REV. MORGAN WOOD.

The Bond Street Divine Lectures on "The Average Man." Rev. Morgan Wood, Dr. Wild's successor at Bond Street Church, Toronto, lectured last night at the First Congregational Church on "The Average Man." Mr. Wood is a young man and decidedly good-looking. He has a poetic head, an athletic figure, and a Boanergic voice. His platform manners are unconventional, his style of oratory is breezy. He has a great flow of words, and is not without ideas. The audience that greeted him nearly filled the lower floor and appeared to enjoy the lecture greatly. It was a popular psychological study, illustrated by anecdote, and humorous description of various types of character. He dwelt on the necessity of a full and free communication with human physical nature in molding the character and informing the mind. He satirized the paternal custom of selecting the weakling of the flock for the pulpit, and cities, where young men were trained of this good old Conservative party. not less in books but infinitely more in He characterized the Liberais who par-They went where men were ticipated in the recent mayoraity conworst and sin the foulest, that they test as "Tammany Hall."

Bitter Speeches Made at the Convention Last Night.

A convention was held last evening by the Conservatives of the city for the purpose of bringing out a cardidate to oppose Col. F. B. Leys in the provincial election, as was arranged by party bosses beforehand. Adam Beck was chosen. The gathering was held in the Music Hall, and the delegates present occupied about three-quarters of the lower floor. The chair was taken by Mr. John P. Minhinnick, at the request of Vice-President T. A. Jones, and nominations being called for, came in quickly. The following gentlemen were named:
Messrs. Adam Beck, A. B. Cox, Ed.

Commissioner Jones alone of the nominees was not present. The others all addressed the gathering. Mr. Beck posed as the workingman's friend. He spoke of his attainments, and thanked his friends for asking him to come before the convention.

Mr. Cox was willing to abide by the decision of the convention. The keynote struck by all the speakers was "organization." gloried in the fact that the organization had been so excellent that the last Dominion election had been won through it. Through that organization, too, a siege of eighteen days in the courts had been successfully resisted, it was affirmed.
