Local Made Goods.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Re "Shannahan's" article on "Local Manufactures," especially when he mentions local soap and powder, I feel interested in same, and I think you will agree with me in saying that the brand of goods are clearly stamped and printed on our goods, therefore there ought not to be the slightest trouble in obtaining local soap and powder, unless there is a marked disinclination on the part of the assistant to sell same.
I will mention one fact which occurred to the writer while with a friend who was purchasing goods at one of the largest stores on Water Street. He asked the assistant for a certain brand of our toilet soap and was told that they had none in stock, and on my speaking to the buyer about it, the assistant was made to bring the soap from the top store and thus a sale was made.

I should think it would be to the shopkeepers interest if the assistants could be made to push local made goods, especially when they are equal both in price and quality to the imported article, thus helping to keep the money in circulation in the country.

Yours truly,
W. A. BROWN,
Supt. Standard Soap Factory,

T. A. & B. Society.

At the regular monthly meeting of the St. John's T. A. & B. Society, held yesterday, the following resolution was placed on the records of the Society:

"RESOLVED, That the Society joins in the general expression of sympathy throughout the country to the relatives of the crews of the ill-fated 'Regulus' and 'Golden Arrow'; and further, that a collection be taken up amongst its members in aid of the Relief Fund."

Signed, on behalf of the St. John's T. A. & B. Society,

Laid to Rest.

At 8.30 this morning the "Office for the Dead" was recited at the Catholic Cathedral for the eternal repose of the soul of Sister M. Thomas, O'Reilly, the chancery being Rev. Monsignor Roche and Rev. D. O'Callaghan. His Grace, Archbishop Howley, occupied the throne; the lessons were read by Rev. J. P. Elphy, Rev. T. J. Gough and His Grace the Archbishop. "Benedictus," beautifully harmonized, was most affecting. Solemn High Mass was then celebrated by Rev. Monsignor Roche, Rev. Frs. Gough and "Pip" being deacon and sub-deacon; the chanters were Rev. D. O'Callaghan and Rev. P. P. Sheehan. In the Sanctuary were the Rev. J. J. McDermott and Rev. J. M. Greene. The final absolution was given at the catafalque by His Grace in cope and mitre. The funeral procession then formed:—cross-bearer and candle bearers, school children, children of Mary, Nuns, Acolytes, Priests, His Grace, coffin, William O'Reilly, Esq., Magistrate Placentia, brother, and other relatives and friends of the deceased nun; Rev. Bros. Culhane, Kennedy and Ennis of the Order of Christian Brothers also attended. As the funeral cortege moved slowly towards the cemetery the solemn strains of the "Miserere" chanted by the priests were borne on the air; at the graveside the last blessing was given by His Grace, after which the body of Sister M. Thomas was laid to rest beneath the shadow of her convent home. Her place in the Community is vacant, she is gone from those who loved her, but her spirit, as a guardian angel, is hovering near those whose hearts are saddened by her early death.
"If love and care could death prevent, Thy life had not so soon been spent; Life was desired, but God did see Eternal life was best for thee."

P. S. A.

The second service of the season of the P. S. A. movement was held yesterday afternoon. Mr. W. P. Lloyd gave an address on the training and education of children. Taking as his text P. S. A., he made them stand "Play, Sleep, and Aish," and dwelt on these as factors in the development of the child, especially on the importance of play to physical, mental and moral development, and in storing in the child energy and power. The letters P. S. A. were also made to stand for Public Service, Act the duty which the adult owes to the child to fit him for a higher plane of civilization.

Parents Must Be More Vigilant.

Inspector-General Sullivan Says Nothing Like Michael Case in Newfoundland.

Inspector-General Sullivan, Chief of the Police and Fire Departments of St. John's, Newfoundland, who has been here for the past week undergoing medical treatment, left yesterday for home. It is seventeen years since Chief Sullivan has visited Montreal before, and he noticed the wonderful strides which the city has made in that time.
The Chief is a personal friend of ex-Chief Benoit, and it was under his supervision that the Newfoundland Chief studied the fire alarm system here, and had the same introduced at St. John's. Chief Sullivan has been a member of the Police Department for over forty years. He began as a constable and won his way to his present position, succeeding the late Inspector-General McGowan, who died at the Royal Victoria Hospital here two years ago. Chief Sullivan is the first native chief ever appointed to Newfoundland Police Department, the others coming from the Royal Irish Constabulary. The Chief says that Newfoundland at present is very prosperous, and the absence of crime is a thing to be noted with pleasure. Speaking to the Herald on the Michael case, he said that such terrible crimes as these are unknown in the ancient colony. He thought that more vigilance on the part of parents was needed in this city. Four weeks ago the Chief was stricken with a kind of paralysis, and he was obliged to go to New York and then come to Montreal to consult specialists. Yesterday he left for home cured. Alexandra's Plans To Take Prominent Part in Coronation Procession.

London, Nov. 7.—It is certain that Queen Alexandra means to take a prominent part in the coronation procession, as she did in the funeral cortege, though without precedent. She will appear as the figure next to importance to the reigning King. Queen Alexandra has conveyed her wishes to King George, who in turn will communicate them to the coronation authorities.

Telepathgram From Trinity.

Even the Very Stones Cry Out.
(Gun Hill Speaks.)

From mountain head I look around
And see the green of Random Sound;
I see the valleys and the streams
As sights that only come in dreams.

My peak the first that greets the sun,
The last to glow when day is done;
In quietness I view it all,
And hear the echoes round me call.

But what is this disturbs my sight—
This double line of rails so bright?
They are already past White Rock,
And go as far as Henry Locke.

And can they think to get round me?
As sure as eggs some fun you'll see;
My sides are steep and straight and strong,
And can withstand e'en Mister Long.

And when they see my edge they're sick,
'Cept Mr. Noel, who takes his 'pick';
Go back, go back! where'er ye rove,
And plant your camp in Pimpen Cove.

Why can't they see, I don't agree?
I'm here to save the town, you see.
And for this station it's too small—
Now, don't you think so, Mr. Hall?

And oh, Sir Morris, to my aid,
Don't tear and gash me with a spade.
My Trinity of ancient fame,
Who'll speak to save her from the train?

Trinity Station.

PETITION NECESSARY.

A petition to the Premier requesting that the Spur Line be built has been circulated and largely signed by the business people of the town, and private citizens, regardless of party politics.

Personally we are sorry that a petition was deemed necessary, because we had, and still have as individuals and as a community, implicit confidence in the Premier as regards the redeeming of his pledges. The petition, however, was found to be necessary in order to prove to him that some person or persons had taken it upon themselves to speak for us and to misrepresent our views upon railway extension. We are in no way excited over this matter, nor do we wish to interfere with individual plans so far as the individual is concerned. We object, however, to individual advancement at the expense of loss to the community.—The Enterprise.

Shannahan Talks About the Pictures.

HE WANTS THE MAN AND A ROV.

"Did you hear the news," says Tucker, "why the Cadet Corps never came out at all in the pictures they took for the Big Show that never came off over on the 'other side'?"

"What pictures are you talking about," says Delaney, "sure I saw the pictures that were taken over in the College Grounds."

"That's not the time I'm talking about," says Tucker, getting vexed. "What I mean is the time all the Brigades were up in St. George's Field; you see they all marched around and around four or five times, and when the pictures were shown by the machine not a solitary Cadet came out at all."

"That's a queer thing," said Mrs. Tucker, "how do you know they were up there at all, maybe they went in the wrong field. You know you got to be very careful when you start prating about these matters."

"Hold on," says Delaney, "I'm sure they were there, certainly I didn't see 'em, but 'Jackie,' that Tom's boy, my brother Tom's boy, he was there, for he told me himself he was there. Certainly, he says, he sometimes has a doubt as to whether he was 'all there,' but he's sure he was off, because he only got paid for five and a half days that week. Tom's boy says, in fact everyone says, the man never wound the machine when they were passing."

"Oh, I'll tell you," says Mrs. Tucker, "they were in the wrong field, that was a place where they were measuring land, and when they found out their mistake they hurried up to St. George's, but just as the band was approaching the job was all over."

"Look here," says Shannahan, "I'm listening to ye prating there this half hour and I want to tell you that if I had a boy and he went up there on parade to have his picture took, and if he walked around four times wearing out his boots, and afterwards told me he wasn't took, there might be enough of him left to salute, but he'd never do the goose step again in this world. It's a queer thing to me how this foreigner could make such a mistake, and not know it; but just think of a crowd of boys and Col. Greene and all the officers going up there to get taken and to be made a fool of. There would be wigs on the green by this time in my young days. Instead of sending for the rest of the tape we'd send for the man and the machine, and when the man would arrive we'd give him a fair and square show for his life. Certainly we wouldn't go as far as St. George's Field with him, then we'd pick out a man and fight him square and fair, and we'd be satisfied with the way 'twould finish, for that man would never use the other half of his return ticket. Enquiries in these cases ain't worth a hiddler's curse. There's nothing like a good, square row to settle matters right."
—TIM SHANAHAN.

Spanish Premier Has Laid Bare New Plot

Madrid, Nov. 7.—That a bribery fund of several millions of dollars has been raised to buy up army officers and betray the Monarchical Government into the hands of the Republicans became known to-day. Members of noble families who have been estranged from King Alfonso by their dislike for his English Queen have contributed liberally to this fund. The plot has been betrayed to Premier Canalejas, and several army officers who have accepted money were secretly arrested yesterday.

Men who at former times have been high in the Council and Government are fleeing from Spain, but the Premier has announced that he has received instructions to take any action that he may deem necessary to stamp out sedition.

Senor Santos, who was arrested on the charge that he offered a bribe to the commandant at Badajoz, is kept in close confinement. An effort will be made to force him to confess all the details and name the leaders in the plot.

"There has been a conspiracy formed to overthrow the kingdom," said Premier Canalejas to-day, "but we have nipped it in the bud and now all we have to do is to catch the plotters. The army is loyal, and with General Weyler in command there will be no difficulty in blocking any attempt to establish a Republic."

General Weyler, the "Butcher of Cuba," is in command of the district about Barcelona. Barcelona is looked upon as the hotbed of unrest, and General Weyler has been stationed there as the man most likely to strike terror into the hearts of the revolutionary forces.

A general strike will soon go into effect at Saragossa. This is considered a revolutionary plan. A strike already exists in Sabadell and rioting is going on there constantly. A number of persons have been injured. Troops have been sent to both towns.

A Valuable Find.

An Old Picture, Unearthed at Liverpool, Proves to be Worth Thousands.

A valuable picture believed to be a genuine Murillo, which has just come into the possession of a Liverpool Roman Catholic priest, has a remarkable history. It is a painting of the Madonnas, and has without doubt been in Liverpool for at least 150 years. It was for eighty years the property of an art and curio dealer living in what at that time was the Spanish quarter of Liverpool.

When the dealer died the son sold the picture to a friend, an Orangeman. When the religious riots were at their height in Liverpool he decided that he would not keep the picture in his house any longer, and it was again offered for sale.

Father Jeanrenaud, rector of the Roman Catholic Oratory of St. Philip Neri, hearing that the picture was to be sold, went to see it, and, impressed with its beauty, which was apparent in spite of its great age, made an offer and became the owner for a comparatively small sum.

The canvas was nailed to an old wooden frame, and was very much soiled. One day, while examining the picture, Father Jeanrenaud found the initials "E. B." cut on the back of the frame. The letters had obviously been put there many years ago, and, thinking that the picture might be valuable, the priest invited an expert to see it. The gentleman after examining the canvas, came to the conclusion that it was a genuine Murillo, and Father Jeanrenaud formed the opinion that the initials on the frame were those of Bartholome Rabeau Murillo.

In the opinion of a prominent artist the canvas is worth $10,000.

Neither Cook nor Peary

Copenhagen, Nov. 5.—Neither Cook nor Peary has a shadow of truth in their claims.

"No living explorer nor Esquimaux has been within one hundred miles of the North Pole."

This is the startling conclusion reached by Knud Rasmussen, say missionaries to Greenland, who have returned here. The missionaries, who are deemed religious and reliable, say too that they bring details of Rasmussen's cross-examination of the two Esquimaux, Ahwah and Eburshuk, upon whose testimony Dr. Cook relied for corroboration of his claim that he reached the North Pole.

After close questioning these two and other Esquimaux, Rasmussen is absolutely certain that the Pole is still unconquered.

Rasmussen, an experienced Arctic explorer, is the Danish Inspector of Greenland. His mother was an Esquimaux, his father a Dane. Whatever Rasmussen says about Arctic exploration is accepted with the greatest faith here. He was a partisan of Dr. Cook at one time. So if the missionaries quote him correctly his report will roppen the entire Polar controversy.

Lodge of King Solomon's Temple.

(London Standard.)

After protracted negotiations it was decided recently to form a Freemasons' lodge, mainly of research, to meet at Jerusalem, and to be called "The Lodge of King Solomon's Temple." The members were to be drawn from all parts of the world. Owing to the political unrest in the East the promoters were advised to postpone the actual establishment of the lodge in Jerusalem for a few years and to meet meanwhile somewhere under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of England.

The promoters, after much deliberation, decided to have the new lodge consecrated in the province of Cheshire. The charter was granted last month by the Grand Lodge of England. Lord Egerton himself will perform the ceremony. The founders of the new lodge number eighty. Many of them are drawn from distant parts of the Empire.

Alaskan Frauds.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 4.—Federal indictments, charging conspiracy to defraud the Government of more than 20,000 acres of Alaskan coal lands, valued at $200,000,000, were returned by a Federal Grand Jury against Raymond Brown and Wm. L. Dunn, Spokane; Chas. M. Doughton, Seattle, former mayor Harry White, of Seattle, now living in Los Angeles; Chas. A. McKenzie, of Seattle, and Donald Mackenzie, of Washington, L. C. Seattle and Alaska.

The indictments charge that the six men had an agreement with the claimants, whereby they were to have a half interest in the claims.

Among those who were assignees of five or more of the claimants were former Governor John M. McGraw, of Washington, deceased; Governor Gillette, of California; Congressman McLachlan, of California; Henry T. Oshard, president of the American Beet Sugar Company, and former Mayor Harry White, of Seattle.

Nutritive Hypophosphites.

When a person feels "blue"—"all tired out"—doesn't feel like doing anything—cannot concentrate his mind on his work—feels weak mentally and physically—doubts his powers—complains of poor appetite and sleeplessness—suffers from headaches—then his nervous system is run-down and demands a good up-building tonic. Nervous exhaustion is a modern disease, caused by too close attention to business, overwork, worry, devotion to trying family cares, overstudy, etc. Nutritive Hypophosphites forms the best nerve and brain food known, and have restored thousands of sufferers to health. Compromise Reached, Says Dublin Report.

Dublin, Nov. 7.—The Evening Herald, a National organ, professes to have learned from an authoritative source that the members of the conference of the Government and the Opposition over constitutional questions have reached a compromise regarding the House of Lords, and that the Unionist leaders have agreed to support the Government until the latter has had full opportunity to frame a plan for the settlement of Irish matters.

Steamer Ashore on Labrador Coast.

Quebec, Nov. 9.—News was received here yesterday from Harrington Harbor, Labrador, that the coasting steamer General Wolfe, was driven ashore at that place during an easterly gale and sustained more or less damage. The engine room is making water.

The General Wolfe belongs to Messrs. Holiday Brothers, of this city, and parade between this and the north shore.

London, Nov. 8.—The Canadian Associated Press learns that the creation of an Empire club is being discussed in Government circles, but that it is likely that the idea will be deferred for discussion at the Imperial Conference.
