Saved From Drowning by J. J. Brown of Torbay.

"Michael Prendergast, of Fall River, a fisherman, who is 50 years of age, fell over at Pinniger & Manchester's wharf early yesterday afternoon and had a narrow escape from losing his life. He lost his balance and fell backward into the water on the south side of the wharf about 50 feet from any boat moored. John J. Brown, a fisherman, attached to the fishing steamer Vigilant, jumped into a boat, after calling for assistance and threw a line to the man, who had sunken twice.
Many men heard Brown's cry and fully 100 were on the spot in five minutes, coming from at least 10 fishing steamers which were moored nearby. Brown succeeded in putting the line about Prendergast's shoulders and hauling him into the dory in which he had jumped when he saw the man fall overboard.
Prendergast was finally put aboard the Vigilant from whence he was put on shore and resuscitated. He was very weak from exhaustion and the salt water he had swallowed, also from a dislocated shoulder which he received in his fall from the dock. No doctor was needed to revive him. The fingers of a fisherman slipped his shoulder in place, and by 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was walking up Thames Street as though he had never fallen overboard in his life. The men who answered the "man overboard" cry were from the Vigilant, Falcott, W. C. Wells, Sterling, Rover, J. S. Willard, Walter Adams, George Hudson, E. J. Cord, Raymond J. Anderson and the Susquehanna."
The above cutting is from a Newport, Rhode Island, paper of recent date. Mr. J. J. Brown is a Torbay man who goes to Newport, Rhode Island, every spring fishing. We congratulate Mr. Brown on his promptness and success in the performance of a worthy deed. His father lives at Torbay.
