GERMAN REPORT

With Regard to British Naval Raid

Achievement Minimized in the Usual Way

Berlin, April 24.—(Via London.)—In the British naval raid Tuesday morning on the German submarine bases on the Belgian coast, the German Admiralty announces that in addition to the five British destroyers and a number of motor boats were sunk by the fire of coast batteries.

Beyond damage caused to the Mole by a torpedo, the official statement adds; the harbor works and undamaged. One German torpedo boat suffered slight damage.

The text of the statement reads: Tuesday morning an enterprise of British naval forces against the German submarine bases on a large scale, and planned regarding sacrifices, was frustrated.

After violent bombardment by the enemy at sea, small cruisers, escorted by numerous destroyers and motorboats, under cover of a thick curtain of artificial fog, pushed forward near Zebrugge with the intention of destroying the locks and harbor works.

According to prisoners four companies of marines were to occupy the Mole at Zebrugge by a coup de main in order to destroy all structures, guns and war material there, and the vessels lying in the harbor.

"Only about forty of them got on the Mole. These fell into our hands, some alive and some dead. On the narrow high wall of the Mole both parties fought with the utmost fierceness.

"Of the naval forces which participated in the attack the small cruiser Virginia (Iphigenia), En-terprise and Sirius and two others of similar construction, whose names are unknown, were sunk close off the coast. Moreover, three destroyers and a considerable number of torpedo boats and motorboats were sunk by our artillery fire. Only a few men of the crews could be saved by us.

"Beyond the damage caused to the Mole by a torpedo hit, our harbor works are quite undamaged. Of our naval forces only one torpedo boat suffered damage of the lightest character. Our casualties were small.

SHOT TO DEATH BY WOMAN.

Charleston, W. Va., April 24.—Accused in a court here a few days ago of the murder of John Weaver, who he was alleged to have shot to death Michael Waldron, minor league baseball player, was last night shot and killed by the former's sister, Miss Sanoma Weaver, aged 22, at Hansford, a mining town, 26 miles south of Charleston.

"The woman, who had been in front of a restaurant at Hansford, the authorities say, the girl emptied every chamber of a revolver she carried into the restaurant, taking instant effect and killing Waldron. She was brought to Charleston and placed under bond.

SHIPPING YARDS VISITED.

London, April 24.—The American industrial mission yesterday visited the Clyde Shipbuilding Yards and the Naval Yard at Rosyth, in order to become acquainted with British naval activities. The members of the mission were given a most cordial reception and the British and American warships and the commander of the American vessels told them that the American sailors regarded the visit as a return trip from Winnipeg to Sault Ste. Marie big Jack Breckenridge—the husky timber ranger for the paper company, pointed out to me an island in the centre of Monongosee Lake that staged the final setting to a most thrilling encounter a "tenderfoot" with a bull moose. Here it is as told to me by a man with bull moose legs—you can separate the gold from the dross at your leisure.

"See that hunting lodge on the shore there? Well, a bunch of swells from Chicago hung out there last fall for quite a spell—came up to shoot partridge and calculated to stick around until the moose season was on—well, by gosh, the moose season opened ahead of time with one gnat, and he told me afterward that he was 'fed up' on moose for the rest of his natural life. Seems he was out for partridge and had sat down to feed his face and take a draw at his dope stick when he got the surprise of his life for a big bull moose came crashing through the underbrush and landed 30 feet away pawing up the dirt as soon as he spied the hunter—the fellow told me he had nothing but a shot gun but determined to make it interesting for Mr. Moose, so he hauled off and let blaze with both barrels—this was simply an introduction to what happened for Mr. Moose came on full steam ahead and the hunter took to the trees nearby—he had afraid to free himself for a draw just made the first limb when Mr. Moose started to take it fore and aft him in the icy waters of Monongosee Lake—just then the moose's feet struck terra firma only to find himself confronted with a rival bull moose who had evidently been 'playing in the garden' during the absence of the boss of the harem—the two started to paw up the earth and with a wild roar and best head charged each other—Mr. Moose, who had been fresh from the States, threw Mr. Moose fifty feet into

DEAD AND DYING LITTERED MOLE

Graphic Account of Naval Raid by Young Seaman Who Took Part

London, April 24.—A young marine, who took part in the fighting on the Mole at Zebrugge, described his experiences to a Central News correspondent at a Kentish port as follows:

"We certainly had a hot time. I shall never forget it. It was all pitch dark until we got right into the harbor and then the place suddenly became alight with star shells and the fun started.

"Looming big ahead of us was a German destroyer, evidently getting ahead and rammed her amidships, cutting her in half. As she sank we steamed alongside the Mole quickly, put out gangways and rested on to the Mole. By that time it was raining hard.

"The first thing my party encountered was a giant German, who came out of the semi-darkness and lunged at our nearest man. Before he could get in a blow our captain knocked him on the head with his truncheon and he sank down dead.

"Now we saw another German destroyer, tied up on the other side of the Mole. This we destroyed. We knocked on the head all who attempted to stop our progress. Then came an order to charge along the Mole. We rushed ahead, hove-to, firing or shooting all we came across.

"By this time we were fairly mad and in high place. The noise of the firing, mingling of the shouts and cries of the men were terrific. It was a slaughter.

The marine said that when the order came to return to the ship they retraced their steps along the Mole, which was littered with the dead and dying, and re-embarked safely.

C.N.R. WORSE THAN WORTHLESS

Toronto, April 24.—"I would say in my judgment the Canadian Northern Railway common stock is not only worthless, but worse than worthless because it carries with it a great obligation to the people of Canada."

This was the rather startling statement made before the C.N.R. arbitration to-day by Mr. Payne, Controller of statistics at Ottawa. Mr. Payne declared that for the year 1917 there was a deficit over $6,000,000, if the proper charges against revenue were to be taken into consideration. He further declared that the company were short $2,000,000 in earnings to fix these approximate figures, he said, he was making the Canadian Pacific his basis, as a perfect solvent railroad.

DEVELOPED FOG SCREEN. London, April 24.—Some of the newspapers say that the officer referred to by Admiral Sir Eric Geddes, the first lord of the admiralty as having developed the fog and night attack of the British raiders smoke screen for the Belgian coast submarine bases and as having been killed in the attack was Acting Wing Commander Frank Al Brook. He was the son of a well known fireworks manufacturer.
