At the annual public meeting held in Temperance Hall, January 14th, 1864, the following resolution was passed, moved by the Secretary, seconded by Hon. Joseph Hensley. "That this Association would gratefully record its obligations to Capts. Orlebar and Hancock, until lately resident among us, and in consideration of their removal as well as on other accounts, would urge upon its members and friends the necessity of increased and more active support." These gentlemen, two of the founders of the Association, returned to England, the former on his retiring from active service was promoted to the rank of Admiral R. N.

January 2nd, 1865. "The New Year's prayer meeting in connection with the Association was happily superseded by the opening services of the week of prayer, to which Evangelical Christendom had once more been invited by the Evangelical Alliance." A special place, however, was assigned to the Association. This was the sixth time for the New Year's week of prayer.

January 12th, 1865. Annual meeting of the Association held in Temperance Hall. The following officers were elected :

At this meeting it was arranged (1) "that the Librarian of St. Paul's Library be requested to exchange books for the members of the Association at the time at which he does this for subscribers to the Library, viz : Saturday afternoons."

(2) "That for each member of the Association thus obtaining books the sum of five shillings per annum be paid to the funds of the Library."

The following resolution was also passed :

Moved by Principal Inglis, L. L. D., and seconded by Rev. T. Duncan.

"That while it is matter of regret that the Association seems able to effect little at present beyond the provision of an annual course of lectures and the upholding of a platform for united prayer, yet that these things are in themselves matters of no small value. It is therefore important that the Association should hold on its way looking out for opportunities of more enlarged effort and usefulness.

As perhaps it may not plainly ap-
