

III.
What need of smiles? Her College Halls Are their own best exponent. Here young hearts, Fired with all generous impulse, find their goal
Here too is joy—here wisdom's mantle falls On willing arms—and power to play life's parts Is given to the silent, seeking soul

Here Learning, large and gentle, points the way, Through patient labour and through lofty aim,
To ends accomplished and to laurels won.
Here, lit by Faith unerring, glows the ray That lights alike the steep ascent to fame And cheers the path of duty humbly done

IV.
Mother and moulder of the men to be!
Hold on thy course with bold and steadfast tread,
Strong with the strength of everlasting youth.
Wise with best wisdom, with God's freedom free,
All else shall die, but never with the dead Can fall the harvest from the seed of truth.
So shalt thou, guarded through all time of trial,
And by a gracious hand securely led,
Endure through change and change of earthly scenes.
Ne'er shall thy future prove thy past's denial, And they who share the light thy touch has shed Shall say with love and reverence, "God bless Queen's!"

The Principal then dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

THE AFTERNOON MEETING.
The meeting in the afternoon was a grand affair. The hall was crowded to the door. The Chancellor occupied the chair. The proceedings were commenced by Prof. Cappon, introducing Lord Stanley, Governor-General of the Dominion, to receive the degree of LL.D. After the ceremony His Excellency made an appropriate reply, in which he assured his hearers he would never forget Queen's nor the day on which he received the degree at her hands.

Chancellor Sanford Fleming then delivered an address, welcoming those present on the auspicious occasion and explaining the circumstances under which their attendance had been invited. He dwelt on the fact that the advance of learning had long been earnestly desired in and around Kingston. The subject of education had been a theme with that part of the Dominion from its earliest beginnings. He spoke of the demand for education by the Loyalists in 1789, and the provision made for them at Frontenac, now Kingston. Dr. Strachan's work was sketched. It was in Kingston that this remarkable man began his career.
Then the demand for Queen's was felt, and the appeal of the Synod of the Church of Scotland was explained. The contributions were liberal, and came from all quarters. The sacrifices of the people were remarkable. Kingston he called the "University of Upper Canada." It has always been the place for a great educational centre. The germs of a university had a being here a century ago. The beginning of Queen's on December 18th, 1829, was a remarkable epoch in the annals of Kingston, for on that day the mutual friendship and acquaintance of the city and the university were happily established, to become insepar-ably all time. He spoke of the intention to build a new building, and this would be a permanent memorial of benevolence and a deed worthy of a list of the founders as inscribed on the Royal Charter. Rev. R. McIntyre, W. F.
Gate, J. McKenzie, W. McIntyre, W. F.
Leitch, J. George, J. Matheson, C.
Campbell, J. Cruickshank, and John Strang.
All are dead save Rev. Dr. Cook. He welcomed to the gathering Sir John A.
Macdonald, Rev. W. Reid, D.D., and R.
M. Rose, men who took part in Kingston fifty years ago. He held that the spirit of the founders yet lived, and would continue to actuate them to the fullest and broadest patriotism in the work of the institution.

MEMORIAL TABLETS.
Then followed the unveiling of memorial tablets in brass, erected in Convocation Hall, one on each side of the platform. Inscribed on them were these words:

The Royal Arms, 1839-1901	In remembrance of the Benefactors who laid the founda- tion of Queen's University. See Record of the min- utes in D.O.B.	The Arms of Queen's
The Royal Arms, 1839-1901	In honor of 500 benefactors who in 1839-70 contributed $50,000 to the en- dowment fund.	The Arms of Queen's

The Brass in remembrance of the Founders of the College was uncovered by Rev.
W. T. Herridge, M.A., B.D., of Ottawa, who related that being a young man he was at a banquet on such a rare occasion. He said that if he were a graduate of Queen's he would feel even more diffident in speaking. He referred to the early days of the University, and said that there were then, as now, prophets of evil, but the untiring energy of the fathers of the college has reaped a rich reward.
The growth of Queen's has more than kept pace with the growth of the country.
She has always been loyal to the British Crown, and marked by contagious patriotism, and stands to-day by no means the least important factor in developing a national sentiment, and filling the people with a just pride that they are Canadians.
In estimating the prosperity of Queen's they should remember most of all the unselfish devotion of those who watched over the infant years of the University.
Of the original band of men, who fifty years ago met to devise means for the establishment of a University, three only survive: Mr. Rose, a respected resident of Kingston; Rev. Dr. Reid, the eternally juvenile clerk of the General Assembly; and Sir John A. Macdonald, Premier of the Dominion. (Applause.) These were not helped by others, many of whom were not from their labours. The tablet which they had placed to the memory of these early benefactors is but a feeble acknowledgment of the gratitude of succeeding generations. The fathers of this University do not need any formal memorial; their names will live in these halls; they will live in the annals of Canada and in the unfeigned homage of thankful hearts. (Applause.)

Sir John Macdonald followed, giving some reminiscences regarding Queen's and his connection with the establishing of the institution. He was loudly applauded.

Rev. Dr. W. Reid, of Toronto, who gave a very interesting address, began by saying that he remembered having met the Chancellor forty-five years ago, when the latter arrived fresh from Scotland.
He rejoiced at his splendid public and professional career. He spoke of the first Queen's meeting in St. Andrew's church in 1839, and said that it was the first time he ever appeared on a public platform.
The doctor spoke highly of the late Dr.
Machar, saying he would never forget his kindness, when he had not a relative in Canada. He remembered the meeting in question quite well, particularly the speech of the Rev. Henry Gordon, of Gananoque, who was an advocate in Scotland, and who in his remarks created amusement by saying that shoemakers, tailors and bakers would be benefited by the students who would attend College.
He had a very distinct recollection of the appearance on the platform of one who has for years occupied a very prominent place as a public man, and whose name will be connected with the history of Canada. He referred to Sir John Macdonald.
He was then a young lawyer and regarded as a clever and rising man. The doctor had a vivid recollection of his appearance as he went on the platform a little after the other gentlemen had taken their places. He appeared to take a deep interest in the proceedings, and spoke in support of some of the resolutions. There was something about him which arrested the doctor's attention and made an impression which time has not effaced.
Whether it was his lively, active, interested look, or whether it was something of that personal magnetism which he is said to possess, and which, it is alleged, even a political opponent can scarcely withstand, or whether it was some foreshadowing of future greatness and distinction, he could not tell. He never saw Sir John without thinking of the first time he had the opportunity of seeing and hearing him. The Hon. Oliver Mowat, another distinguished man, was also at the meeting, in the audience. His father, Mr. John Mowat, was on the platform, and was deeply interested. R. M. Rose and A. Pringle were also there, also Mr. Bruce, Major Logie, Mr.
Harper (of the Commercial Bank), Thos.
Wilson, Mr. Mason, Thos. Greer, W.
Ferguson, Geo. Drummond (of the Bank of Montreal), and Mr. Geo. Davidson.
The last mentioned was the doctor's guide and companion in his first missionary tour to Canada. Dr. Reid went on to speak of the excellent men in Canada when he came here fifty years ago, and said that of those who were in the ministry when he was ordained only two are in life—Dr.
Cook, of Quebec, and Rev. Mr. Alexander, at one time of Cobourg, but now living near Brantford. Rev. Dr. Neil, now of Seymour, was his (the speaker's) senior by only one day, having been ordained on the 29th January, 1810. After stating that while the Chancellor had gained a world-wide reputation as a time regulator, he could not arrest time, he dwelt on the wonderful changes and improvements that have occurred in the last fifty years, and then claimed that the world was better to-day than when he first knew anything about it. "There is a good time coming." He closed his remarks by asking God to bless Queen's.

Rev. John Burton, M.A., B.D., of Toronto, spoke as a Canadian Congregationalist, and in closing paid a tribute to the memory of Dr. Wm. Snodgrass, and Prof. John H. Mackerras.
Dr. Williamson unveiled the Benefactors' Brass, and after sketching the growth of the University, and the efforts made to secure the endowment, said: "This memorial tablet which I now unveil is but a small token of our grateful remembrance, but in the future glories of Queen's they will have inscribed for themselves a memorial more lasting than that of brass or marble pile."

Congratulatory addresses were also delivered by Mr. R. V. Rogers, Q.C., Rev.
Dr. Wardrop, and others.

THE BANQUET.

In the evening, the Jubilee Banquet was held in the City Hall, which was hand-somerly decorated for the occasion. Covers were laid for 350 people. Mayor Thompson presided. Seated on his right were the invited guests, Lord Stanley, the Bishop of Ontario and Sir John Macdonald; on his left were Chancellor Fleming, Sir Alexander Campbell, Principal Grant, and Sir James Grant. The others seated at the table were General Cameron, Prof.
Clark Murray, President McVicar, Hon.
W. McDougall, Hon. G. M. Gibson, Rev.
Dr. Reid, Capt. Colville, A.D.C., Hon.
G. W. Ross, Col. Twitwell, Provost Body, Archdeacon Jones, J. S. Miller, M.P.P., Senator Sullivan, Rev. Dr. Wardrop, Dr. Meacham, Mayor Carleton, A. Caldwell, Rev. Jas. Carmichael, Rev. J. Smith, Editor Ross, Mayor Clark, Mayor Derbyshire, Rev. Mr. Cuthbertson, Dr. Bell, Commander Law, Mayor Diamond, Rev.
J. A. Macdonald, Rev. G. M. Milligan, Warden Rankin, Rev. Mr. Mylne, Warden Filson, Rev. Mr. Burnett, Warden Petrie, Col. H. R. Smith, Hon. G. A.
Kirkpatrick, Judge Macdonald, Rev. D.
J. Macdonnell, B.D., Rev. C. D. Ross.

The vice-chairs were occupied by Hon.
Dr. Sullivan, Rev. W. W. Carson, Ald.
Harry, Gaskin and Gildersleeve. There was a large attendance of citizens, graduates, and visitors from all parts of Eastern Ontario, who formed a fringe about the sides of the brilliant hall, greatly adding to the appearance of the gathering.
After the cloth had been removed the usual loyal toasts were proposed and duly honoured. During the course of the evening speeches highly appropriate to the occasion were made by His Excellency the Governor-General; Col. Twitwell, American Consul; Hon. Geo. A. Kirkpatrick; Sir Alex. Campbell, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario; Ald. Gildersleeve; Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald; Mr. Caldwell, M.P.P.; Hon. Senator Sullivan; Rev. Dr. J. A. Macdonald; Prof. Clark Murray; Rev. J. A. Macdonald; Sir James Grant; Principal MacVicar, of MacMaster University; the Bishop of Ontario; Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education; Rev. W. W. Carson; Mr.
Rathbun; Hon. W. McDougall, and others.

Wine was not dispensed at the banquet.
Some other beverages were supplied, but tea and coffee held the chosen place.
Many people were estranged by the intention to have wine, and withdrew their aid from the affair; but public opinion, and possible public dissent, caused a revocation of the order at the last moment.
Lady Macdonald, Mrs. G. A. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. John McIntyre, and Mrs.
Dr. Sullivan were among the leading ladies who graced the occasion with their presence.

St. James' Square Sabbath school city, celebrated its anniversary last Friday evening. Mr. Jas. Kerr, the superintendent, conducted the exercises. There are now 360 scholars on the rolls of the school.
The collections for this mission up to date amount to $425. A box of oranges and candies was handed to each child on leaving the school.

At the late meeting of the Winnipeg Presbytery the following resolution, moved by Rev. Principal King, seconded by Rev. Dr. Bryce, was unanimously adopted: "This Presbytery, while cherishing and expressing deep preference for a thoroughly non-sectarian public school system, embracing all schools maintained by public moneys and under the supervision of the State, is resolutely opposed to any system of State-supported education in which prayer and the reading of the Bible and the employment of its teachings to inculcate and embrace Christian morality are prohibited, as indefensible in principle, almost certain to be prejudicial in operation, and, moreover, as wholly unnecessary and useless as a measure of conciliation, and appoints a committee to act, either by itself or in concert with similar committees of other bodies, with the view of seeing that, if possible, effect be given to the views embodied in this motion in any legislation relative to public school education at the approaching session of the Provincial Legislature."
