MACOMBER HORSES DERBY FAVORITES

Looks Hard to Pick Winner in Next Saturday's Race at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—As May 12, the date for the Kentucky Derby approaches, the more uncertain becomes the composition of the field which will try for the $200,000 classic, the richest stake for three-year-olds in America.

Seventy-six entries are in active training, but how many will go to the post and which will be greeted with the usual horse show of American Beauty roses at the finish is puzzling to students of thoroughbred performance today as much as it was when the entries were announced months ago.

The international aspect of the race—foreign bred horses being among the nominations—is arousing extraordinary interest. Turfmen associate the event with the premier racing fixture of the season.

Probably never before has there been an array of horseflesh so brilliant as that named this year. The field includes a cream of three-year-olds, the best of which in his Derby performance will acquire the undoubted title of champion for his age.

A survey of the candidates in training and the manner in which they are working, coupled with the possibility of a fast track, makes it probable the largest field that ever faced the starter in a derby will go to the post.

A. F. Macomber's candidates, headed by North Star III and War Star, remain the favorites and are encouraging their followers by their workout shows.

Five of this stable's seven entries are foreign bred, the only domestic animals being the Star Shoot colts, Star Master and Star Gazer.

Omar Khayyam, Ticket, the Green Form, Harry Kelly and most of the other formidable locally-trained eligibles have been racing at Lexington as a final preparation.
