

CREW OF BURNED STEAMER RESCUED

Wireless Messages Tell of Destruction of Str. West Point and Picking Up of Two Boats by Mauretania and Devonian.

Cape Race, Nfld., Sept. 4.—After much suffering all of the 32 men comprising the crew of the British freight steamer West Point, which burned to the waters edge in mid-ocean on Sunday last, are safe. News that the rescue of the West Point's crew had been completed by the picking up at midnight on Friday last of Captain Pinkham and fifteen men of his crew who had been with him for five days in an open boat, latterly without food, by the Canadian liner Mauretania, New York for Liverpool, was received here today by a wireless relay.

Meanwhile an equal number of the crew of the ill-fated steamer, headed by the chief mate, is approaching Boston aboard the Leyland liner Devonian which accomplished their rescue Friday morning at 9.30 a. m. They should arrive in Boston late Monday or early Tuesday. It may be a day or two later before their fellow seamen from the West Point now speeding in the opposite direction reach Liverpool. Tonight, both parties were informed of the fortunate delivery of the other.

The wireless message announcing the safety aboard the Mauretania of Capt. Pinkham and his party was received here today, having been relayed across nearly two-thirds of the Atlantic. It is said the Mauretania midnight Friday had rescued Captain Pinkham, of the steamer West Point, and his second officer and two engineers, the chief steward, the carpenter and ten seamen. The message told further of the rescue by the Devonian of the chief mate and party, although the Mauretania on Friday night had aided in relaying a message to this effect, the first information of the burning and abandonment of the West Point, which was received on this continent yesterday.

Today's message did not give the longitudinal and latitudinal position of the place where the rescue by the Mauretania of Captain Pinkham and his men took place. This must have been several hundreds of miles west of the place where the Devonian effected the rescue of the first boat's crew as the Mauretania when she relayed the first message on Friday night said nothing of the rescue of the captain's boat and crew.

Bristol, R. I., Sept. 4.—Back from a successful hunting trip in the frozen wilderness of Labrador and Greenland the hunting party headed by Harry Whitney of New Haven, Conn., Paul J. Rainey of New York, and Dr. Johnson, of Louisville, Ky. arrived in this harbor today on the sealing steamer Boethic commanded by Captain Robert Bartlett of the Peary North Pole expedition. Everybody on board is in good health and said that they had had great luck, bagging polar bear, walrus, musk ox and other Arctic game. Besides skins and walrus tusks the sportsmen brought back many live specimens of northern animals and birds. No effort was made to find the records of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, said to have been left behind at Etah containing accounts of his alleged dash to the North Pole.

BISHOP INGRAM MAKES DEEP IMPRESSION

All Saints Cathedral Dedicated At Opening Of Bi-Centenary Services At Halifax—Powerful Sermon.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, N. S., Sept. 4.—Clergymen from all parts of Canada, United States and Great Britain filled the pulpits of the Halifax churches today. The Bishop of London occupied the pulpit of All Saints Cathedral, which was dedicated yesterday.

The visit to Halifax of the Right Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, Lord Bishop of London, will never be forgotten by any of those who were present yesterday at the services in All Saints Cathedral.

His Lordship's name is one to conjure with in his vast diocese, with its population of as great as the whole of Canada. His voice is one which all have learned to trust as that of the true spiritual shepherd.

Suffice it to say, that distinguished as he is, and many as have been the stories published of the usefulness which he has done at home the people who have heard him feel their spirits drawn to higher issues as by a magnet. Only personality drives home the spoken word like this.

EVERYTHING READY TODAY FOR DOMINION EXHIBITION

Official Opening Saturday Drew Good Attendance and All Indications Point to Record-Breaking Crowd Today—Excellent Displays in All Departments—Cattle Show an Especial Feature.

The greatest exhibition ever held in this city was formally thrown open to the public on Saturday afternoon when representative men of the city, province and Dominion assembled and in addresses which breathed the spirit of the new east welcomed to the city the thousands of visitors who, during the next ten days will enjoy the fair and the unrivalled attractions which the Canadian winter port can offer.

It is noteworthy that on this occasion one of the most noted men in the Empire, a man who will do much for the development of this city was present.

The display in the industrial building is also larger than previous years, while in the other special departments there is a corresponding increase in quantity and quality of exhibits.

Today all the special attractions will be in full swing and this evening will see the first exhibition of fire works. The Ladies' Orchestra will also be on hand today and will give concerts daily on the band stand in the main building.

All departments of the fair have been efficiently staffed and there is every provision made for the best attention to visitors. All that is necessary now is for the visitors to come in sufficient numbers and the exhibition of 1910 will be a success.

The Formal Opening.

The ceremonies in connection with the formal opening of the exhibition took place in the large amusement hall before a large assemblage, including many prominent citizens and visitors from other towns. President Skinner acted as master of ceremonies and speeches of welcome and congratulatory were delivered by Mayor Prink, Premier Hazen, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Surveyor General Grimmer and Sir Robert Perks, after which Lieutenant Governor Pugsley took his property by formally opening the exhibition in a three minute speech.

The Government Exhibits.

The exhibits of the government are a credit to those having them in hand, and the Board of Trade exhibit is unique in its way. One will be the means of advertising the resources of the province the other of directing attention to the possibilities of St. John, a city which is rapidly becoming a manufacturing centre of importance as well as increasing its transshipment at the rate of 300 per cent. in ten years. The attractions before the grand stand will be of a character never seen in this city, while at night the pyrotechnic displays will be of unrivalled excellence.

The City's Welcome.

Mayor Prink was the next speaker. "As chief magistrate of the city," he said, "I take great pleasure in extending a cordial welcome to the strangers within our gates. St. John has a reputation for hospitality and I need not appeal to the citizens to keep up that reputation."

A Good Attendance.

There was a good attendance at the ceremony of Saturday and the indications are that with the weather men in favorable mood, the turnstiles will click out a new record for attendance before the big fair ends. Aside from the opening ceremonies, and the display in the industrial building, which was not quite ready, there were no attractions to draw a crowd on Saturday for the fair does not really open until today, but from the showing made and the deep interest which has been awakened in the exhibition there is no doubt that all previous records will be left far in the rear.

Capable Management.

On every hand can be heard words of praise and congratulations for the excellent work which the management of the fair has done. The directors are pleased with Manager Good and his staff and Mr. Good in turn has words of praise for the great interest which the directors have shown in the work. Buildings and grounds have been so greatly changed that they are hardly recognizable as the fair plant of former years. Economy of space and the most convenient arrangement has been kept particularly in mind and the result is exceptionally gratifying.

The live stock accommodations and exhibit are the special features of the fair. Never has such a fine exhibit of cattle resources been seen in this city. There are more than 400 head of the finest cattle on exhibition and the visitor is at once impressed with the showing which the province bred stock make in competition with the best products of Upper Canadian herds. In dairy cattle the showing is particularly fine. There are at least 125 Ayrshires, 80 Holsteins, 100 Jerseys and 30 dairy grade cattle on show, while in the beef classes there are probably 40 Herefords and as many shorthorns. In all the cattle show is alone worth a trip to the city and grounds. The poultry exhibit is also a very classy one while in the sheep and swine classes there are the very best.

PREMIER HAZEN.

the hope that the show would be a success and again extended a welcome to the strangers.

Premier Hazen's Address.

Premier Hazen was the next speaker. He was greeted with applause. After referring to the possibility of the other speakers on the programme having some great message for the people, he congratulated the exhibition association on the success which has so far attended their efforts to organize the greatest exhibition ever held in St. John. It was well, he said, that a community possessed citizens willing to devote their energies to such an undertaking without other recompense than the grateful appreciation of their fellow citizens.

Fine Live Stock Display.

The speaker was much impressed by the great improvements made in connection with the buildings and grounds. The exhibits of live stock were the best in the Dominion and in providing arrangements enabling visitors to see this great feature at night the association had done well.

The provincial exhibit, including the beavers, emblematic of the industry of the politicians and the people, would repay a visit, and the Board of Trade display would prove a profitable advertisement for St. John.

Continuing the speaker said it was too early in the season to have a good exhibit of agricultural products. This was to be regretted. New Brunswick could provide as good an exhibit of agricultural and horticultural products as any of the provinces. And however great might be the faith in the industrial development of the province, it was well to bear in mind that New Brunswick must continue to depend largely on agriculture.

Agricultural Enterprise.

The farmers are exhibiting more enterprise every year. No longer do we hear the cry—there is no market. The farmers are not now meeting the demands of the home market. We import millions of dollars worth of beef and farm produce every year. Our farmers can find at home a market for nearly all they can produce at profitable markets. And to a large extent they are beginning to take advantage of their opportunities. Mortgages on farms are being wiped out, and very little money is now being borrowed

CHURCH DRIFTING TO CATHOLICISM

GOV. GENERAL REPORTS ON HUDSON BAY

Earl Grey Found Trip Most Delightful And Made Study Of Land, Discovering Traces Of Minerals.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Earl Grey has telegraphed to the secretary of state his story of the trip through Hudson Bay and straits. The telegram came by wireless from Fame Point, Labrador. The governor general tells of a delightful trip and also of good land which should be worked prospecting for minerals.

For some distance on his way overland from Lake Winnipeg the country was rocky, though a large area of good land lies to the north and becomes more plentiful as Oxford lake is approached. Along Kep lake and from there to the bay the soil is deep, consisting of clay and clay loam. Extensive schists and diabases that may be mineral bearing and that are certainly worth prospecting occur on the upper Etchemiamis, Oxford lake and Knee lake appearing to extend to Pespone and cross the lakes.

The governor general was met by the government steamer Earl Grey at Nelson Harbor. The run to Churchill was most enjoyable and he describes summer sailing on the Mediterranean of Canada as quite as pleasant as on the Mediterranean of the old world.

Attention is being directed to outside markets. When our potato men invaded the Cuban market last winter they thought that they would be doing well if they sold 50,000 barrels. They sold 234,000 barrels. Mr. Menzies told me the N. B. potatoes had secured a firm foothold in Cuba—they were the best on the market, and their sales would increase.

In the east we have opportunities scarcely realized yet. We need to encourage a belief that we live in the best country under the sun—a country that offers to every man of industry and intelligence the chance of attaining a competency.

In conclusion the premier expressed the opinion that the ladies of St. John were the most attractive feature of the fair, and hoped that the attendance at the exhibition would be sufficient to assure financial success.

Hon. William Pugsley.

Hon. William Pugsley next spoke—"After the eloquent description of the advantages of exhibitions given by my admirable friend, Mr. Hazen, it would be superfluous for me to turn the stream of my verbosity in that direction; besides, I might blunt your appreciation of the marvels on view. I'm not an agriculturist, the farm and I early parted company. At that time we used ox wagons, which were then the symbol of progress in Eastern Canada. Mr. Hazen assures us that the farmers have changed their methods of locomotion. I hope so. Perhaps my pleasure is marred by the reflection that other parts of the province wanted the Dominion exhibition. But this is a world of disappointments. We have with us Sir Robert Perks. I may have had something to do with his coming here. He is a great man in politics and business."

"Sir Robert Perks is taking an interest in Canada, and he hopes to take a lot of interest in St. John. I believe the name of Perkins is inseparably associated with the Georgian Bay Canal—that great undertaking which is to do so much for middle Canada, and enable us to send our coal and pig iron to the west, while we continue to pay high prices down here."

"Do not imagine that any arrangement has been made to build the canal either by the government or a private company. I'm merely telling you that the canal will be built."

Sir Robert in New Brunswick. Sir Robert has invaded New Brunswick. He has established an industry on the Miramichi, which is making good. Sir Robert has too much money. But nevertheless he likes to see progress throughout the Empire, when there is more money in it for him. So he has come to St. John to see what he can do with us. Sir Robert is connected with the company that proposes to build a dry dock at Quebec and St. John. In my unpretentious way I have endeavored to persuade him that St. John is the best place in Canada for a dry dock and shipbuilding plant. I believe I have convinced him. At any rate he said he agreed with my view. Sir Robert, I believe, will build a dry dock here and do his best to bring along a shipbuilding plant. From the discussions I have had with him and the plans he has unfolded to me, I think I may say the negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily and the work will be undertaken in the near future. Sir Celebrated Fr. Vaughan Says Protestants Are on Road to Agnosticism or Return to Catholic Church—Papal Legate Welcomed.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Sept. 4.—The preacher at the morning service at St. Patrick's church was Rev. Bernard Vaughan, the well known preacher of London, England. He produced a profound impression by his utterances which were distinguished by his great earnestness. The famous Jesuit swayed the vast congregation, and at the end of the sermon an audible murmur pervaded the immense church building.

The sermon was on the theme "The Mass, the Soul of Religion." The preacher devoted a great deal of the time to reciting how in England the authorities had attempted to crush out the Mass from religion and how they had failed in their attempt. "The living soul of Christianity was no more to be torn out of Christ's religion than the St. Lawrence running below your city is to be dragged away from his river bed or the light of the sun bathing your glorious city in radiant beauty is to be quenched in the heavens above." Without the sacrifice of the Mass, Protestantism was a soulless religion.

Father Vaughan said that the Protestant Church today in England is divided into two sections. There is the section influenced by rationalism and politics and the section believing in revelation and authority. The former is drifting away to agnosticism, while the latter party is creeping back to Catholicism.

During the dinner the evening Emperor William toasted King George and afterwards detained Lord Roberts for several hours in animated conversation. Lord Roberts wore the order of the black eagle which Emperor William conferred on him at the close of the South African war.
