To Die in Battle. I do not pray for peace, Nor ask that on my path
The sounds of war shall shrill no more, But this I beg thee, Lord: Steel thou my will with might,

Nor shield to cover me; What though I stand with empty han So it be valliently? Spare me the coward's fear, Questioning wrong or right; Lord, among these mine enemies Grant me the strength to fight

Grant me the strength to fight.

Keep me from any wound,
Though I fall low from thrust and blow,
Forced, fighting to the ground;
But give me wit to hide
My hurt from all men's sight,
And for my need the while I bleed,
Lord, grant me strength to fight, Should grant me victory;
Enough to know that from my foe I had no will to fiee.
Beaten and bruised and banned,
Flung like a broken sword,
Grant me this thing, for conquering—
Let me die fighting, Lord.

How much longer can I endure it? This morning my husband rose before day-break. He was too lazy to light a lamp, and breakfasted in the dark. The result was he ate the prepared kindling wood instead of the predigested breakfast food. When the servants got up there was nothing to build the fire with. Of course they were angry, and left.
