

HLAIRE, N. Y., Jan. 1894.
I couldn't sleep nights and was so nervous that I felt like flying day and night; when I closed my eyes it seemed as if my eyeballs were fairly dancing to get out of my head; my mind ran from one thing to another, so that I began to think I had no mind. When I had taken Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic only two weeks I felt like a new man, and now consider myself cured. Have recommended the Tonic to others, and i always had the desired effect.

Capac, Higg., Jan. 1894.
On account of my vocation and aickness in the family I suffered considerably from nervousness and alceplessness, and often severe headache. Since I took one bottle of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I am entirely free from above troubles.

HON. PATRICK MAGUIRE DEAD.

He Was a Prominent and Successful Irish-American Journalist.

The Hon. Patrick Maguire, of Boston, Mass., died on Saturday last at his home in that city, fortified by the rites of the Church, of which he had been so loyal and devoted a son.

Patrick Maguire came to Boston 41 years ago from the British provinces. He made the journey on foot, not having enough money to pay his fare. This experience of his youth was one of his which he continued until his death.

In 1882 Mr. Magnire established the Republic, a newspaper devoted largely to Catholic and Irish news. Hersaw that there was a field for the entrance of a journal of a different class from any in existence, and after mature and careful deliberation the first number was issued. The enterprise res a success from the start.

Mr. Magnire took great pride in his paper. A distrongh, practical printer, he gave much time to its typographical appearance. He loved to talk of his trials and discouragements in issuing the first number. He used to say that in his energies to get every line into shipshape, and to have every error carefully corrected, he forgot to put in two columns of paying advertisements.

Mr. Maguire was best known as a Democratic politician. For a generation he was a member of the Democratic city committee. He held but two public offices. He was a member of the every offices. He was a member of the executive council in 1883, 1884 and 1885. For three years he was a member of the Boston park commission. He was elected a member of the Demo-cratic city committee in 1862. He then lived in Hudson street, which was at that time ward 8. He afterward lived in Canton street for many years. During the period of his residence there Canton street was first in ward 11 and sub-sequently in ward 17. It was as a member of the city committee from ward 11 that he was elected president of that body. That was 20 years ago. He served three ye rs as president of the committee.

During the years that have since in-tervened he has been by common consent the leader of the Democratic organiza-tion. His political power has been many times threatened. Ambitious men have frequently contested the power of leadership with him, and the battles for supremacy have often been fiercely and bitterly waged; but when the amoke of the conflicts had blown away Mr. Maguire was uniformly the victor. The effect of these conflicts was to more firmly entrench him as the leader of the organization.

His service to the Democratic party was very valuable. He developed unusual capacity for party management, and his advice was always in the direction of the nomination of the best men available for office.

Socially, Mr. Maguire had many calls. He was a member of the Roxbury Club, the Charitable Irish Association, the Press Club, the New England Club and the Catholic Union. He was one of the original members also of the old Emmet Debating Club. An Irishman at heart, he had much sympathy with Ireland's cause, and had always done much toward the advancement of the Home Rule

Eloquent Address by Hon. Bourke Cockran at the New York Catholic Club. Speaking at the annual dinner of the New York Catholic Club a few days ago, the Hon. Bourke Cockran said:

"There may be club buildings more imposing," said Mr. Cockran, "there may be buildings more beautiful in the way of interior decorations, but there is no club in the city that stands for a cause like ours, no club that stands for the faith that is built upon a boundless love, and exists because He who gave up His life on Calvary gave first the keys of the Church wellove to Peter.

I believe that there are good men outside the Catholic Church. I believe there are good men and good citizens who have never set foot inside a temple of worship but I say here and now that the impudence to express concern that Catholics will take too great an interest in politics and cut too promines to be the large one-nent a figure in our political life. It is because Catholics are the best citizens and poultry was good and an active trade that they do take an active interest in politics. They are jealous of the rights of a free people, vigilant lest the foundations of the republic be shaken, and sensitive for the honor of the republic's flag.

"There are some persons who are solicitous lest there shall be too many immigrants in this country. The A.P.A. fears that. And only last night I heard the Governor of a neighboring State express the opinion that immigration should be stopped. I have little sympathy with such sentiments. I believe this country owes as much to its immigrants of the country. I believe the country of the country of the country. I believe the country of the country of the country. I believe the country of the country. I believe the country. I believe the country. I believe the country. I believe the country of the country. I believe the country of the country. I believe the country of the countr as the immigrants owe to the country. I 5tc to 5tc. believe that every man who comes to these shores and engages in any useful labor, creates more than he consumes. His surplus product forms an addition to the capital of the country, and he is a citizen and a patriot who adds to the wealth of the country according as he receives protection and liberty from its laws.

"I have little sympathy for the nervous fear expressed in some quarters that men who come here to labor constitute a menace to the republic. I have never yet found any danger to the American republic from low 19s. low 19s. oreign-born citizens, and certainly those who distrust them most have the greatdearest recollections in after life. Ar. Cockran then paid his respects to the A.P.A. which he spoke of as that mysterious organization whose members approach those whom they would make the objects of their displeasure and their hate as an assassin approaches his victim. in dead of night with dagger lifted to strike the fatal blow, feeling sure that the stealthiness of his approach and the darkness will conceal his identity.

The Live Stock Market.

London, November 30 -There was a decided improvement in the cattle trade, and as supplies were not excessive, a stronger feeling prevailed for choice stock and prices advanced ic to ic per lb. since this day week. Choice States sold at 11 ic and choice Canadian at 9 ic. The sheep trade is steady and prices unchanged at 10c.

MONTREAL, November 30.—Although navigation from the port of Montreal has now been closed a full week, this has by no means prevented local exporters from operating and making shipments of live stock during the winter months, as there have been several lots of sheep already forwarded by way of Boston, and this week vessels will also clear from the ports of Portland and St. John, N. B. consequently, with the two last named ports and Boston, now being open to Canadian stock for export, the in-dications are at present that considerable business will be done this winter, providing shippers can obtain suitable stock and prices abroad be of any inducement.

The cable advices received to-day were more of an encouraging nature to ship-pers, they being considerably firmer in tone for choice stock and note a sharp advance in prices but late and advices from London say that the principal markets are inundated with rough and inferior descriptions of beef, and it has been found utterly impossible to effect anything approaching a clearance of middling grades. On the other hand choice qualities are apparently scarcer than ever.

The feature of the local market was the weaker feeling that prevailed and prices declined fully ic per lb., which was due chiefly to the heavy receipts, they being far in excess of the requirements of the trade. There was some demand from shippers, and about 100 head were bought to complete intended shipments with at prices ranging from 21c to 33c per lb. At the East End Abstroir market the offerings were 900 cattle, 750 sheep, 750 lambs and 20 calves. The attendance of buyers was large and the weather was cold, consequently the prospects early were for a good trade, but when butchers saw that the supply of cattle was excessive they held off, and in consequence sales were slow even at the above reduction in values, and a large number were left over. Good to choice sold at 30 to 31c common to fair 21c to 21c and inferior, 11c to 2c per lb., live weight^b There was a good demand for sheep for shipment, and all the suitable stock sold at 21c per lb., while butchers paid $2 to $2.25 each for culls. The demand for lambs continues active, and prices are maintained at 3% to 4c per 1b., live weight. Calves sold at $8 to $12 each, as to size and quality.

At the Point St. Charles cattle market

Lambs sold at 33c to 4c per lb. live weight, and calves at from $1 to $6 each as to quality. There were 300 hogs, for which the demand was good, at $3.75 to $8.95 per 100 lbs. live weight.
