

The Charlotteville Herald.

NEW SERIES

CHARLOTTETOWN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1914.

VOL. XLIII. NO. 40.

Canadian Government Railways.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND RAILWAY.

Commencing on October 1st, 1914, Trains on this Railway will run as follows:

Trains Outward Read Down.
Daily Except Sunday.

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.	Dep.	Ar.	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.
5.00	8.30	7.35		Charlottetown	Ar.	11.30	10.15	2.45
6.15	4.42	8.30		Hunter River	"	10.30	9.16	1.15
7.10	7.00	5.21	9.02	Emerald Jet.	"	9.58	8.45	12.20
8.57	5.56	9.27		Kensington	Dep.	9.37	8.17	11.38
						6.00	7.50	11.00
									A.M.
8.00	12.10			Summerside	Ar.	8.45	5.15
8.58	1.39			Port Hill	"	7.48	3.46
9.47	3.00			O'Leary	"	7.04	2.30
10.00	5.00			Tignish	Dep.	5.45	12.20
									A.M.
8.55	7.10			Emerald Jet.	Ar.	7.00	8.45
9.39	8.00			Cape Traverse	Dep.	6.00	8.10

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	A.M.	Dep.	Ar.	P.M.	A.M.	A.M.	P.M.
8.00	6.50			Charlottetown	Ar.	9.30	5.40
8.30	8.35			Mt. Stewart	"	8.30	4.10
8.58	8.12			Morell	"	7.58	3.20
9.57	9.41			St. Peter's	"	7.36	2.51
10.00	11.10			Souris	Dep.	6.35	1.25
									A.M.
7.10				Elmira	Dep.	5.25
									A.M.
4.15	8.40			Mt. Stewart	Ar.	8.20	3.50
4.30	9.50			Cardigan	"	7.26	2.43
5.25	10.20			Montague	"	7.40	2.15
6.00	11.00			Georgetown	Dep.	6.30	1.25

P.M.	A.M.	P.M.	A.M.	Dep.	Ar.	P.M.	A.M.
8.15	3.10			Charlottetown	Ar.	5.35	9.45
8.50	4.25			Vernon River	"	4.01	8.31
11.55	5.55			Murray Harbor	Dep.	2.00	7.00

The university was founded in 1409 by the petition of John IV, Duke of Burgundy in 1425. A separate library sprang into existence with each new college, but was added to the university and in these were collected not only contemporary literature, but manuscripts dating as far back as the ninth century.

The university administration finally decided to bring all these smaller libraries under one roof, their project was considerably furthered by the generosity of two eminent savants. Laurent Beyerlinck, long a scholar of the sciences and theology at Louvain, and afterward Archbishop of Antwerp, bequeathed his valuable library of over 800 volumes. A few years later, according to an old chronicle in the library archives written in pompous Latin, Jacques Romain, son of Romain the mathematician, added his own library and that of his father, over 900 volumes in all.

In 1730 the Canon of Antwerp, Dominique Snelletts, donated his entire library of 3,500 volumes. These, with the gifts of Romain and Beyerlinck, form the body of the Louvain collection which has, in all probability, been lost to the world.

Some of the rarest treasures which have, if reports be true, perished in the general destruction of the city, are the old manuscripts. Several of these go back nearly ten centuries. For example, one of the most famous of these is a small sheaf of songs, written by a monk in the ninth century, which has been the property of the library since its establishment.

Another set of thirty sermons by Thomas a Kempis is very rare. It is written partly on paper and partly on parchment, and came originally from the Abbey of St. Martin, near Louvain. Its genuineness is indisputable; written across the first page in another hand is the statement that it was copied directly from the author's own manuscript, which was not itself dictated but in his own hand.

The manuscripts include many books of prayer, works of the holy fathers and valuable documents relating to early church history. A large and valuable part of the library is made up of the works of the world-renowned men who had held chairs in the university. The Renaissance brought forth many of them; Justus Lipsius, for instance, with Casaubon and Scaliger, this lovable, scholarly philologist formed the triumvirate of European Humanism, and his works found their first place on the library shelves. There were other famous professors at the

Invictus--- the Best Good Shoes for Men

We are showing now a new line of Invictus--- the best knots for men. These are shown in gum metal, patents, tan and black, laced and buttoned styles. Some of the new features are the new style tongue attached to upper, neoprene lining and many other new ideas that dressy men should see.

Prices range from $5.00 to $7.00.

Alley & Co.

135 Queen Street.

PLANT LINE

AUTUM EXCURSIONS IN EFFECT SEPTEMBER 15TH.

Charlottetown to Boston and return $13.00. Tickets good for return within 30 days from date of issue. The new twin screw steamer "Evangeline" sails from Charlottetown for Boston every Friday at noon. For folders and full information apply to JAS. CARRAGHER, Agent, Charlottetown, Sept. 9, 1914--11

FIRE INSURANCE.

Royal Insurance Company of Liverpool, G. B. Fire offices of London. Fidelity Phenix Fire Insurance Co. of New York.

Combined Assets $100,000,000

Lowest rates and prompt settlement of Losses.

JOHN MACBACHERN AGENT.

Telephone No. 362. Mar. 22nd, 1906

Morson & Duffy

Barristers & Attorneys. Brown's Block, Charlottetown, P.E. MONEY TO LOAN. Interest 10%--11

JOB WORK!

Executed with Neatness and Despatch at the HERALD Office.

Charlottetown, P. E. Island

Tickets

Dodgers

Posters

Check Books

Note Books of Hand

Receipt Books

Letter Heads

Louvain's Library

In Louvain's famous library, for three centuries, valuable books and documents, both ancient and modern, have been accumulating. Here have gathered students and scholars from all parts of the civilized world for study and research. For although the University of Louvain is a Catholic institution and since its founding in the early fifteenth century, has placed great stress on its religious character, it has nevertheless been a chief European centre for scholars of philology, classic literature, jurisprudence, and science.

According to the latest available records, the library contained over 211,000 volumes, exclusive of periodicals and manuscripts. Among these are some of the rarest treasures of all Europe, not recent acquisitions like those of the famous libraries in the larger centres, but books and manuscripts which have been on the library shelves for centuries.

For the public library of Louvain was established when the great libraries of Europe were few and very young. Padua, Jena, and Leipzig were the three chief centres for scholars of the late fifteenth century. The library of Louvain existed in a modified form before any of these.

The university was founded at the petition of John IV, Duke of Burgundy in 1425. A separate library sprang into existence with each new college, but was added to the university and in these were collected not only contemporary literature, but manuscripts dating as far back as the ninth century.

Among the manuscripts held in special reverence was a series of sermons by Thomas a Kempis, the author of the "Imitation of Christ." When the university administration finally decided to bring all these smaller libraries under one roof, their project was considerably furthered by the generosity of two eminent savants. Laurent Beyerlinck, long a scholar of the sciences and theology at Louvain, and afterward Archbishop of Antwerp, bequeathed his valuable library of over 800 volumes.

A few years later, according to an old chronicle in the library archives written in pompous Latin, Jacques Romain, son of Romain the mathematician, added his own library and that of his father, over 900 volumes in all.

In 1730 the Canon of Antwerp, Dominique Snelletts, donated his entire library of 3,500 volumes. These, with the gifts of Romain and Beyerlinck, form the body of the Louvain collection which has, in all probability, been lost to the world.

Some of the rarest treasures which have, if reports be true, perished in the general destruction of the city, are the old manuscripts. Several of these go back nearly ten centuries. For example, one of the most famous of these is a small sheaf of songs, written by a monk in the ninth century, which has been the property of the library since its establishment.

Another set of thirty sermons by Thomas a Kempis is very rare. It is written partly on paper and partly on parchment, and came originally from the Abbey of St. Martin, near Louvain. Its genuineness is indisputable; written across the first page in another hand is the statement that it was copied directly from the author's own manuscript, which was not itself dictated but in his own hand.

The manuscripts include many books of prayer, works of the holy fathers and valuable documents relating to early church history. A large and valuable part of the library is made up of the works of the world-renowned men who had held chairs in the university. The Renaissance brought forth many of them; Justus Lipsius, for instance, with Casaubon and Scaliger, this lovable, scholarly philologist formed the triumvirate of European Humanism, and his works found their first place on the library shelves. There were other famous professors at the university whose works enriched the rapidly growing collection. From Rega, the authority of the eighteenth century on surgery, Clearard the Arabist; Puteanus, the Humanist; Mincelken, the inventor of illuminating gas, and many others.

The library has always been a source for historians of Western Europe. Some of the manuscripts relating to the early history of Belgium, the Netherlands and the Rhemish Provinces were of priceless value. The most famous of these, and one on which many modern historians have based their research, was the "Chronicle of Utrecht," published about 1461. It belonged to a celebrated library, that of Uffenbach, and had formerly belonged to a mysterious savant with the initials "A. W." whose original notes have proved most illuminating.

Another historical document was a series of notes on the early history of France, which was accidentally found a few years ago in a sheaf of old papers in the library archives, and which attracted widespread attention. There was also an exceedingly rare "Life of Charles V."

Especially during the Renaissance Louvain was a centre for the study of the classics, as the manuscripts and precious old editions acquired at the time have indicated. When Louvain was at the zenith of its power, princes and popes vied with one another in granting it privileges and sending it additions for the library which should blaze forth the name of the donor. Charles V. was one of the chief donors of his time, and his most important gift was a quite and valuable old treatise, "De Humani corporis fabrica."

The library had also an excellent "Book of the Hours," a copy written on parchment in beautiful Gothic characters with elaborate illuminations and initials.

Prayer in The Order of Providence.

Divine Providence, says Father Deviver, S. J., while determining in advance the effects that are to happen in the material world around us, has also determined the order of their occurrence and the causes that are to produce them. Now, among these causes human acts hold a conspicuous place and must be taken into account. Man will perform such and such an act, say, address a prayer to the Lord, or perform some penitential act with a view to implore an extraordinary favor not obtainable from human aid, say, for instance, the healing of a naturally incurable disease or the ceasing of a pestilence, or of a drought, the quelling of a storm, etc. By so doing he does not mean to change there and then the disposition of Divine Providence, or, as a certain Methodist divine supposes, "to make an assault on all God's laws of matter, mind and spirit," but he simply voluntarily fulfills what God requires, and on account of which He, from all eternity, decreed to grant the favor asked and disposed natural events accordingly.

Here, while referring to the activity of the natural laws governing the material Universe, we must not overlook the holiest and sublimest of laws, and that is the law of prayer and its bearing on the moral, spiritual world, of souls. For, in accordance with God's benevolent design, prayer is a law, nay a power, playing a most important part in the harmony of the supernatural world. As the late Tennyson puts it: "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." And this law springs not from the nature of things, but rather from the will of the Supreme Lawgiver, who has established it. God, then, in consequence of His foreknowledge and saving power, has regulated from all eternity both the effects and their causes; from eternity He has resolved to grant some special favors, and He has determined in advance the effects that are to happen in the material world around us, has also determined the order of their occurrence and the causes that are to produce them. Now, among these causes human acts hold a conspicuous place and must be taken into account. Man will perform such and such an act, say, address a prayer to the Lord, or perform some penitential act with a view to implore an extraordinary favor not obtainable from human aid, say, for instance, the healing of a naturally incurable disease or the ceasing of a pestilence, or of a drought, the quelling of a storm, etc. By so doing he does not mean to change there and then the disposition of Divine Providence, or, as a certain Methodist divine supposes, "to make an assault on all God's laws of matter, mind and spirit," but he simply voluntarily fulfills what God requires, and on account of which He, from all eternity, decreed to grant the favor asked and disposed natural events accordingly.

Here, while referring to the activity of the natural laws governing the material Universe, we must not overlook the holiest and sublimest of laws, and that is the law of prayer and its bearing on the moral, spiritual world, of souls. For, in accordance with God's benevolent design, prayer is a law, nay a power, playing a most important part in the harmony of the supernatural world. As the late Tennyson puts it: "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." And this law springs not from the nature of things, but rather from the will of the Supreme Lawgiver, who has established it. God, then, in consequence of His foreknowledge and saving power, has regulated from all eternity both the effects and their causes; from eternity He has resolved to grant some special favors, and He has determined in advance the effects that are to happen in the material world around us, has also determined the order of their occurrence and the causes that are to produce them. Now, among these causes human acts hold a conspicuous place and must be taken into account. Man will perform such and such an act, say, address a prayer to the Lord, or perform some penitential act with a view to implore an extraordinary favor not obtainable from human aid, say, for instance, the healing of a naturally incurable disease or the ceasing of a pestilence, or of a drought, the quelling of a storm, etc. By so doing he does not mean to change there and then the disposition of Divine Providence, or, as a certain Methodist divine supposes, "to make an assault on all God's laws of matter, mind and spirit," but he simply voluntarily fulfills what God requires, and on account of which He, from all eternity, decreed to grant the favor asked and disposed natural events accordingly.

Count De Mun

Count Adrien Albert Marie de Mun was a grandson of the Marquis de Mun, a Chamberlain of the first Napoleon. He was born in 1841, entered the military academy of St. Cyr in 1860, served in Algiers as a lieutenant in 1862-67 and fought through the Franco-Prussian war. He was decorated with the Legion of Honor for gallant conduct at Metz and was an adjutant to General de l'Admiral in Paris. In 1873 he became a captain of Dragoons and in 1875 resigned from the army.

The Count was at one time Minister of Foreign Affairs, represented one of the electoral districts of Finistee in the Chamber of Deputies and was a member of the French Academy. The Catholic workingmen's clubs in France resulted from his extensive agitation in favor of the Church. He wrote several works on patriotic and social themes. He was a royalist, but rallied to the support of the republic when Pope Leo called on French Catholics to do so. He strongly opposed the so-called Separation Law. His home was in the Avenue de l'Alma, Paris.

Live for something. Do good and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storm of Time can never destroy. Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with, year by year. Good deeds will shine as stars in heaven.—J. Chalmers.

When You Suffer From Your Back

Many women work day after day with an excruciating pain in the back, and really do not know that their kidneys are the source of this pain. When the back starts to ache you may be sure that the kidneys are not working properly, and the only way possible to make a complete cure is to take "time by the forelock" and get rid of all these aches and pains by using that old and thoroughly tried remedy

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
Mrs. John Power, Peabody Station, P.E.I., writes:—"I suffered from back-ache for three years, and I tried all kinds of medicine but got no relief. At last I had a time I would not be able to walk. I had to add me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I got my first relief when I had taken three boxes. I feel well. I used the other two, and I can say your Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. Had it not been for them I would have suffered yet."
Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

"Hello, old man! have any luck shooting?"
"I should say I did! I shot seventeen ducks in one day."
"Were they wild?"
"Well no—not exactly; but the farmer was."

BEWARE OF WORMS.

Don't let worms gnaw at the vitals of your children. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup and they'll soon be rid of these parasites. Price 25c.

The customer in the grocery store, having ruined his clothes, was hopping mad.
"Didn't you see that sign, Fresh paint?" asked the grocer.
"Of course I did," snapped the customer; "but I've seen so many signs hung up here, announcing something fresh, which wasn't that I didn't believe it."

A SENSIBLE MARRIAGE

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains and leave no bad after effects that ever. Be sure you get Milburn's price 25 and 50 cts.

One of the guests at a wedding seeing a dismal-looking young man who appeared to be on terms of familiarity with the principal, asked:

"Are you related to the bride or to the bridegroom-elect?"
"No," was the gloomy reply.
"Then," said the guest, "what interest have you in the ceremony?"
"I'm the defeated candidate."

There is nothing harsh about Laxa Liver Pills. They cure Constipation, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, and Bilious Spasms without griping, purging or sickness. Price 25 cts.

"Begorry, wonder why them Jeps are sooch good fighters?"
"Shure and ain't their imper named Mike-ado."

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES NEURALGIA!

"You there, in the overall," shouted the cross-examining lawyer, "how much are you paid for telling untruths?"
"Less than you are," retorted the witness, "or you'd be in overalls, too."

WAS BOTHERED WITH BILIOUSNESS AND SOUR STOMACH FOR 20 YEARS

Sour Stomach and Biliousness are caused by a sluggish Liver, for when it is not working properly, it holds back the bile, which is so essential to promote the movement of the bowels, and the bile gets into the blood instead of passing through the usual channel, thus causing many stomach and bowel troubles.
Mr. Charles Pettit, 2571, Richmond Street, London, Ont., writes:—"I feel it my duty to write you a few lines in regard to your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I have been bothered with Biliousness and Sour Stomach for twenty years until a year ago I started to use Laxa-Liver Pills, and I have not been bothered since. I wish to let it be known to all those who suffer as I did, that Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25 cents per vial or 3 vials for $1.00. For sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."

Wrapping Paper

Manilla, Kraft, Grey Brown, Fibre, White Drug, in Rolls and Reams all sizes and weights, Rolls 6 inches to 40 inches.

PAPER BAGS

One Million (1,000,000) in stock. We sell the celebrated self opening Bags, sizes 1-4 lbs. to 25 lbs. each.

TWINES TWINES

Numbers one and two white Cotton Twine, Hemp Twines all sizes, Sea Island Twine, (in boxes) Wholesale and Retail at lowest prices.

CARTER & CO. LTD.

Charlottetown.