ALLIES OCCUPY PERONNE AND REPEL ATTACKS OF GERMANS

Banks Baulk at Using Government Aid ALLIES ADVANCED, to Finance Business

In the United States the banks are withholding assistance to business to the end, so it is charged, that they might run up the rate of interest. The leading paper in the United States is The New York World, and it often speaks for the Wilson administration. The attention of the president and his colleagues has been called to the fact that the banks are not affording relief to business at the present time; and Mr. McAdoo, the secretary of the treasury, has intimated to the banks that if they are not more disposed to let out money to help along business he will be forced to do something, and he cays what he will do. He has over one hundred minlions of government funds on deposit with various banks of the United States, and this money he placed there so that the banks might aid customers. He has told the banks that he will withdraw the money from any bank or all the banks if it 's shown to him that they refuse to assist business now more or less dislocated by the great European war. He has also intimated that banks who do not relieve their stomers will be deprived of the right of excess circulation. Here is a clear-culsumption by the government of the United States to direct the banking and curncy of the country. It has not come too soon. Here is the pointed way in The World deals with the matter: THEIR LAST INNINGS.
Editorial New York World, Sept. 23.

National bankers who have acted on the theory that emergency curren has been issued for their profit alone will do well to heed Secretary McAdoo' warning to the contrary. Emergency currency was designed primarily for the relief of the people at times when for any reason financial stringency was was due to the position taken by some, if not all bankers. There is more than one way to hoard money. It is hoarded when it is locked up in safedeposit vaults. It is hoarded when loans are called arbitrarily. It is hoarded when credit is refused except at exorbitant rates.

The deposit of public funds in banks and the issue of emergency notes are wholly within the discretion of the secretary of the treasury. In both cases he acts in behalf of the people. If through the greed of bankers the currency thus put into circulation and the credit thus made available are to be cornered, it is idle to place any dependence upon temporary measures of relief which in other countries work to perfection.

Irritating as the attitude assumed by many bankers has been, it serves a useful purpose in proving anew the wisdom of the new federal reserve banking and currency system. When that goes into operation a few weeks bence, there will be no further monopolization of money and credit in the United The deposit of public funds in banks and the issue of emergency notes are there will be no further monopolization of money and credit in the United States. Those who are playing the old gauge game now are positively having their last innings.

What The New York Herald says of our neighbors can be said with much more lorge of the Canadian banks who have failed to take advantage of the facilities placed at their disposal by parliament for "financing business," to use the pointed of Canada have been more than willing to help to finance business and have but means at the disposal of the banks of their respective countries; but have in taken case found banks not disposed to do what the governments thought they have again attempted to enter upon French soil, driving back light covering bodies of our troops, but their offensive was soon stopped.

"In Gallicia the Russians, having taken possession of Jaroslau, are completely investing Przemyal and continuing their offensive movement on Cracow." of emergency currency in the way of national notes was created by congress, the and when congress improved the emergency currency act and made it effective there denly appeared to be a reduction in the rate and a more generous treatment of the Hic. But do what he will, the secretary of the treasury has found it hard to ge

As an illustration of the situation in Canada we also propose to copy an editor. from a Western Canadian paper:

Regina Province, Sept. 21: To relieve debtors by legislative means [moratorium] practically causes a suspension of business, and it is not that, but stimulation of business, which is required. So long as there is a moderate volume of business transacted, there will be little unemployment, and anything in the nature of a moratorium will not be necessary. Therefore, to stimulate and improve business should be at the present time the chief object of governments, both municipal, provincial and federal.

Means by which this end can be accomplished are many, and he would be a bold man who would undertake to say which would be the most effective and suitable. The Dominion Government has already recognized this, as 's shown by the steps it took to strengthen the position of the banks, with the intention of using the banks to extend assistance to the people of the country The Dominion Government's plan miscarried, to some extent at least, by rea son of the fact that the banks generally did not carry out the wishes of the government, but rather were intent on strengthening their own position at the expense both of the government and the people. The government, how ever; still has the option as to what method it will use of extending assistance to the people, and it can very easily revoke the powers granted to the banks and instead undertake some means of extending direct state aid, to furnish credit and guarantee security until normal conditions are restored

The government of Great Britain has taken just that step. In Britain it was not necessary or desirable to use the banks for the purpose, and so it was done direct. In Canada the attempt has been made to use the banks, and we do not believe there is anyone, save the bankers themselves, who will say the attempt has been successful.

Our minister of finance should assume the same leadership of the nation's fin cing as did George and McAdoo and tell the banks what they must do. He may ot have the direct jurisdiction, but he has the power to do it. Be a McAdoo and a Lloyd George.

Coming back more specifically to the bank situation in Canada as illustrated by Constitutionalist army of the north at the bank statement up to the end of Argust, we find that the call loans outside of Torreon, where he expects to withstanda were reduced by something like $29,000,000 in that month, and this covers that an attack by 10,000 Carranzista troops, said to be moving up from southern Mexico by way of Aguas Callenter Mexico by way of Aguas sed down in New York. There was therefore left about $100,000,000 of Canadian mey on call loans on Sept. 1, and the public will wait patiently to hear how much of this $100,000,000 has been collected during the present month. There is no doubt hat the banks are trying to get it in, and they told the Canadian public they could get it in at any time they called it. As money is badly needed in Canada at the sent moment, it is to be hoped that most of the $100,000,000 is now in hand, especially as it is made up of the savings of the Canadian people, and would be most efficient at this moment in helping along the needs of business as felt by our manuurers, our farmers and those of the general public who are regular customers of

The figures also show an increased issue of bank notes to the extent of $20,000,-0, and this amount would raise the total issue to about the legal limit and make to entrenchment on the excess issue, as authorized by parliament. It may be, however, that the September returns will show that the banks have availed themselves omewhat of the excess issue

COUNCIL MUST DECIDE

If Toronto's city council votes "yes" today, every one of the 2500 men from here now enlisted for service overseas will be insured for $1000. Late yesterday Controller McCarthy met the patriotic fund finance committee and this plan will come before the council today for ratification.

Each policy for $1000 will cost Toronto $42 for one year; thus the tal cost to the city will be $100,000 for one year. Queries have come from Valcartier, especially from married men, asking if the insurance plan is dead. When the men enlisted it seemed very likely that the city would insure them. All depends on how the council votes today.

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, Sept. 24, 3.30 a.m.—C. H. Collet, the hero of the aerial raid into Germany, is a lieutenant of the Royal Marine Artillery. He took to flying a year ago and soon proved himself a remarkably fine pilot.

Lieutenant Collet was the first to show what a competent pilot could do with a heavy biplane which the admiralty bought in Leipzig last year. With a German pilot in this machine it used to lumber around the aerodrome near London, but when Collet took charge it became a different vehicle. One of the sights of the aerodrome was to see him stand the machine vertically on one wing, tup and perform an aweinspiring spiral for a thousand feet. Early this year Collet had this biplane fitted for a long non-stop fight, the passenger space being fitted with an enormous petrol tank. Thus equipped he flew from Plymouth to Grimsby, about 275 miles, then alighting thru a faulty engine. It was his original intention to fly to the north of Scotland.
