

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELT AND APPLIANCE CO.

Has BRYCE'S PAVEMENT proved itself

The time is now drawing near when the weather will be favorable for the laying of all sidewalks, driveways, garden walks, stable floors, brewery floors, cellar floors, etc., and we beg to draw the attention of the public to the fact that for the above named purposes is unequalled. It has stood the test in all kinds of weather and has been acknowledged by experienced men, well known to all in the City of Toronto, that it is the best not only for its durability, but for its healthiness, cleanliness; that it can be laid perfectly water-tight, that it never absorbs fluids of any kind and never becomes slippery, and for many other reasons it is preferred by all who know of it. It is more durable than stone and does not cost half the price. For cellar floors it is a decided preventive against rats or mice or dampness or bad smells. Please see what Dr. Strange says of it in his letter, which we have below given a copy of. No cellar should be without it to insure healthiness.

BRYCE'S PATENT PAVEMENT

For garden walks and driveways it is unsurpassed, from the fact that no grass will grow through it as it does through slat walks, and no loose gravel to come from it to destroy lawns or lawnmowers. See Osgoode Hall Walks.

This pavement is entirely a Toronto invention and manufactured in Toronto. It has been laid in all parts of the city and has proven itself a success in every sense of the word.

What the Consumers' Gas Company Say About It.

Toronto, March 20, 1888.
Dear Sirs:
In reply to your favor of the 18th inst., I have pleasure in stating that the "Bryce's Patent Asphalt Pavement" laid by you in the Company's Parkville, House at the Works, and in the yard and cellar at the Company's office, Toronto-street, in December last has given entire satisfaction. That in the yard in the year has been exposed to the rain, snow and frost during the winter and has not cracked at all, and seems to be quite as good as when laid. This pavement is well adapted for use in cellars, and has proved perfectly water-tight, not allowing any moisture whatever to penetrate through into the cellar, although wet snow has been allowed to remain on it for a considerable time.

Yours truly,
W. H. PEARSON,
General Manager and Secretary.

What Dr. Strange Says About It.

215 SIMCOE-STREET, TORONTO, May 16, 1888.
Dear Sirs:
The Asphalt flooring laid by your firm last year in my stable and coach-house has given me great satisfaction. It appears to be perfectly durable, does not absorb fluids and is consequently always sweet and clean. Another good feature it possesses is that it never becomes slippery. I do not see how it is possible to have a more satisfactory flooring for stable.

Yours very truly,
FREDERICK W. ANGELO.

What Architect D. B. Dick Says About It.

Dear Sirs:
In reply to yours of yesterday in reference to the stable floor which you laid for me some time ago with your pavement, I have pleasure in saying that I had no ill-effects from it, and that it has stood in use about four months—It appeared to be standing very well indeed, even the sharp winter cold having made very little impression on it.

Yours truly,
D. B. DICK, Architect.

ELECTRICITY POPULARIZED.
In this grand century of progress no single science has progressed with the speed of electricity. It has passed the periods of infancy and boyhood, and is now in the manhood. That ELECTRICITY IS LIFE is now recognized as a vital truth by all scientists, and life-giving power is being transmitted over wires and through space to unlimited distances.

Already it is lighting our houses and streets, displacing steam as a power, and transmitting our words and thoughts to unlimited distances.

It is the greatest force within the human body, and wherever any part of this power becomes either disturbed or deficient, too excessive in one part, or diminished in another, the result is disastrous to the health. The master triumph of this great science which we now offer to the suffering and afflicted in the OWEN ELECTRIC BODY BATTERY. You are not compelled to go to a doctor's office and spend one, two or three hours daily waiting to be treated.

Its great simplicity is such that while you are about your work, or spending agreeable hours in the society of your friends, its remedial effects are at work, and the different organs and control their action, we can only conclude that in every case of electricity, which is the governing principle of life.

This is the warning which nature gives, and it is heeded, sickness and suffering may be averted and health preserved. From a slight understanding of this subject will suggest that the proper remedy is the application of the energy of this great science, and it is impossible to distinguish between them.

Electricity fails in all these requirements, and the only question is as to the method of application.

Cost has heretofore prevented the use of this unparalleled cure. Batteries were expensive, difficult to manage and uncertain in action. Electricity could only be used by the most expert physician, and all electrical appliances possessed all the elaborate apparatus. Moreover, to get the benefit of electricity the patient must visit the physician during his office hours, which fact placed it beyond the reach of the very class that most need it, because health is their only capital.

A. OWEN, after years of experiment and study, has given to the world an electrical apparatus, which is simple, easy to use, and which can be used by any person, and which is so simple that it can be used by any person, and which is so simple that it can be used by any person.

The above illustrates the mode of applying the Owen Electric Belt and its appliances for the cure of various diseases. It can be placed anywhere, and worn during the day or night.
