

The American Medical Association is a national organization of medical practitioners, organized for the purpose of promoting the science and art of medicine, and the health of the people. It is a non-profit corporation, organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, and has a membership of over 100,000 physicians and surgeons. The Association is organized into various sections, including the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the American College of Podiatry. The Association is also organized into various committees and commissions, including the Committee on Medical Education, the Committee on Medical Practice, and the Committee on Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various departments, including the Department of Public Health, the Department of Medical Education, and the Department of Medical Practice. The Association is also organized into various divisions, including the Division of Medical Education, the Division of Medical Practice, and the Division of Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various sections, including the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the American College of Podiatry. The Association is also organized into various committees and commissions, including the Committee on Medical Education, the Committee on Medical Practice, and the Committee on Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various departments, including the Department of Public Health, the Department of Medical Education, and the Department of Medical Practice. The Association is also organized into various divisions, including the Division of Medical Education, the Division of Medical Practice, and the Division of Medical Research.

The American Medical Association is a national organization of medical practitioners, organized for the purpose of promoting the science and art of medicine, and the health of the people. It is a non-profit corporation, organized under the laws of the State of Illinois, and has a membership of over 100,000 physicians and surgeons. The Association is organized into various sections, including the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the American College of Podiatry. The Association is also organized into various committees and commissions, including the Committee on Medical Education, the Committee on Medical Practice, and the Committee on Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various departments, including the Department of Public Health, the Department of Medical Education, and the Department of Medical Practice. The Association is also organized into various divisions, including the Division of Medical Education, the Division of Medical Practice, and the Division of Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various sections, including the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and the American College of Podiatry. The Association is also organized into various committees and commissions, including the Committee on Medical Education, the Committee on Medical Practice, and the Committee on Medical Research. The Association is also organized into various departments, including the Department of Public Health, the Department of Medical Education, and the Department of Medical Practice. The Association is also organized into various divisions, including the Division of Medical Education, the Division of Medical Practice, and the Division of Medical Research.