HOSPITAL SIGNAL SYSTEM SHOWS PATIENTS WANTS

Better service for hospital patients and a saving of many steps for nurses are advantages provided for in a new electrical signal system for hospitals, described in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine. The system can be installed with little difficulty in an old hospital, if desired, and is entirely suited for use in field hospitals. Besides each bed is a push button and a small box-like indicator supported on a bracket extending from the wall. Labels in the nurses' station is a signal board divided into panels, one for each patient's bed. Pressing the button causes the indicator at the bedside and a corresponding indicator in the nurses' station to register one of four or five wants such as "water," "nurse," etc., according to the number of times the button is pressed. Besides saving time, the system prevents any dispute between patient and nurse as to the signal given. In case several calls come in at the same time this apparatus enables the nurse on duty to give preference to the patient whose need is most urgent.

TO REVIEW CLASSES UNDER CATEGORY "A." It has been announced by the military authorities that an official is to be appointed in each military district to go over the papers of the men liable under the Military Service Act placed in the categories below category A. The military authorities, it is said, do not feel certain that all the men placed in categories lower than A should have been so placed. These cases probably will be cleared up before the end of nineteen are called to the colors.

James H. Wilkes, Waterloo street, has received word that his son, Sgt. Harold Wilkes, has arrived in England. Lieut. Charles W. Townsend, M. C. of Fredericton, a former U. N. S. man, and son of the late Rev. Mr. Townsend, has returned from the front. He is visiting his mother in Fredericton.

The names of twelve New Brunswick men appear in the midlight casualty list: Wounded, J. McNeil, Caledonia Mines; R. Hunter, Sussex; F. C. Call, Call's Mills; G. Smith, Bale Verre; H. R. Lockhart, Petticoe; G. A. Laprairie, Campbellton; P. Beattie, Beechwood; J. A. Higgins, Cady Station. Presumed to have died: W. B. Mather, Russellville. Prisoner of war repatriated: M. A. Pines, Riverside. Ill. H. R. Holt, St. George.

PRUSSIAN METHOD. During the invasion of Belgium a captain in a Prussian regiment got hold of a hundred fresh eggs somewhere, and wishing to give his faithful soldiers a treat, there were just exactly a hundred men in his company, as it happened—the turned the eggs over to the top sergeant and told him to see that every man in the command had an egg for his breakfast next morning. But the company cook smashed one of the eggs, and next morning there were only ninety-nine eggs to be distributed among a hundred hungry soldiers. The sergeant was puzzled at first. He knew he had to obey orders. For a while he didn't know just how to distribute those eggs. "Finally," says the narrator of the story, "he had a wonderful inspiration—a typical Prussian inspiration. It worked all right, too."

"Well, what did the sergeant do?" demanded one of the company. "Killed one of the soldiers," Vancouver Province.

Dean E. A. Howes, secretary of the Alberta committee, telegraphs that four prosecutions for violation of the anti-waste and hoarding order, and eating house order of the Canada Food Board, have taken place in that province, and that heavy fines have been imposed.
