C. M. HAYS IN POLICE COURT.

Lawyers Argue 2-Cent Fare and Will Submit Stated Case.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Mr. C. M. Hays, General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway System, appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning and faced a charge, pleading not guilty. The particular complaint was to the effect that in trains of the Grand Trunk there has been neglect in not providing third-class carriages, and also that passage fares exceeding two cents a mile are charged.

Mr. Nesbitt entered a plea of not guilty, together with objections that the court had no jurisdiction in such a case. Mr. Nesbitt said that, under an act of 1851 affecting the Grand Trunk, there had been provisions for a third-class carriage, with a penny a mile fare. In the criminal code there was a provision that enabled persons to come into court for redress, supposing there were a violation of this law. Apparently the action had been taken under the act of 1851. The criminal code supplied penalties where there were no penalties provided in some other act. Mr. Nesbitt maintained that section 294 of the recent railway act stated that any person who demanded a two-cent rate and could not get it could sue for damages, but of course such action would have to go to a civil court, and this provision took the matter entirely out of the hands of criminal jurisdiction.

On the other hand, Mr. Curry contended that only persons who had actually suffered by not obtaining such a two-cent fare should take the case to the civil court. The section of the railway act referred to required that an action be brought by some person who had demanded such a two-cent rate and had failed to get it, but under the criminal code every citizen had the right to protest. Any person not suffering personal injury had the right to bring the defendants into court.

Throughout, the argument was complicated, and the Magistrate interrupted several times for explanations. Finally he said:

"This seems to be too important a matter for this court. There should be steps taken to have it go before a higher court. This isn't a case that can be settled offhand in the Police Court."

It was agreed that a stated case should be submitted by the lawyers. The complainant in the case is William Nisbet Robertson of Toronto.

Buckingham Strike Riot.

Montreal, Nov. 22.—The preliminary investigation into the Buckingham strike riot will begin on Nov. 23, when Judge Choquet of Montreal will pre-

It is stated that charges will be preferred as follows: Coroner Rodrigue, with not having read the Riot Act; MacLaren Bros., with manslaughter, and detectives and strikers with taking part in a riot.

STRIKE OFF, OR MILITIA.

Men Agree to New Arbitration But All Must Go Back—Strike Fatality At Hamilton.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—The street railway strike will either be called off by noon to-day or else the militia will be called to protect the cars, which will be operated at night.

Yesterday morning Mayor Biggar got the company and the men to renew peace negotiations. The men made a signed agreement to submit all their grievances as they existed before the strike to a new arbitration on the condition that the company agreed to take back all the men.

This agreement was handed over to Mr. Hawkins last evening, and he promised to submit it to Col. Gibson. The conductor, believing that Mr. Fairchild was bent upon attacking him, threw him off the car. He was crushed between a car and a passing lorry, and died of his injuries yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. D. E. Dewey, 218 Horner street. An inquest was opened last evening and adjourned till Nov. 23.

A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.

Why so many people feel worse after taking pills than before? Trouble is that drastic pills are used. No remedial action is obtained, the bowels are irritated and dreadful constipation follows. In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills you are scarcely conscious of having taken medicine. Although very mild, Dr. Hamilton's Pills do regulate the bowels, stimulate normal action of the glands, and create neither nausea, griping or violent action. Positively guaranteed for biliousness, indigestion, stomach, liver and kidney ills. For a safe family pill rely on Dr. Hamilton's. 25c. per box at all dealers.

HAD NO REASON TO BE.

I suppose you've heard that I'm to marry Mr. Green, she said to one of her old friends.

No, he replied, coldly. You don't seem to be very enthusiastic about it.

Why should I be? Not knowing Mr. Green at all, I haven't any grudge against him.

HONG KONG.

Stronghold of Britain in the East,
Situating On An Island, With One of World's Finest Harbors.

When, after the war with China in 1839, Great Britain acquired the island of Hong Kong in January, 1841, it was a desolate place, sparsely inhabited by fishermen. Though ceded to the British by the Treaty of Nanking, it did not become of much commercial importance until the discovery of gold in Australia in 1851 and the consequent Chinese emigration. Its trade has gradually grown with the opening up of China to foreigners, especially since the construction of the Suez Canal. To-day it has a population of 275,000, and during the fifty years, 1841-1891, the population increased from 7,000 to 275,000. Of these 8,500 were Europeans, 1,900 were of various nationalities, and the great bulk were Chinese.

Hong Kong is one of a number of islands situated off the southeastern coast of China at the mouth of the Canton River. It lies about forty miles east of Macao, a Portuguese colony, and ninety-one miles south of Canton. The island is formed of an irregular mountainous ridge, stretching nearly east and west, its broken and abrupt peaks rising to a height of about two thousand feet. Hong Kong, with an area of less than thirty square miles, is only one-third larger than Guernsey. In length it is about eleven miles and in breadth from two to five miles.

A narrow strait, known as the Lyse-Moon Pass, in no part wider than half a mile, separates it from the mainland. The opposite peninsula of Kowloon (two and two-thirds square miles) was ceded to Great Britain by a treaty entered into by Lord Elgin in 1861 with the government of China, and now forms part of the colony, which also embraces, besides Stonecutters Island, the islands called Green and Apple-shaw, and the Middle, Round, and other islets that are within the bays or off the coasts of Hong Kong.

The waterways of the island form one of the most magnificent harbors in the world, having an area of ten square miles, and the surrounding lofty granite islands blend, as has been said, "the wild scenery of Scotland with the classic beauty of Italy."

The city of Victoria, commonly called Hong Kong, extends for four miles at the base of the hills which protect the south side of the harbor, and contains, with its suburbs, more than two hundred thousand inhabitants. Built on the slopes of the hills facing the sea, in tiers, the town, as seen from the water, is very striking and picturesque. Well grown and handsome trees shade many of the streets. Wonderfully impressive, too, is the view of Victoria city and the harbor from "The Peak" at night.

Of Mrs. Bay little information beyond what is supplied by the Admiralty chart is obtainable. The entrance between Fing Head and Mire Point is about seven miles in width, and the distance to the furthest shore of the bay is fully fourteen miles. Hills and mountains rise from its shores, the highest elevation attained being 1,540 ft., the altitude of Sharp Peak. The indentations of the bay provide, in addition to the chief basin, the Long Harbor, with a depth of six to seven fathoms, and the Tolo Harbor, from four and a half to six fathoms, which is approached by the Tolo Channel. The main waterway in the bay ranges from twelve fathoms to nine. There are inlets called the Double Haven and the Crooked Harbor. Various small islands are named the Pingchau, the Crooked, the Crescent and the Double. On the shallower side of the bay, on the Mire Point shore some space is taken up with fishing stakes.

Jupiter's Double Moon.

The most wonderful of all the remarkable things which might come within the range of the powerful modern telescopes is the double moon which continually circles around and around Jupiter, the "giant of the skies." This astronomical oddity was not known until after the great Lick telescope was put in position on Mount Hamilton, the discovery of the tiny satellite only dating back to 1891. The first hint of the presence of this "moon of a moon" was given when one of the Lick observatory men reported that one of Jupiter's satellites appeared to be casting a double shadow on the giant planet's surface. From that time forward for some weeks a sharp lookout was kept, and at last the observers were rewarded in getting a glimpse of the curiosity—a tiny dot of a moon revolving around another moon, both held in position by the great Jupiter.

Quail Getting Scarce.

Quail starved to death by thousands in the winter of 1904-5, but last winter they had an easy time, except in February and March. From Massachusetts to Indiana the quail are so scarce that restocking has become necessary, says Country Life in America. The birds for this purpose are hard to find. More than 100,000 have been captured in Alabama and the southwest, where they still occur in abundance, and have been shipped north for breeding. Even this supply is quite inadequate and may not last long. The quail is perhaps our most popular game bird, and a market will be found for all that can be produced. Complete success has been had in raising them on a small scale. Why should not some one go into the business on such a scale that he could turn out 100,000 quail per year?

EVER HAVE CRAMPS?

Kind of fierce to be tied up in a knot at midnight with cramps. Keep Nerviline handy. Ten drops quiet cramps in a twinkling. Used occasionally Nerviline prevents this trouble entirely. From Stratford, Ont., Wm. Dee writes: "Nothing I know of will give such quick relief to cramps, colic or pain in the stomach as Nerviline. If you feel queasy or sick, just ten drops of Nerviline in water and you're well next minute." Think of the protection and comfort contained in a 25c. bottle of Nerviline, and get it to-day.
