AN APPOINTMENT

The appointment of R. H. Paget as publisher to the firm of Cassell & Co., of London (Eng.), Paris, New York, Toronto and Melbourne, is announced. Mr. Paget's experience in the publishing world has been notable, extending over a period of ten years in various parts of the world. Amongst the firms with which he has been connected are: The Macmillan Co., of London, England; the Oxford University Press, and Archibald Constable & Co. For four years Mr. Paget carefully studied in America all the clever modern organization in which the United States leads the world, and for some time past has been manager of the foreign department of Cassell & Co., which will, however, still remain under his control. Cassell & Co. are to be congratulated upon gaining the services of one so well qualified to conduct their immense publishing business, which is now recognized to be the largest in the English-speaking world.

We are sure the many friends Mr. Paget has in Canada will hail this announcement with keen delight, and will extend to him their heartiest congratulations.

NEW FIRM OF PUBLISHERS

A new firm of publishers and wholesale booksellers has been established in Toronto, with offices in the McLeod & Allen building at 42 Adelaide Street West. The name of the firm is McClelland & Goodechild, and the partners are John McClelland and Frederick D. Goodechild, both of whom were employees of the Methodist Book and Publishing Co., up to a recent date. Mr. McClelland had a sixteen-year connection with this house, having been latterly in charge of their library supply business, while Mr. Goodechild held a position in the same department for the past eight years.

McClelland & Goodechild aim to supply the books of all publishers and will thus be of invaluable service to booksellers who wish to make up large orders or collect stray copies of books. They are also prepared to look after enclosures. They will deal in books only.

"The Book of Bee-Keeping," a practical and complete manual, especially written for beginners and amateurs by W. B. Webster, first-class expert, B.B.K.A., and fully illustrated is a useful publication of L. Upcott Gill, Bazaar Landing, Drury Lane, London.
