I asked Her father what he thought of inflated currency he said it is terrible - it is at 20 or is it 22 today. He said at our next interview, I will put into the head of these things.

standard, Silver will have to be looked into, Copper is carrying people don't like to carry silver silver always more a burden Silver ought to be considered - people like to carry silver. I asked if a paper currency backed by silver might not be some good. - He thought that if it is a certain point. He then said to stick to the (old standard) It is "such a tininess" that the world needs today. We have got to stand with our backs to the wall & fight face this order of things that is coming on and we will beat it.
