Pandora Range

A VENTILATING OVEN THAT VENTILATES.

There is only one practical way of ventilating the oven in a range and that way has been adopted in the "Pandora"—is an actual working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven and is quickly heated and disseminated, while the odors and cooking fumes escape through small vents into the smoke flues and up the chimney.

Result is that expensive, juicy roasts retain their rich, natural flavors and are entirely free from cooking odors and taints, to which the palate is so sensitive. Puddings, bread, etc., when baked, are always light, fresh and free from taint.

In the production of the "Pandora" range you have all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship, and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce.

For sale by all enterprising dealers. Booklets free.

In summer the continuous coil takes up the slack

In the winter season pays it back.

Page Woven Wire Fence

All fences slacken in warm weather and tighten in cold—except the Page Fence. Page spring coil takes up the slack in summer and lets it out in winter. No sagging in summer, no straining or breaking in winter. Common crimped wire is not spring tempered and if it slackens it stays slackened; if it tightens it loosens again worse than ever. Page wire is tempered to regulate its own tension summer and winter. 60,000 miles of Page wire fence in use now.

MAXIMUM and MINIMUM.

The greatest and least. These words contain the principles of success in stock-raising. Produce the maximum amount at the minimum cost. This is true economy, and if followed faithfully leads to success.

There must be no waste of food, all must be digested; there must be no sickness or getting off feed, as this is a waste of time and adds to the cost, every scheme that will aid in keeping the cost down to the minimum must be worked, and yet the animal must be forced, he must be fed to his fullest capacity in order to get the maximum amount in the minimum time, because extra time adds to the cost. Herein lies the use of Herbageum. An animal may, by its regular use, be forced to its fullest capacity without danger of derangement from indigestion. So thorough will the digestion and assimilation of food be, when Herbageum is fed regularly, that at least two months' time will be saved, and this saving of time, coupled with the fact that coarser foods may be used, shows Herbageum to be the medium by which the maximum quantity and quality of animal products may be produced at the minimum cost of time and feed.
