FOOLHARDY VISITOR
TRIES TO SCALE THE MINISTER'S FACE

Came Hurting Down Cliff And Now is Under Doctor's Care

Mountain climbing is said to be popular in Europe, and occasionally one hears of some adventurous spirit attempting to scale the heights of some Alaskan pinnacle, but as yet the idea has not become popular in New Brunswick. The other night, however, a young gentleman from the states who, with his father and mother, is staying at a hotel above Rothesay, attempted the most audacious approach to mountain climbing possible in this country and almost with very serious consequences.

He had been out on the river in a motor boat with two young ladies all evening, and about half-past nine, as they were passing along the shore of Long Island, one of his companions dared him to climb up the lower side of Minister's Face, a rock which rises almost sheer for three hundred feet. He at once took up the challenge, and after running the boat of shore started on his perilous ascent from the sandy beach. He made good progress at first but after going up about fifty feet he either became dizzy or his foot slipped; at any rate he fell hurtling down, striking against the side of the cliff and plunging deep into the sand at the bottom.

At first it was thought that he was very seriously hurt and he was rushed to Rothesay, where his father, who is a doctor, was summoned. No bones were found broken, but scratches innumerable were inflicted all over his body. He is at present resting uncomforably swathed in bandages and feels that a guide and a rope are not such unnecessary features of mountain climbing after all.

AUTO MEN MAKE THE ROTHESAY ROAD SAFER

Bad Place at Bridge Gets Attention—Chance For Government To Do Something

A great improvement is being made in the Rothesay road through the efforts of the New Brunswick Automobile Association of which T. P. Regan is the energetic president. A man has been employed since the beginning of the summer to fill in the holes on the road as they appear and this has made a marked difference in the surface.

One of the most dangerous sections of the road, that between Brookville and Torryburn, has been made much safer by the removal of the trees which closely hedged the road and prevented drivers from seeing ahead of them on this winding roadway. The worst spot on this road was the approach to the western end of the bridge which crosses above the I. C. R. tracks where the road takes a sharp double turn. The trees have been removed, giving a fair view of the road and preparations are being made to have the large rock at the corner of the turn removed in order to give the drivers an opportunity to see the whole road and any approaching vehicle.

When this is done it would be possible for the government, with very little expense, to straighten the road and thus add considerably to the safety of those using it.

LURED TO BUSHES IN PARK

Young Lad Mishandled By Strange Man Yesterday

FINGER MARKS ON THROAT

Arthur Gibbon, in Rockwood on Picnic, Enticed By Offer of Fifty Cents—Two Women Also Annoyed, Evidently By Same Man

To be lured into the bushes in Rockwood Park and be choked and struck by a strange man was the terrifying experience of little Arthur Gibbon yesterday afternoon.

The boy, who is the son of William Gibbon, of 66 Westmorland Road, went with his mother and several other children to the park on a picnic. Arthur and the other children started first and after reaching the park were playing near the lake. Arthur determined to go back and meet his mother, who he knew would be along soon. He had gone only a few yards out of the sight of the other boys when a strange man dressed in a grey suit and wearing a cap stopped him and asked him whether he wanted to earn fifty cents. The lad was all attention in a minute; the man then told him to follow and led him behind some bushes, when he suddenly turned and seized the young boy by the throat, at the same time threatening to choke him if he attempted to cry out. He then asked him several questions, still holding him by the throat, but as there were people passing by not far away he finally let the boy go and started away from the road through the bushes.

Young Gibbon was terrified, and when he reached his mother was hardly able to make her understand what had happened; his throat and shoulders had apparently been roughly handled, for there were marks of the man's hands. The park policeman was notified of what had happened and energetic efforts are being made today to locate the man.

Two ladies are reported to have been bothered by a man in the park yesterday, and their description of him tallies with that of young Gibbon. He was rather over a barber to his face.

DID NOT RECOGNIZE THEIR NAMES IN THE SOUNDS PRODUCED

Police Court Trio Sat Still While Strange Things Came From Lips of Clerk

Of the six prisoners before the magistrate this morning three were foreigners. Whether due to the clerk's pronunciation or the spelling on the police books none of them seemed willing to answer when one of the strange sounding names was called out; then when they saw that one of them was meant, all started up, causing no little confusion before they were sorted out.

Theodor Fredericks, who was charged with wandering about on Long Wharf and not being able to give a satisfactory account of himself, and also with deserting from the steamer Heckla, was remanded until the captain could appear to give evidence.

John Savaskie, who was arrested while drunk last night said that he had been robbed of $25. As he did not know a word of English and a friend of his who appeared to pay his fine was in the same plight, there was a dialogue consisting of questions variously put and repeated on the part of the magistrate and replies in pantomime and confused gutters by the foreigners. The magistrate fined him $8, but allowed the fine to stand.

Agustia Tefindel, another of foreign extraction, was remanded on a charge of drunkenness.

Gerald Jeffrey, who was arrested on charge of being drunk and using profane language was remanded.

Two others were remanded on drunkenness charge.

William Golding, who caused some excitement the other day by attempting to hide under a boiler in the police court cellar, was let out this morning after being fined $8 for being drunk and $8 for profane language. One fine was allowed to stand.
