Hon. Mr. Burchill, chairman of the com-mittee on standing rules, reported again.t the petition No. 1 and notice of motion No. 28. Mr. Osman said as this was a matter of importance he would ask why this notice of motion was not approved. Hon. Mr. Burchill said that the motion of which notice was given was for the purpose of suspending the rules of the house in regard to the publication of pri-vate bills. The bill in question was not for the superintendent of the function the school set introduced a bill to amend the school act 1900. He explained that the object was to provide for the taxation necessary by the change in the school year, which instead of ending in October, would now end on June 30. The bill authorizes a poll tax of 75 cents up to June 30 and changes the term of the school trustees so that they will end at the same date. Hon. Mr. Tweedie introduced a bill to vate bills. The bill in question was one for the incorporation of the village of Albert for fire protection and water pur-poses. There was a kargely signed peti-tion in opposition to this bill, and the committee felt that, in view of the im-portance of the question, the rule should be strictly adhered to. Mr. Osman asked that his motion stand over for the week; granted. In answer to the inquiry of Mr. Hazen, Hon. Jury Reform.

One of the reforms that ought to come

One of the reforms that ought to come early in the new century is that mapped out by Justice Brewer, who says: "I hope the day will come when jurymen will be treated as gentlemen, and when conviction will be secured by a large majority and not by a full vote of the jury. The juryman should have as much home life as the judge and be paid adequately." It is a curious fact that whenever the ab-suid rule of a unanimous twelve is abaa-doned, as Justice Brewer suggests, it will be a reform in line with the most ancient jury practice. Up to the time of Edward III the English jury was not twelve but fifteen, eighteen or twenty mer, out of whom twelve was the required majority to tind a verdict. It was an innovation when the limit of the panel was put at tvelve and all were required to vote togethr.---[New York World.
