Saint John November Circuit. The November Circuit opened this morn ing, His Honor Judge Allen presiding. The attendance of barristers and others was quite large. The following were Gideon Prescott, Stephen E Stevens, Lewis Rivers, Arthur W. Masters, Arthur Everitt, Geo. H. Lawrence, James Davis, Henry J. Thomas, Gilbert White. His Honor in addressing the Grand Jury alluded to the cases of John McRory and McBrine. In the latter case he judged the charge would be murder. It was not for him without the evidence to fully dwell upon the case. He defined what under the law constituted the crime of murder and according to the evidence for marder or were also destroyed. manslaughter. If no sufficient evidence offered to find a bill for murder then it was their duty to find for manslaughter. If the the circumstances were not sufficient to warrant them in finding either, it was their The case of McRory charged with rob bery was then referred to and the law on the matter explained. In the case of John son charged with obtaining money under alse pretences His Honor instructed the jury that the tharge might be sustained not part of the defendant but by implication secuting the Hyde Park speakers. If the intention to defraud was manifest it In conclusion His Honor referred to the number of petty offences as shown of late by the records of the police office. The duties of the policemen were onerous, and though it was not his duty to refer to the sage individual would consider them overpaid. But the subject to which he desired neatest, or most fashionable labor that should be imposed. They should be made useful to the should be made useful to the community, but as it was now numbers came repeatedly before the Court and were sent to gool not caring a rap for their sentence. By the Sheriff's last report it was shown that during the year there had been 989 prisoners; 13,135 days had been served and 11,493 of these were directly at public expense. The prisoners had consumed 665 barrels of flour, 5764 pounds of beel, 286 pounds of meal, 200 pounds of the same of these criminals thus supported at private expense were judiciously expended in breaking stone or doing any other public work it would prevent so great an expense, and further, teach these careless offenders a wholesome lesson. It was in the discretion of the Stipendiary Magistrate to sentence the proper parties to hard labor and the simply unfortenate man. His Honor quoted the Revised Statutes in regard to the power of magistrates in such matters and strongly urged the jury to matters and strongly urged the jury to make and the civil cases were entered as on the following docket:
