

CANADA NOW GETTING FOR NOTHING WHAT LIBERALS WOULD HAVE BOUGHT

New Democratic Tariff as it is Likely to Pass the U. S. Senate, will Give Canada Opportunities Better than the Liberals Promised, and Without any Reciprocity Purchase Price Attached - Some Interesting Comparisons Showing the Advantages of "Standing Pat."

Special Correspondence of The Standard, Ottawa, August 16.—The Liberal party persists in its adherence to Reciprocity. It is a pleasing example of pathetic loyalty to an idea which not merely belongs to our colonial past, which not merely is a political rind, but which has been discredited by very recent events.

When the Reciprocity campaign was being waged one argument used by the opponents of the agreement was that the trend in the United States was towards a lowering of the tariff; that reductions were bound to come, no matter what Canada did; and that Mr. Taft and his advisers were trying to induce Canada to buy what would be forced to give if the proposed purchaser proved shy. Well, the purchaser did prove shy, and did not purchase. Canada stood pat. We know now that the Conservatives and the dissident Liberals were right.

The Democratic tariff has not yet been passed, and changes may occur. Still, the Democratic party, directed by President Wilson's firmness, has held fast to the principle of reduction; indeed, such changes as the Senate has effected upon the Bill as it left the House have mainly been in the direction of a still further lowering of the duties. Here are a few examples:

Article	Former Duty	Proposed Duty
Cattle	10 per cent	Free
Horses under $100	$15.00	10 per cent
Horses over $100	10 per cent	Free
Bees	10c per bush	6c per bush
Peas, dried	15c per bush	10c per bush
Butter	3c per lb	2 1/2c per lb
Cheese	20 per cent	2 1/2c per lb
Flaxseed	20 per cent	15 per cent
Iron sheets, wire, etc.	20c per bush	15c per bush

The tariff is not yet finally passed, but such has been its history so far. Now let us look up our old Reciprocity schedules, and let us see what becomes of the duties which were offered to us two or three years ago. The following is an analysis of the articles enumerated as those upon which the United States were to make concessions to Canada and a statement of their treatment under the latest draft of the American Bill. One or two have proved difficult to trace in the schedules; they were not important. The articles may be classified as follows:

- Articles which, under the Reciprocity Agreement, were to be free and which are made free by the latest draft of the new tariff.
- Articles which were not mentioned in the Reciprocity Agreement and which are made free by the draft tariff.
- Articles which under the Reciprocity Agreement would have borne a reduced duty, and which are made free by the draft tariff.
- Articles which under the Reciprocity Agreement would have borne a reduced duty, and on which reductions of duty are made by the draft tariff.
- Articles which under the Reciprocity Agreement would have been free, on which reductions of duty are made by the draft tariff.
- Articles which under the Reciprocity Agreement would have had reduction of duties which are not touched by the draft tariff.

Now let us set out the schedule so arranged:

Articles Free by Reciprocity Agreement Which are Free by Latest Draft of New United States Tariff.

5 Articles which were given special treatment in the Reciprocity Agreement which remain at their old rates:

Cherry juice, etc.	Mica
Feathers	Mineral Waters, natural
Glycerine, crude	Paving Posts.

Looking over this analysis the reader will be struck with the number of important staples made free by the draft tariff. These include live stock, meats, many dairy products, fish, lumber, coal, wool, leather, iron ore, agricultural implements. Many of these were not free under Reciprocity, and some found no mention in the former agreement. The reductions now given for nothing and for the Americans' own purposes exceed the reductions which we were to buy and which were to be a "boon." The cases in which the duty stands are unimportant.

The Americans are showing great unwillingness to Mr. Fielding, Mr. Patterson and all other Liberals by this perverse course.

NICKEL'S THREE SHORTIES SCORE A SINGING HIT

Trinmont Trio Make Good Impression - Fine Picture Bill as Well.

The Nickel is at it again. Another fine team of vocalists landed here yesterday and in the evening they commenced their programmes, which are sure to please all through the week. This is the Trinmont Trio, or in the words of their advance notices "150 voices of Harmony." When the little fellows come upon the stage a big laugh breaks out but when they start in to sing a deep hush follows. Then when they finish a roar of applause goes forth. There are solos, duets and trios galore, popular, semi-classic and classical. It is a fine, bright musical act and will be sure to please until next Saturday night.

The Nickel's picture programme, which will be concluded today has the merit of being an all-Vitagraph show. The leading feature is a two-reel production entitled "The Great Diamond Mystery," being the prize winning story in the Motion Picture Magazine's recent contest and is certainly an engrossing one. All the Vitagraph's best players take part in it. Comedy element is supplied in the picture "The Discipling of the Disciples," year-and topical interest is aroused in the Police Force of Quebec on parade.

Miss Gertrude Townsend is singing "On the Trail of the Lonesome Pine" for the first half of the week and is doing it most artistically. Tomorrow will be the week-day at the Nickel and on Friday the second of the serial photo-novel pictures will be shown under the title "Alone in New York." The story series is going to be a great attraction at the Nickel.

New, Painless, Way to Remove Hair Growth

(Boudoir Secrets.) It now transpires that the mysterious white paste used so successfully by many beauty specialists for removing the skin of objectionable hair grows in more than 200 different delatone, which can be found in any drug store. With delatone and water make enough paste to cover any surface, apply and in 2 or 3 minutes, rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. The woman who uses this new and beautiful applies pyroxin to her hair with thumb and forefinger. This makes the eye-lashes running eastwardly curly. Pyroxin rubbed on eyebrows causes them to come in thick and glossy. Be careful not to get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.
