ARMORIES CROWDED.

Military Tournament Last Night Drew Splendid Attendance.

Many people were turned away from the armories on account of lack of accommodation last night for the military tournament. All available space was taken up, and the interest was so intense that very few of the great crowd left until the last number was run off at 11.30.

Lieutenant-Governor Sir Mortimer Clark attended with a party, of which Gen. Otter, chief of staff, was a prominent member.

The feature of the evening was the exhibition of free gymnastics given by the R.M.C. cadets from Kingston. They performed as one man.

The only event down on the program not executed was the "Rescue Race" for which there were no contestants.

The summary—Tug-or-war, between a squad from the Q.O.R. and the Mississauga Horse, won by the latter.

Cutting the lemon—Lieut. C. F. Constantine, R.C.H.A., first; Capt. Douglas Young, R.C.D., second. This contest was keen, three rounds being necessary to get a winner.

BOY MISSING.

Freddie Gracey Started Out on Errand and Has Disappeared.

On Thursday, just after noon, nine-year-old Freddie Gracey, who was staying with his sister-in-law at 229 Symington-avenue, went on an errand to a store at the corner of Bloor and Wallace-streets, but as yet has never returned. Mrs. Gracey, aided by kind friends and bar-headed, was last seen on Bloor-street near Lansdowne-avenue about 1.30 p.m. Thursday.

"LIFE" FOR GEO. SLACK SWEARS HIS INNOCENCE

Justice Anglin, Viewing Him as Incorrigible, Imposes Extreme Penalty.

Justice Anglin yesterday, in the criminal assizes, sentenced George Slack to life imprisonment. The crime for which Slack is to pay the penalty was a particularly brutal one. The victim was Mrs. Davies, a woman of advanced years, who keeps a small store at Yonge and Gloucester-streets. On March 20 last a man entered her store and brutally assaulted her, getting away with some $20 from the till. She, together with several other witnesses, positively identified Slack, who has many past convictions. The defence was an alibi.

"I am innocent, so help me God," said Slack when asked if he had anything to say before sentence. "It is pretty hard to send an innocent man to prison. I would fall in my duty if I did not regard you as an incorrigible offender. May this sentence be a warning to others that such horrible crimes will be punished to the full extent of the law," declared the judge.

Slack had been released on parole last December after serving eight years and nine months of a 12-years' sentence for assaulting Harry Aspenden, an old man, and his wife and daughter, in their grocery at 216 Victoria-street. Slack was let off with a three-years' term. J. W. Curry, a.C., pleaded for leniency, saying the young man has kept away from liquor since he came out of prison in December last, and in spite of the jury's verdict I still think that an alibi was proven. He will endeavor to secure a new trial.

Vincenzo Milton, Italian, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for clashing the throat of his erstwhile sweetheart with a razor. He pleaded drunkenness and "fooling" as an excuse.

BEATS THE BRITISH PRODUCT.

Commercial Race Between Canadian and English Woollen Fabrics.

When Blunoz Canadian Serge was first put on the market makers were advised that they could sell twice as much of it if they did not call it "Made-in-Canada." One gentleman said: "It's good enough to be called British, as good as any West of England production."

A Side by side the Blunoz has run a race with the famous Britannoloom serge with the Semi-ready Company say they sell twice as much Blunoz as they do Britannoloom.

An Army of Workmen

FEW people have any idea of the marvellous organization and the extent of the industrial army involved in the construction of the modern steel colossus building of business. Hundreds of men have been working for months in mines, in smelters, in mills and factories, in the woods, on the railroads and steamers—preparing. Scores of men worked all last summer and fall digging and teaming—preparing. Now our building itself looms high above the street. The steel gangs have been at work, men whose trade is so dangerous to the onlookers—at least—that insurance companies class them with soldiers; men who roam over all the civilized world where steel construction is practiced. Experts in their line, these steel men, with nerves of the metal they work with—steel. Part of the great army of interdependent units which vanquish that problem of stern demands and imperative limitations—the modern steel frame, fireproof, store building.

Boys' Clothing Monday

We are always glad to see boys in our men's store. We sell just about as much clothing to boys as to men. Saturday is men's day, but being a holiday, a holiday from school, boys come too. We want to have a special day for boys though, and so we set aside Monday as boys' day, and offer special excuses to truants. Surely mothers and teachers won't mind half a day's absence on important business like a new suit—especially $8.00 ones for $5.00.
