

materials, and the other gives Gosagroprom as much cotton wool, gauze and flannel as it requests, and more. After all, the prices for natural materials are still being set at a level where it does not make any sense to buy substitutes. In a word, spending money without any return.

Who manages money like that?

Sotsialisticheskaya
Industriya

18 November 1988

Page 1 (Full text)