

House of Commons

Mr. Drew: Mr. Speaker, the rights of parliament are more important than the bells. You drafted this motion, Mr. Speaker. You accepted the motion and the motion is now in the possession of the house and you have no right to hear anything that interferes with the discussion.

Mr. Coldwell: Mr. Speaker, I want to draw your attention—

Some hon. Members: Sit down.

Mr. McCann: Get back in your seat.

Mr. Ellis: Keep quiet over there.

Mr. Coldwell: —to the statement of Mr. Speaker Lenthall: "I am the servant of the house."

Some hon. Members: Hear, hear.

An hon. Member: Dictatorship.

Mr. Stewart (Winnipeg North): Why don't you throw away the mace?

Mr. Diefenbaker: Mr. Speaker, may I draw your attention—

Some hon. Members: Sit down.

Mr. Diefenbaker: Mr. Speaker, may I draw your attention to your own words last night, reported at page 4532 of Hansard—

Some hon. Members: Order.

Mr. Diefenbaker: Why did you change overnight? What is the reason that you changed overnight? Are you afraid today?

Mr. Rowe: What took place in the dark?

Mr. Gauthier (Portneuf): You are a very good actor; you should be on the stage.

Mr. Rowe: You would probably close the stage.

Mr. Speaker put the question as follows:

On the order under Motions, "Resuming the adjourned debate on the motion of Mr. Cameron (Nanaimo), that the statements in the Ottawa Journal of May 30 and 31 are derogatory of the dignity of parliament and deserving of the censure of this house," being called, I ruled that the motion of the hon. member for Nanaimo was out of order since in my opinion the statements in the Ottawa Journal must be construed as fair and reasonable comment on the house and its proceedings.

Mr. Stewart (Winnipeg North): "Garrotting parliament." Is that fair?

Mr. Speaker:

Whereupon Mr. Drew appealed to the house from the ruling I gave.

Mr. Bell: No wonder they hang their heads in shame.

The house divided on the question: Shall the Speaker's decision be sustained? And the decision of the Chair was sustained on the following division:

[Mr. Drew.]
