

all else appeared against you; she has watched over and nursed you with tender care known only to a mother; she has sympathized with you in adversity, she has been proud of your success. You may be despised by all around you, yet that loving mother stands as an apologist for all your short comings. With all that disinterested affection, would it not be ungrateful in you if in her declining years your failed to reciprocate her love, and honour her as your best and tried friend? We have no respect for a man or woman who neglects an aged mother. If you have a mother, love her, and do all in your power to make her happy.

FOUND AT LAST.—For many years I suffered but at last found a remedy for it in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, so that I am now free from croup entirely, and recommend Yellow Oil to all others who suffer from the same disease. Maggie McLeod, Severn Bridge, Ont.

WHAT BOYS SHOULD LEARN.

There are a great many things that boys, while boys, should learn. And if they learn these lessons so well as never to forget them during life they will prove of incalculable help to them oftentimes when they need help.

Among other things that a boy should learn, an exchange classes the following, to wit:

Not to tease boys or girls smaller than themselves.

Not to take the easiest chair in the room, put it in the pleasantest place, and forget to offer it to the mother when she comes in to sit down.

To treat the mother as politely as if she was a strange lady who did not spend her life in their service.

To be as kind and helpful to their sisters as they expect their sisters to be to them.

To make their friends among good boys.

To take pride in being a gentleman at home.

To take their mothers into their confidence if they do anything wrong; and above all, never lie about anything they have done.

To make up their minds not to learn to smoke, chew, or drink, remembering that these things cannot be unlearned, and that they are terrible drawbacks to good men and necessities to bad ones.

IRRITABLE PEOPLE.—People are often irritable by reason of some exasperating skin disease which destroys comfort and good humor. Salt Rheum, nettle rash, erysipelas, pimples, scald head, etc., are of this nature, they arise from bad blood, and can be cured by using Burdock Blood Bitters according to directions.

—Years ago a sister was mending the vest of a dearly loved brother. She spied in one of the pockets a little paper folded up very carefully. On looking at it more closely she found written on it the words, "I shall never commit that sin again, never, never! So help me God." She quietly slipped the little paper back into the pocket. She never knew what that sin was, but she knew that noble Christian warrior was fighting a good fight with the watchword, "So help me God;" and that little slip of paper was to her a most eloquent sermon.
