At 7 o'clock the guests retired from the banqueting hall, and returned to the city by special train to witness the

TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION AND PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY.

At eight o'clock the members of the Benevolent Irish Society met in the Society's Hall in full regalia, and, with their banners and flags flying, marched to Hillsborough Square, where they were joined by the Catholic Literary Union, by the members of St. Dunstan's congregation, and by several delegates from country parishes. Torches having been distributed, the procession started punctually in the following order :

Chief Marshal.

Squad of Police.

City Cornet Band.

Benevolent Irish Society.

County Delegates.

Catholic Literary Union.

Band of 82nd Battalion.

Members of St. Dunstan's Congregation.

They marched up Hillsborough Street to Kent Street, down Kent Street to Pownal Street, down Pownal Street to Water Street, up Water Street to Queen Street, up Queen Street to Richmond Street, down Richmond Street to Weymouth Street, down Weymouth Street to Water Street, up Water Street, to Great George Street, and entered the garden in front of the Bishop's Palace, where a grand Pyrotechnic display was in progress, under the management of Herr Hermans and Chief Engineer Thornton, of the steamship Carroll. In a glowing cauldron blazed Bengal Fire ; now, throwing a ruddy glare over the town, and again dying away in a pale green effulgence, which lent a chaste beauty to the respectable shabbiness of St. Dunstan's ; causing many to ask : " Has the Cathedral been painted ? " Gorgeous rockets shot into space, leaving a trail of light in their wake ; squibs, the delight of the ubiquitous small boys, exploded in all
