THE POLICE CLEAR HENDERSON'S COLLECTION OF WEAPONS; SOME NEFARIOUS DEEDS RECALLED

On the wall of Police Court Geo. A. Henderson's private office in the Police station is a collection of instru-ments which is very attractive and calls for attention from every person who enters the office and excites their curiosity to a very high degree. From every visitor to the office the collection brings forth admiration, as the instruments are in many cases unique, antique and of a most vicious description.
The following which is Section 123 of the Criminal Code, explains how many of the bloody instruments were obtained:
"Everyone who carries about his person any bowie knife, or any dagger, dirk, metal knuckles, skull cracker, slung shot or other offensive weapon of like character, or any loaded and liable to be summarily convicted to a penalty not exceeding $50 and not less than $10."
Under this section from time to time persons have been charged in the police court with having such weapons.
Fastened to Shield.
The different weapons are fastened on a large shield, and some bloody instruments are suspended from the corners. Among the weapons in the collection are revolvers, pistols, knives of all sorts, iron, brass and nickel knuckles, slung shots, skull crackers, instruments loaded at the end, hatches, razors, bayonets and air guns, which have all been taken from the possessor makes use of the glass bottle in the shape of a pistol, which is rendered as a terror of the rest, which are deemed harmless enough, until liquor crazed the possessor makes use of the weapons in a brutal and inhuman and bloody manner. The revolvers and pistols are of various kinds and description. Some of them are quite modern and would furnish excellent curio-sities for a museum. Some have wooden handles and others are of run-ty iron solid from one end to the other.
And Those Knives.
The knives and razors would excite the curiosity of the most uninter-ested person in the world. The look of the blades which vary in length from three to about eight inches with their sharp edges would send a shiver through a Livingstone or a Stan-

BISHOP LAYS IMMORALITY TO UNIVERSITIES

New York, June 23.—"Harvard, Princeton and Yale are undermining faith and teaching immorality," declared Bishop James A. McFaul, of Trenton, N. J., in addressing a group of young men who had just received their bachelor of arts degrees at the commencement of St. Francis Xavier's College last night, in the college hall, in West Sixteenth street.
"If the Catholics are sending their sons to these universities knew of the immorality and disrespect for womankind that are being taught in these institutions, they would tear down the buildings."
This was part of the final address to the graduates given by the prelate who continued to point out the contrast between the teaching of the colleges and the leading universities of the country.
"There are families in this country that are sacrificing their faith and their church and taught morality in their fanatic and lunatic desire to get into society. That's why they send their sons to Yale, Princeton and Harvard. They want to get into society through the associates their children meet at these institutions."
"What we want," the bishop continued, "is to send them to Catholic schools where we teach them that there are such commandments as 'Thou shalt not steal,' 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' No church power out the Catholic Church can stem these evils."
"The Catholic Church is here today to cure the present evils. Our mission is to uproot socialism, to destroy divorce and teach Christianity. The salvation of the republic depends on Christian teaching."
Bible Yet Taught.
"We must consider that as one of the problems of the day, the education of the millions. Why, even the universities, Harvard, Yale and Princeton, do not teach the Bible, that fether of modernists."
"We do not want to be the hirelings of the State, although we do not see why we should have to pay for the teaching of a religion that we are not in sympathy with. We might recall the words of President Taft delivered a few years ago in Ohio. He deplored the shame of imposing upon the Catholics of Cincinnati $200,000 because they paid this much for the support of the secular schools as part of their religious convictions."
"If ever our country or its principles are in danger, the Catholic church will be its salvation."
The bishop took for his topic: "The Apostolate of the Lady," and advised the young men who received their sheepskins to go forth as apostles of the faith among the laity. The teaching body of the church was dependent upon the laity as much as the laity had to depend upon their teachers of the hierarchy.
"While I yield to no man my esteem for the American Catholic laity," he said, "there is one respect in which we are defective. We might follow the example of the German Catholics with profit. They have created an apostolate of the Catholic press. The Catholic newspapers in that country have increased from five to five hundred and are reaching three million Catholics in that country. They know through these mediums what the problems are and how they may be solved."

THE CLOSING OF THE FREE
KINDERGARTEN

The Free Kindergarten schools throughout the city held their annual closing for the summer months yesterday. Great interest is taken in this laudable work, as was evidenced by the large gathering of parents, friends and those connected with the work. The school rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and plants, interspersed with flags and bunting. Upon the walls of the rooms hung paintings and drawings executed by the little ones. The neat attire of the tots and the happy look upon their faces all bespoke praise in the highest terms of their teachers. The Brussels St. free kindergarten school has an enrollment of forty-four children, the average attendance being 30. Yesterday morning the closing under the direction of Miss Hutt and Miss Brown finished their instruction on the topic of bee life. During the spring months the tots here learned the history of the herb life. Ideas of each were carried out in a manner suited for children. This school has been open only five years, commencing with but five pupils. During the past twelve months the present standing has been attained. This year has been most successful, the health of the scholars has been good, their progress excellent. The parents and prominent workers of this movement are completely satisfied with the excellent showing of the work of the children. The teacher of the school, a warm in praise of the assistance rendered to her by the members of the Y. M. A. and of her voluntary assistants, Misses Lovitt and Buckman. Miss Hutt has resigned from this school to take up kindergarten work in the Halifax school for the blind. Miss Hattie Allan will succeed Miss Hutt as teacher.
Portland Street Methodist.
The closing exercises of the kindergarten in connection with the Portland Methodist Church was witnessed by a large number of parents and relatives of the pupils. Many samples of the work of the children were in evidence, including small hand-colored pictures, drawings. Flowers cut from paper and colored adorned the walls. The exercises yesterday were in the way of a demonstration of the routine work. The thought followed was that of spring, and was indicative of the sowing of seed, of the tilling of the soil, of the planting of earlier plants, and of the return of summer. The children did their work intelligently and proficiently. There are thirty-six pupils at this kindergarten. Mrs. R. Matthews is principal, and has for her assistants Miss Louise Estey and Miss Blanche Eagles. Mrs. Matthews said the year's work had been productive of good results. The mothers' meeting in connection with the kindergarten had been a great help. A number of Jewish children had attended the kindergarten during the term just closed. Mrs. Matthews has five pupils in her training class for those studying for kindergarten teachers. Miss Belle Miller, now connected with the Waterloo street kindergarten, had lately passed the examinations for teaching. Mrs. Matthews is now director of the kindergarten work in the city.
St. Mary's.
In St. Mary's kindergarten school the teachers report an enrollment of forty-five, with an average attendance of twenty-eight. Miss D. Bell and Miss Hazel M. Seeley have charge of the little ones. The children were engaged all morning in painting flowers, making paper chains and weaving mats. The subject matter this month is flowers, and the little ones take the greatest delight in the painting of these. A pretty idea of the teachers was having each of the little ones plant a flower seed in a little flower-pot, on Arbor Day, and having the care of them. The children were happy showing their work to the visitors. Mrs. Matthews had a great success upon it. The teachers took the greatest delight also in pointing out to those present the work of the scholars. Miss Bell and Miss Seeley gave the children an outing at Seaside Park some two weeks ago, which the children enjoyed very much. Today all the children of the city school will enjoy a picnic at Rockwood Park, under the care and supervision of the teachers. The whole day will be spent there, giving the little ones a day of thorough pleasure and sweet-ness.

ing been made man and wife was recorded in the city of Waltham yesterday. The records at the office of City Clerk Hall read: Name of groom, Arthur W. Way, home Halifax; name of bride, Clara L. McNamara, home Halifax; groom's father, Thos. Way, Halifax; bride's father, Robert McNamara, Halifax. The ages given were, groom 46, bride 27. The couple, after receiving their license, went to the home of Rev. W. H. Dyas and were married. They took the next train out of town. The ceremony cannot be reached this morning. A squib in the Boston Globe gave the names Clara L. McKerran and Arthur W. Way.
Nickel's Great Attraction Today.
Without fear of contradiction the prettiest programme Holmes and Buchanan have yet put on at the Nickel is their couple of duets from the reigning musical successes "The Merry-Go-Round" and "Miss Pocohontas" which caught the large audiences last evening to the tune of great applause and demands for more. The stage was set prettily in halved fashion to re-
