LONDON, SATURDAY, AUG. 13.

THE SANATORIUM AT BYRON.

The agitation which for several years has been in progress in this community for the adequate local care and treatment of consumptives, has at last resulted in the well-appointed sanatorium at Byron. It is now in working order and there is every reason to believe the administration is in good hands. Already several patients have been received, and there are nearly a score of applications for admission.

The location of the sanatorium is very favorable, and the various buildings are after the most approved models. Persons who profess to know say that the Alexandra Sanatorium is one of the most up-to-date and complete institutions of the kind on the continent. Thus a reproach to London of long standing has been removed.

The refusal of the County of Middlesex, as represented by its municipal council, to join with London, Elgin and St. Thomas in the support and maintenance of the institution, is the one disappointing feature. Possibly it is the Middlesex councillors' method of showing resentment because of the way their previous offer was treated. When an attempt was made to legalize their former grant of $4,000 without entailing the expense of a vote of the ratepayers, it was thwarted by a committee of the Legislature. The councillors may be still smarting under that rebuff, but when they see consumptives within the county borders refused admission to a haven so close at hand, they may feel that they have made a mistake, and assumed a grave responsibility.

Meantime, London, Elgin and St. Thomas are to be congratulated on having discharged a duty to humanity, and fulfilled an obligation which should weigh on the conscience of every community.

BALLINGER STEPS DOWN.

The resignation of Mr. Ballinger, United States secretary of the interior, is the climax of a furious controversy. Ballinger has been accused of too friendly relations with the Guggenheims and other interests, which have been persistently attacked ever since his appointment, on the ground that he was not a fit man to direct the great policy of conservation, conceived by Roosevelt, to which the Taft administration is pledged.

Public attention was focussed on the matter by Gifford Pinchot, the head of the forestry department, who publicly affirmed that this policy was being betrayed by Ballinger, to the advantage of the "interests." Pinchot was dismissed for his act of insubordination, and has since headed a revolt. Taft has hitherto defended Ballinger, but has evidently decided it politic to yield to the great body of opinion which has sided with Pinchot.

The Pinchot affair is only one phase of the insurgent movement which threatens to overthrow or revolutionize the Republican party. Within the past fortnight insurgency has triumphed in Iowa and Kansas, in the Republican primaries. Primarily it is aimed at the vices of the tariff system, but it is an uprising against the general tyranny of greed and corruption in the party. The insurgents profess to be loyal Republicans, but in states where they cannot secure control of the party machinery, they will not fall in readily behind the reactionaries. The Democratic party has its best opportunity in twenty years, but the Democrats have few reputable leaders, and have no clear-cut and courageous programme.

CANADIAN-WEST INDIAN TRADE.

In an article in the National Review, discussing the work of the royal commission on trade between Canada and the West Indies, the belief is expressed that a probable outcome of the commission's labors will be the "bringing within the pale of practical politics a comprehensive measure of commercial reciprocity between the Dominion and the separate islands in the Caribbean, with their diversified interests, which are gradually being drawn into the orbit of the United States."

According to the writer, Canada alone is in a position to arrest this tendency toward a non-imperial centre, and the fact that every nation in the temperate zone must try to obtain a foothold in the tropics leads him to the belief that Canada will make an effort to this end.

time a part of the Canadian confederacy, and it is pointed out that Jamaica, with its important fruit trade with the United States and the income it derives from its position as the American Riviera, is not likely to be persuaded to enter into a treaty of reciprocity with Canada such as Barbados and British Guiana, where sugar is the chief asset, would be willing to accept.

The writer refers to what he calls a feeling of bitterness between the Canadian refiner and the West Indian planter, each accusing the other of securing for himself all the benefits of the preference. The Canadian regulations now permit refiners to import not more than 20 per cent of their raw sugar from non-British sources at preferential rates, so that at the present rate of consumption the refiners can import from other than British sources 50,000,000 pounds of sugar a year. Last year, as a matter of fact, 34,000,000 pounds, or about 14 per cent of the total imported, were from such sources. What the West Indian planters evidently desire is the cancellation or a modification of the 20 per cent privilege, and it is by no means unlikely that the Canadian Government may be willing to allow a reduction of perhaps one-half, limiting the amount to be imported from outside sources to 10 instead of 20 per cent of the imports. The correspondent of the London Times with the Canada-West Indian trade commission, expresses the opinion that such a concession would probably remove the last obstacle in the way of a fairly comprehensive tariff agreement to which Barbados, British Guiana, and probably Trinidad, would become parties, with several of the other islands.

CANADA'S COAL DEPOSITS.

The coal tests begun by the Dominion department of mines at McGill University in 1907 have been completed and a report thereon is in process of preparation. It has been found that no coal fields of importance occur in Canada between eastern New Brunswick and the east and Saskatchewan and Western Manitoba in the west—a distance of 2,000 miles—throughout this great coalless territory there are numerous and very extensive fields of peat, which are wholly undeveloped.

The department has divided the coal fields of the country into four sections and estimates the extent of deposits as follows: Section 1 (the Maritime Provinces), bituminous coal only, 10,000,000,000 tons; section 2 (Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia), anthracite, 40,000,000 tons, bituminous 80,000,000,000 tons; section 3 (the Pacific coast and western mountains), anthracite 10,000,000 tons, bituminous 2,000,000,000 tons, lignite 1,000,000,000; section 4 (the Mackenzie basin), lignite only, 1,000,000,000 tons. In addition, there are certain small fields, notably one in Ontario, of no present interest, containing some millions of tons of lignite peat, and others of doubtful extent and value in the far north.

The coals of section 1 are similar to the ordinary grades of English and Scotch coals, make fair coke, and on the whole are fair to good steam coals. They are largely exploited and at present provide the largest part of Canada's supply. The coals of section 2 are enormous in quantity, but are less uniform in quality. They are largely exploited by the western railway companies. The bituminous coals range from very high grade steam down. Some of them make admirable coke, while those which do not are useful for steam and domestic purposes. The western coast coals are best developed in Vancouver Island, where they have been mined for many years. They are more or less normal bituminous, and some of them coke well. In general, they are excellent for domestic use and for steam raising. These coals are found along what will likely be the western extension of the Crown's Nest branch of the C. P. R., near the line of the G. T. P. and the upper navigable waters of the Yukon. Of the lignite of the Arctic-Mackenzie basin the department has as yet little to say.

Insurgency is the most hopeful movement in United States politics since Grover Cleveland fought his last campaign.

As Dr. Crippen is to be tried in England, the brain-storm theory is not likely to be invoked.

Don Jaime, the Carlist pretender, is the Micawber among royalties. He has been waiting all his life for something to turn up.

The western wheat crop is poor only in spots. Canadian prosperity has gathered too much momentum to be checked by a little thing like that.

Eleven million out of the twenty million people of Spain cannot read or write. This is worse than in Manitoba, where the Government refuses to compel parents to send their children to school.

Earl Spencer, who died today, was Gladstone's choice for the premiership and leadership of the Liberal party, when the Grand Old Man retired. But the Queen preferred Lord Rosebery, a more brilliant but more erratic man.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will represent Canada at the opening of the first South African Legislature. Excepting Laurier himself, no Canadian is better adapted for such a mission than the genial, eloquent and diplomatic young French-Canadian. He will be evidence to the Boers of the reconciliation of races, which should be the great aim of South African statesmanship.

Mr. R. B. Bennett, Opposition leader in Alberta, was one of the men to welcome Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Calgary yesterday. Mr. Bennett was a dashing figure in the by-election in this city in 1905. He then predicted there would be bloodshed in the west as a consequence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's school policy. Since then he has led a party of two in the Alberta Legislature.

DISADVANTAGE OF VERACITY.
[New York Sun.]
Washington boasted that he couldn't tell a lie.
"Then you will have to own up that you didn't enjoy your vacation," his father replied.
Herewith the youthful George shivered at the prospect.

OVERHEARD IN THE SUBWAY.
[Lippincott's.]
"Oh, say, Mame," said the very thin girl with the overwiping pompadour. "You know that swell fellow we got talking to when we were in bathing down town beach?"
Mame stopped her gum-chewing long enough to signify that she did.
"Well, after you left, he said some awful nice things to me. He said my arms reminded him of the Venus de Milo's."

SURE TEST.
[Washington Star.]
"What makes you so sure you know exactly how much money that man makes per annum?"
"I got him to express his honest opinion as to the figure at which there should be exemption from all income tax."

A YOUNG THEOLOGIAN.
[London Sketch.]
Minister—And how did Noah spend his time in the ark?
Small Boy—Fishing.
Minister—A very reasonable suggestion, my lad.
Small Boy (guardedly)—But he wouldn't catch muckie.
Minister (surprised)—What makes you think that?
Small Boy (knowingly)—Because, ye see, he had only two wiv-r-m-s.

PROTECTING THE MEN.
[An Act of Parliament in the Reign of Charles II.]
"All women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgins, maidens or widows, that shall from after the passing of this act impose upon and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's male subjects by feigning paleness, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, high-heeled shoes or bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the laws now in force against witchcraft, sorcery and such like misdemeanors, and that the marriage upon conviction shall stand null and void."

AROMATIC EFFECTS.
[Washington Star.]
"What you ought to do," said the physician, "is to take the air in an automobile at a moderate speed."
"Can't I stay at home and open a can of gasoline?"

KING GEORGE GETS A POINTER.
[New York Times.]
King George V. of England was telling a group of friends of some of his experiences since the British crown and scepter came into his keeping.
"I was at an informal tea the other afternoon," said the king, "and bidding my distinguished hostess good-bye, when her little daughter, of 7 or 8 years, came forward timidly, looking as if she had something to say. She was a beautiful child, and when her mother formally presented her she looked pretty and said in a loud, clear voice:
"I think your Majesty is a very wonderful man."
"Why do you say that, my dear?" I asked.
"Because," said the little girl, "mamma told me to."

THE MOST MELANCHOLY DAYS.
[Baltimore Sun.]
The end of a summer vacation is the most melancholy period in the life of man.
LOVELY WOMAN.
[Harper's Bazar.]
Smith—She makes her boy wear long curls.
Jones—But she makes her husband get up to cut the grass before the catches the dew.

PARALLEL CASES.
[Philadelphia Ledger.]
"Don't you think it foolish for a country as rich as Brazil to buy a $14,500, 99 horsepower?"
"I'm not in a position to be critical. Fact is, I just bought an automobile myself."

YELLOW.
[Puck.]
Friend—I suppose there is a great deal of money contributing to the leading magazines.
Author—Yes; but there's a great deal more in contributing to the misleading ones.

THE FATAL CAKE.
[Chicago News.]
Mrs. Newed-Oh, John, I baked a cake this morning and set it out on the window sill, and a tramp came along and stole it. I feel like crying.
Newed-Oh, don't cry. One tramp less in the world doesn't matter.

CHOICE IN CHILDREN.
[New York Times.]
Representative Olcott, of New York, has a neighbor who has two children, a boy and a girl. This same neighbor recently adopted a little girl.
The sister and brother looked the adopted sister over carefully and made some disparaging remarks about their superiority.

"Well," sniffed the little adopted girl, "your papa and mamma had to take you, but they couldn't take me."

THE KILLING PACE.
[S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.]
Through all the year he toils away, And saves a little day by day, Through self-denial;
His fingers are bedaubed with ink, And often he has cause to think That life's a trial.
He sadly turns from pleasures which are only for the idle rich, And for the lucky;
He might sometimes bewail his lot To her who shares it, were he not Almighty pluck;
His hours are long, he finds it hard To win his fellow-man's regard, Without some splurging;
He's idle only when he sleeps; Necessity tenaciously keeps Forever urging.
His trousers sag around the knees, His whiskers flutter in the breeze, He looks so seedy;
He always wears a last year's hat, His general make-up is the best.
Shown by the needy,
He might sometimes have peace of mind And sweet contentment gladly find, Freed from his labors.
If he could get his wife to try To quit endeavoring to vie With their rich neighbors.

DEW MAY EMBARK AT RIMOUSKI, QUE.

Not Known by What Steamer Crippen Will Be Taken Back.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 12.—Whether Crippen and Miss Leneve will return to England by the steamer Royal Edward or Lake Manitoba is not yet decided upon, and probably will not be known until the arrival of Sergeant Detective Mitchell, who is expected here Sunday morning on board the Lake Manitoba. Both steamers are scheduled to leave Quebec on Thursday next, but a report is in circulation that Inspector Dew and Detective Mitchell may convey their prisoners to Rimouski and take passage at that place. No photograph of the prisoners has been taken, although one enterprising photographer succeeded in photographing a man named Guilloit behind the prison bars and insists it is Crippen's photograph.

The latter, upon Jailer Morin's advice, never stands or sits at the side, so as not to be photographed by the Kodak band which always is to be seen promenading in front of the jail. Neither of the prisoners has seen a clergyman, nor has either asked to see one, and their only apparent anxiety is to leave Quebec as soon as possible. All kinds of offers have been made the prisoners to give out a story of their lives, but in each case the offers were turned down.

Inspector Dew had an interview with the deputy attorney-general yesterday, but what transpired is not known. It is generally believed that the object of the interview was to decide on the return date of the prisoners.

GREY STREET CHILD REMOVED FROM HOSPITAL.

Little Anita Foster, Who Was Terribly Burned, Slowly Recovering.

Little Anita Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Foster, of 325 Grey street, who was so terribly burned about six weeks ago, when she set fire to her clothes with a match, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home from Victoria Hospital. The child is, however, totally unable to move, or even sit up, as a result of the terrible burns. She is recovering very slowly, and although the physicians believe that she will make a complete recovery, it will be some time. Mr. and Mrs. Foster wish to express their gratitude to the nurses and staff at Victoria Hospital for the splendid care and attention they gave the child.

DOG LAW EXPIRES ON SEPTEMBER 7.

Just in Time to Prevent Interference With Big Show at Western Fair.

Secretary Hunt, of the Western Fair, who wrote Dr. Rutherford at Ottawa, recently asking how the muzzling order would affect the dog show here, received word yesterday that the order will expire on Sept. 7, but that it may be renewed. He stated, however, that dogs can come into the show for the show, but in case of any trouble there might be considerable difficulty in getting them away.
"We expect to have a bigger show than ever," Mr. Hunt told the Advertiser today. "Only dogs from Montreal and distant points will be barred possibly, owing to the order, and it is likely that many local exhibitors will take advantage of this show. We have the whole field as far as York to draw from, and are going to have a splendid show judging by the applications I am receiving."
The meeting of the dog show committee will be held on Tuesday evening.

PREMIER'S PARTY AT CALGARY.

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 12.—Calgary gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party a splendid welcome yesterday. Mr. E. M. Macdonald, M.P., was banqueting by the Maritime Club.

NEW LINE OF TELEGRAPH.

Will Soon Be Put in Commission Along Line of G. T. P.

Fort William, Aug. 13.—That the telegraph wires of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Transcontinental Railways between Fort William and Winnipeg will be put in commission at a few hours' notice, is the statement of A. B. Smith, manager of Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraphs, who is here from installation of a permanent telephone and telegraph extension from the company's offices at West Fort William to their lake terminals on the Mission. He says that the company is building the line very just as rapidly as the railway is being completed, and that the telegraph system between Lake Superior Junction and Winnipeg has been completed for some weeks. The line will be connected with the Fort William-Lake Superior line as soon as the contractors turn over the road to the company, which will probably be some time next month.

C. M. B. A. DECIDES TO BAR LIQUOR SELLERS.

Convention Unanimously Declares to Strong Temperance Policy.

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—Amid cheers and by a unanimous vote the C. M. B. A. convention, after a session lasting till after midnight, decided to amend the constitution so that no one in future be admitted to membership who gains his livelihood from the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor. Rev. Father McNeill, of Nova Scotia, one of the best known advocates of temperance in the Catholic Church of Canada, swayed the convention, with a masterly appeal for temperance, pleading that the association be made a pillar of the church.

Dr. Ryan, chief medical adviser, in reply to a question, stated that the expectancy of life among those engaged in the sale of liquor was not as good as those otherwise employed. It was explained that the resolution does not apply to laboring men in breweries etc., but to those directly engaged in the sale of liquor.
The committee on law reported favorably on the motion that the constitution be amended to allow of the use of signs and passwords, and the grand spiritual adviser be asked his sanction in the matter. The holy father in Rome, by request, sent the conference the apostolic blessing.

TRAIN LEFT RAIL ON HORSESHOE CURVE.

Several Persons Injured in an Accident Near Caledon, Ont.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—Leaving the rails and swinging over on its side, the rear car of a C. P. R. passenger train, loaded with 25 people bound for the west, was ditched on the famous Horseshoe curve, near Caledon, Ont., at 10:30 this morning.

Two people, an old woman and a young farmer, were seriously injured. The last six coaches of the train were filled with harvesters bound for western wheat fields.
Just as the train rounded the Horseshoe curve, which has been the scene of several fatal accidents, the last car left the rails, and turned over, rolling into the ditch.
It dragged along in the gravel for a short distance, held by the coupling. The injured woman is Mrs. Colbeck, of Grand Valley, 52, and several of her ribs and her right wrist are broken.
Clifford Day, aged 18, a young farmer from Teeswater, Ont., jumped from the front end of the coach as it left the track, but in falling over it caught him, and pinned him below. His leg was badly bruised and is thought to be broken.
Both the injured were hurried to the Western Hospital, Toronto, where tonight they are doing well.

A "TERRIFIC FATALITY."
Hubrey, Aug. 12.—A terrific fatality occurred at the home of Mr. Levi Willis on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 10, whereby about forty stalwarts were precipitated relentlessly into the basement of a leaky barn, well-nigh nine feet in depth, whereupon Mr. Lewis Smith, tenant on the estate of Mr. Mark Wilkins, was exhumed subsequently in a state of unconsciousness, while Mr. Willis, proprietor, got one heel badly mangled, and Harry Cole, of Derwent, sustained a contusion of one leg as a sequence, while a contusion of the head received a severe shaking up from the impact. The structure was an annex 20x30 feet, lying upon a hollow brick wall. The knuckle sill, which served as a pedestal for the overhanging, collapsed when the beams were being borne to their moorings, with the above result. The edifice was erected under the diplomacy of Mr. Robert Hare, of Derwent, the veteran framer and contractor. A dramatic scene ensued as a sequence.

Miss Beattie has secured the principalship of the Derwent public school at salary of $500 per annum.
Mr. E. C. Munro, of Lemberg, Sask., is holidaying at his parental home here.
Miss Harkness, of Belmont, has been awarded the principalship of the public school of Nileston at the consideration of $450 per annum.
Charles Cline, M.D., of London, was victor at the home of Mr. Andrew Nichol because of the indisposition of Mrs. Nichol recently.
Mr. John Marr, being elevated meritoriously to the benedictine state by taking into himself a wife of the daughters of the St. Thomasites, notably Mrs. Ward, when a detachment of Italians deemed it expedient to serenade the newly capped twain with instruments of music, dancing on the pavilion, whereupon the choir of the First Presbyterian Church took up the hymn as a supplementary contingent in the ovation. The diplomacy failed in the desideratum.
Mr. John J. Campbell shipped a carload of swine on Wednesday, consigned to William Davies & Co., Toronto. The price paid was $8.40 per cwt., live weight.
Mr. D. H. McGill is going to resume the principalship of the high school at Belmont for a few weeks, because of the sad news that Mr. Montague, the Belmont teacher, had died at Galt on Sunday.

Mr. Dyer and daughter, of Oxford West, are visiting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Soole.
Miss Veda Campbell, of Newmarket, is spending her holidays at the home of her parents here.
