

be carried on in the same manner as the proceedings in an action. C.R. 377, amended.

126.—(1) The parties to any cause may concur in stating questions of law arising, in the form of a special case for the opinion of the Court; and may agree that on the judgment of the Court being given in the affirmative or negative of the question or questions of law raised, certain specific relief may be awarded.

(2) Upon the argument of the case the whole contents of the documents referred to therein may be read, and the Court may draw from the facts and documents any inference, either of fact or law, as at a trial. C.R. 372.

127. A plaintiff may, without leave, amend his statement of claim, including a claim specially endorsed on the writ, once, either before the statement of defence has been delivered, or after it has been delivered and before the expiration of the time limited for reply, and before replying. C.R. 300 and 1247.

128. Where a plaintiff has amended his statement of claim the opposite party shall plead thereto or amend his pleading within the time he then has to plead, or within ten days from the delivery of the amendment, whichever shall last expire, and in case the opposite party has pleaded before the delivery of the amendment and does not plead again or amend within the time above mentioned, he shall be deemed to rely on his original pleading in answer to such amendment. C.R. 302.

129. Either party may amend his pleadings at any time on filing the written consent of the opposite party. C.R. 303.

130. An amendment may be made by leave of the Court, or of the Judge at the trial, and such amendment shall be at once made on the face of the record. C.R. 304.

131. A party who has obtained leave to amend shall make the amendment within the time limited by the order, or if no time is limited, within ten days from the date of the order. C.R. 305.

132. A pleading may be amended by written alterations in the copies filed and served and by additions on paper to be interleaved therewith if necessary; unless the amendments are so numerous or of such a nature that making them in the copies filed and served would render the same difficult or inconvenient to read; in either of which cases the
