to-night and ask for our No. 2 Bulletin (Rural Lines.) Also tell us to include our latest and most interesting publication, a handsomely illustrated book called "Canada and the Telephone.

At this season of the year, when new companies are constructing telephone lines and old systems extending their service, the demand for telephone supplies is heavy. But you can depend upon getting prompt service from us, because we always carry a large stock of all materials necessary for the construction of a telephone line, and because we make a specialty of prompt shipping.

It will be to your advantage to get our prices on telephone supplies before placing your order. Our telephone materials are of first-class quality and fully guaranteed. On request we will send one or two telephones for a free compari-
