Killed by Trolley Car.

Bowmanville, Ont., July 10.—Citizens were shocked yesterday by the news that Thomas Hoar was killed by a trolley car at Compton, Cal. Mr. Hoar carried a wife, Mrs. E. G. Harris, for many years. He has visited almost every part of Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and has written many interesting accounts of his travels for the local press. About ten days ago he left here intending to visit some American cities. He was 77 years of age, and leaves a wife, who at present is visiting their son, Mr. Arthur Hoar, Barrie, and two daughters, Mrs. A. Mitchell of this town and Mrs. H. Goodman, Toronto.

THE ROOT OF NEURALGIC HEADACHE.

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relief comes quickly from Nerviline, the great pain reliever of today. I consider Nerviline a magical remedy for neuralgia," writes Mrs. E. G. Harris, of Baltimore. But I never worry if Nerviline is in the house. A few applications never yet failed to kill the pain. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains. In use nearly fifty years. Try Nerviline yourself.

Killed at Work.

Toronto, July 10.—John Wilson, fireman at the Don Valley Brick Yards, did not die of heart disease Saturday morning, as was first stated, but was killed in the act of taking out the Scotch block from under the wheels of a brick car, previous to letting it run down the incline. As the block was pulled away, the car must have started suddenly and pinned Wilson's neck against the top.

PROVED IN MOUNT FOREST.

Every doctor in this town tried his best to relieve Mrs. J. Witham, of Asthma, and none succeeded. "For years," she states, "I was a dreadful sufferer; nothing gave relief. At times I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. When in despair I heard of Catarrhoxone. I used it and now am perfectly cured." This proves beyond doubt that any case of Asthma is curable with Catarrhoxone. No remedy so pleasant and so absolutely certain to thoroughly cure: try Catarrhoxone yourself; it's guaranteed.

FRATERNAL INSURANCE

Commission Investigates Ancient Order of Foresters.

Record of the First Fraternal Organization to Be Investigated Was Found to Be Clean—The Different Funds Maintained by the Order—A Loan to Cover Cost of High Court Meeting—The Policyholders' Association.

Toronto, July 10.—The Dominion Insurance Commission resumed its session in Toronto yesterday morning. The Ancient Order of Foresters, through Mr. William Williams, the permanent secretary, gave evidence. The evidence revealed no improper transactions such as were found in the history of some of the straight life companies.

Mr. Geary, legal representative of the Ontario Government, informed the commission that on the opening of the session that the officers of the Policyholders' Association of Canada had expressed a desire to present certain views to the commission. Mr. Tilley said that the commission would be glad to obtain information from any source.

Mr. Geary had a memorandum which showed that 350 policyholders in 38 different cities and towns, representing over $2,500,000 insurance in twenty-nine different companies, had already joined and signed their intention of doing so. The board of directors formed all over the country will appoint representatives to the board of the parent associations.

The Ancient Foresters. Mr. William Williams, permanent secretary of the Ancient Order of Foresters, said that prior to 1911 his society was under the control of the High Court of the British Foresters. In that year, however, a subsidiary High Court for Canada was established, and the Canadian business became self-sustaining and self-managed.

The witness described the different funds maintained in connection with the order, such as the special levy fund, for the relief of impoverished courts, the maintenance fund, the defraying of general expenses, the ancient Forester fund, for the maintenance of the official journal, the guarantee fund, for protection against loss; the sick and general fund, and the straight insurance fund. In 1907 there was not enough in the management fund to cover the cost of the High Court meeting. To supply the deficiency $2,500 was taken from the insurance fund and handed over to the management.

Mr. Williams admitted that the loan of insurance funds for the purpose of meeting the expense of conducting the order was in contravention of the act of incorporation. He maintained, however, that it was an act of necessity to keep the order alive. The conditions of the loan from one fund to the other were that 5 per cent. interest should be paid.

Amount Repaid. The total amount had been repaid, with interest, to the insurance fund, by Dec. 31, 1905, $1,000. The Dominion act was passed, which expressly forbade any such use of insurance funds. This, however, was the only loan of the kind made from the insurance funds. Both insurance and management funds were sold under the control of the Executive Council, but it was practically impossible for such a transaction to occur again.

A Raise in Rates. Mr. Williams then told of the raise in rates made by the A. O. F., which change brought loud protests from the majority of the members. The officers of the company, however, insisted that rates were raised the order would have to close up. There was never any deficit, and in fact there had been always a surplus in the insurance account, but the officers of the order were looking ahead.

Mr. Williams said that a new organization could operate on low rates for a time, but new blood had to be continually brought in to keep the business going. Sooner or later, however, the rates had to go up.

Gave Endowment Values. The limit of insurance upon the life allowed the A. O. F. under its act was $5,000, but the largest policy issued up to the present was $2,000. The act of incorporation of the society also gave it power to issue only straight life policies. Mr. Williams found, however, that the order was issuing a "beneficiary fund policy," which he declared was in effect an endowment policy. Mr. Williams said that he did not consider it an endowment policy. A beneficiary fund policy produced showed that under a certain rate the policy would produce in fifteen years $1,000 in cash, with profits, or a paid-up policy, for $1,050.

The witness said he thought the insurance department of the A. O. F. came under the general insurance act and that the investment by the company in the bonds and debentures of the Huron and Erie Loan Co. was quite justified. As a matter of fact the investment had been made years ago and had always proved profitable. The order has made no loans to officers and has the stock of no other corporations of which members of the order were directors.

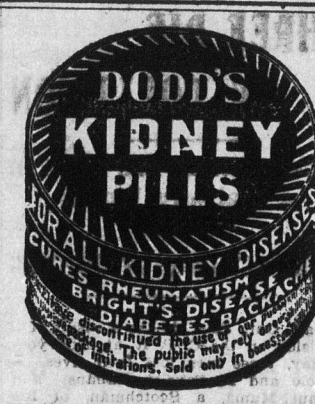

Capital Above Reserve. The A. O. F. have $5,000 capital over and above reserves, of which $4,000 is set aside on the suggestion of the permanent secretary for the benefit of the old members, who might not be able to keep up the pace in the raise of rates.

Mr. Williams received a salary of $1,500 a year. Agents received a bonus of $4 for every $1,000 or over procured, thirty per cent. for the first quarter's premium, 5 per cent. on the next three months, and 2 per cent. renewals after the second year.

The cost of business was $10 per thousand, or about one-third of the first year's premium.

The committee on investments was composed of the high chief ranger and permanent secretary, and Mr. Button. Lapse rate in 1901 was 10 per cent.; 1902, 11 per cent.; 1903, 9 per cent.; 1904, 11 per cent.; 1905, 15 per cent. Witness could not tell exactly the reason for the low lapse rate in 1903.

The company had gone out after new business since 1903 pretty hard, and Hence some of the business might have been forced.

Struck It Pretty Good. The rates of premium were fixed by Dr. Record, who, although not an attorney, witness thought he struck it pretty good.

Dr. Record, chief medical officer, said that the premiums were fixed on the mortality table of the Canada Life with a fifteen per cent. loading, plus $2. This loading was put lower than other companies, because, it was obvious that, business could be obtained in a fraternal way much cheaper than any other way. Sentiment was a great factor.

Mr. Tilley then took up the first profit and loss statement that the witness had prepared since his connection with the company. The total profits shown was $2,535 and the total loss $1,455.

Keeping Up the Joke. In an English village there lived a dull-witted boy. It was a great local joke to offer him the choice of a penny and a three-penny piece. The lad invariably chose the penny. A stranger one day saw him choose the penny rather than the three-penny bit and asked him for the reason.

"Naw," was the response, "not 'cause it's the biggest. But if I took the three-penny bit they'd soon stop offering it."

ADVERTISING.

One of the Many Marvels of This Progressive Age.

Among the many marvels of this marvelous age there is none more striking and none more characteristic than the art of advertising as developed in modern times. We talk much about the wonders of the telephone and the phonograph, about the astonishing expansion of railroads and telegraphy, but here we have an industry as remarkable for its extension and as wide and varied in its applications as anything of man's device in any era of the world's history. When there is brought into consideration the vast amount of money expended in advertising in our day, the novel and ingenious methods employed and the expert skill and artistic talent engaged in the business one may begin to realize that a wide field has been opened for some of the highest and most useful forms of human endeavor.

With all its abuses—and they are not a few—it remains true that advertising is one of the greatest of popular educators and one of the chief promoters of human happiness and prosperity, and there are yet many ways in which it may be extended to the still greater benefit of the world. No good reason exists why the churches, the Sunday schools, the missionary societies and other agencies of good should not advertise far more than they do and thus add to the membership and their power in the community. To set their advantages, aims and benefits before the public in a proper way and form would involve no loss of dignity or prestige, while it would almost certainly widen their influence.

The time must come, too, when the absurd code which prohibits physicians and other professional classes from advertising themselves must be abolished. There is nothing but a sentiment to prevent it and a very weak sentiment at that. It should be no more laudable for a physician or a lawyer to seek patients or clients through the medium of print than it is for teachers, insurance men, real estate dealers or the members of any other honorable trade or calling.

Immortality. Our life does not begin with birth, nor does it conclude with death. It is only a section of the development of mankind before and after us. We existed before we were born, and we reap what the factors of our being have sown. So our life leaves its after effects, and they will be what we have made them.

"The truth is that while there is no immortality in the sense in which most religions hold it if we accept their doctrines in their literal meaning, conditions in life are such in many respects, as if these doctrines were true. For, while our bodily existence is wiped out with all its physiological functions, the essential part of our own being (the thoughts themselves) remain, and thus our immortality—not as a concrete individual and bodily incarnation, but our soul, our character, the impulses which we have given in life to others, our aspirations and most characteristic features—cannot be wiped out."

A man who keeps this thought in his mind, either intuitively by realizing the power and justice of the religious instinct or by having fathomed the problem philosophically in its very depths, will not live for the present moment, but in consideration of the after effects which his life leaves on the world. And I would say that one of the best tests for right action in a critical situation is for a man to ask himself, if I had passed away from this life what would I wish that I had done in this emergency? I am confident that the answer given to this question would help us in the most difficult circumstances to find the right solution.

Snails and Odors. A professor in the University of Geneva says that snails perceive the odor of many substances, but only when not far away. In order to prove this it is necessary merely to dip a glass rod in a strongly smelling substance and bring it near the large tentacles of a snail in motion. If it is put close to these horns the tentacles are violently drawn out. As the snail perceives the odor it changes its course. Snails also smell by means of their skin. Contact is not necessary, for the mere vicinity of a perfume causes an indentation of the skin.

A Wise Scheme. "No matter what opinion is offered, you express a contrary view," said the impatient friend.

"Well," answered Mr. Bilgins, "that's a way I have of acquiring knowledge. A man is more likely to give up all he knows on a subject if you get him to warm up with a little controversial indignation."

His Influence. "Do you think a man's influence lasts after he is gone?" asked the philosopher.

"Well, I should say," cried the young woman. "My husband tied my property up so that I can't ever marry again!"

Fame. Fame is the inheritance not of the dead, but of the living. It is we who look back with lofty pride to the great names of antiquity, who drink of that flood of glory as of a river and refresh our wings in it for future flight—Hasselt.
