. Cohen, telling of the operation yesterday afternoon, whether he thinks now it was worth $50 to save that horse. You know what people like that are after a thing is done. It took you only a minute, they say. But I got $20 out of the horse's hide, anyway."

Rathbue was said yesterday to be doing well.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Cured by Pe-ru-na of Systemic Catarrh.

An Interesting Letter From Mrs. M. K. Bousch, of Richmond, and Her Little Daughter Pearl.

Mrs. M. K. Bousch, Richmond, Va., writes:

"I had catarrh all through my system for two years and could get no relief. I was advised to try Peruna, and I have taken five bottles of it and am well and better now than I have been for years. I can advise anyone who has catarrh of any part of the body to take Peruna. My little girl, who is eleven years old, had catarrh, but was cured by Peruna. Before I began to take Peruna I was sick all the time, but now I am entirely cured and all praise is due Peruna."—Mrs. M. K. Bousch.

Miss Pearl Bousch, writes: "When I was a baby I contracted catarrh, and was doctored by several good physicians, but none did me any good. My mother was taking Peruna at the time and gave some of it to me, and I soon began to improve, and am now well and fat as a little pig. I am 12 years old. The doctors told mother I had the consumption, but it was only catarrh."—Miss Pearl Bousch.

It is no longer a question as to whether Peruna can be relied on to cure all such cases. During the many years in which Peruna has been put to test in all forms and stages of acute and chronic catarrh, no one year has put this remedy to greater test than the year 1902.

Peruna is the acknowledged catarrh remedy of the age. Dr. Hartman, the compounder of Peruna, has written a book on the phases of catarrh peculiar to women, entitled "Health and Beauty." It will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Gases in the Air.
When Lord Raleigh announced that the air contained other gases besides those which had for long been known to enter into its composition there was for the moment a gasp of almost incredulous surprise. If anything were well known by chemists, surely it was the composition of the air. One new constituent suggested, however, the gas argon, was proved by many observations to have a real existence. A little later other elements, some of them hitherto unknown, were found to exist in appreciable quantities in the atmosphere. Among them was the gas of the metal helium, whose presence had been originally detected in the sun's atmosphere by means of the spectroscope. This metal received its name from its supposed existence in the sun alone, as no trace of it had ever been noted on the earth. It was now found to be present in the air we breathe. Ramsay and Travers have recently devoted attention to five new gases in the air. These are, besides argon and helium, neon, krypton, and xenon. The chemical relations of these substances are now being determined, and their atomic weight varies from that of helium, which is 4, up to that of xenon, which is 128.

Since 1895 earthquakes in Austria have been recorded by instruments installed under the direction of a government commission. In 1895, 249 shocks, mostly small, were noted; in 1899, 190 and in 1900, 169. Reports are regularly received from a large number of volunteer observers, and several complete geological observatories are maintained.
