Notes and Comments.

The Grabbers Must Go!

Morris is making good for the Grabbers. Bond will make good for the masses!

Union without intelligence is useless. Intelligence without Union is hopeless.

Why did Morris fear to face the electorate the past fall? The delay will, however, only make his position at the polls, worse.

Mr. Coaker had a splendid reception at Brigus, on Tuesday. There were hundreds of flags flying, guns were fired and a band played appropriate airs.

Our Burin correspondent has sent us a photograph of "The Burin Hospital." Any of our visitors can see it. Read our Burin Notes and note what our correspondent says.

Morris must go and give place to Bond. That is the sentiment of fishermen, farmers, laborers, clerks and those who work for a living. They have no use for the People's Party.

Piccolo's dredge appears not to be much of a success. It cost a lot of money, and is doing little to justify its cost. Why was not a practical man sent over to purchase a dredge that could fill the bill?

The demonstrations at Bonavista, Catalina, Port de Grave and Bay Roberts show what the Morris Government would have been up against, had Sir Edward had the courage to face the electorate the past fall. The feeling against the Government is growing and by the fall it will be 1889 and 1900 over again.

"By a successful loan of four million dollars at three and a half per cent, which I raised last year in London . . . we have been able to build all these railway branches." So spoke Premier Morris at Burin in October 11th, 1911. The next summer he was in London raising another railway loan of Two Million Dollars.

Our readers will observe that in our Greenspond Notes, our correspondent draws attention to the use of the Outport News Dispatch for partisan purposes. We have published protests before, but the partisan use of a public service goes on just the same. It is high time to turn the Morris Party out.

"We have made contracts with foreign companies for the development of our peat, coal, and beach-stone industries, the manufacture of explosives, the smelting of copper by the establishment of smelters," and Sir Edward did not forget to add in his Burin speech cold storage for fish. But where, and oh where, are all these industries now? They have vanished into thin air, just as the Morris Government will vanish this fall.

The announcement, first made in our columns, that the Legislative Council was to be increased by the addition of three fish merchants, was confirmed by the Gazette of Hon. A. F. Goodridge, Hon. James Ryan and the Hon. Philip Templeman, as members of that body. As we stated when we published the news, we take no exception to the gentlemen themselves. Mr. Goodridge is an experienced legislator and has been the Premier of a Ministry, and all three are prominent business men. To them personally we offer congratulations.

We asked, however, why an addition to the numerical strength of the Legislative Council had been made? We wanted to know what urgency or necessity there was for the addition; and also, why three fish merchants were chosen as the addition to a body which fish merchants are already well represented?

It cannot be urged that the legislative measures of the Morris Government have met with any rebuff from an adverse majority in the Legislative Council. The Ministry of Sir Edward Morris has not experienced any adverse divisions in the Legislative Council, which would in any degree warrant the addition of three or any number of supporters. That Government passed its legislative proposal through the Upper House, in the sessions of 1909, 1910, 1911 and 1912. Why then, has it been found necessary before the session of 1913 to have these appointments made? Explanations have been asked for, but so far the Government has offered none.

Grateful Mothers.

What Zam-Buk Did for Their Little Ones.

Thousands of mothers in Canada owe a debt of gratitude to Zam-Buk for its cure of their children, and hundreds of them are not slow to recognize the claim.

Mrs. J. Quiding, of Ninette, Man., says: "My little boy was suffering very badly from a form of skin disease over his eye. I applied Zam-Buk to the affected part, and in a very short time the sores were completely healed."

Mrs. F. Miners, of 311 Suffolk St., Guelph, Ont., says: "My little daughter Lorinda (6), contracted a skin disease. This first broke out like tiny water blisters, afterwards taking the form of dry scabs. These would disappear for a short time, and then reappear worse than ever."

"We tried Zam-Buk, and with each application the irritation and soreness were greatly relieved and the child rested easier." Perseverance with Zam-Buk worked a complete cure."

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., upon receipt of price. Refuse harmful substitutes.

"No Friend of Mine"

Special Evening Telegram, LONDON, Jan. 29.

Mrs. Despard, a leader of militant suffragettes who with two companions, was sentenced yesterday to 14 days' imprisonment on the charge of resisting the police, was released from custody this evening, some unknown person paying her fine of $1. Mrs. Despard, who is a sister of General Sir John French, refused to accept the option offered by the magistrate of paying a fine, and was sent to jail. On being notified of her release to-night, she said whoever paid that fine was no friend of mine, but I am going out to fight again.

The Field Hospital.

Doctors may err, even in the stillness of the sick room. How much more, then, are they likely to make mistakes in the uproar of the battlefield? That this is so is shown by the experience of the famous Russian General, Dragomiroff, who once narrowly escaped losing both his legs. He commanded a division during the Russo-Turkish War, and fell in the fighting at the Shipka Pass, wounded in several places. He was carried unconscious, to a field hospital, and came to himself just as the doctors were about to amputate both legs.

Dragomiroff said he would rather take his chance of dying, but they persisted. Then he drew a revolver and swore he would blow out the brains of the first man who tried to use a lancet on him. He had his way, but for over a week he held that revolver tightly clenched in his hand, fearing that the surgeons would yet play a trick on him. At night he made his servant stand on guard armed with a rifle. He recovered after a few weeks' illness, and the only permanent ill-effect was a slight limp. Needless to say, he afterwards regarded the army surgeon as one of the soldier's worst foes.

Burin Notes.

Quite a sensation was caused here by a message to the Telegram from Burin, about our Hospital, also the denial of any such a building by "Herald" and "Daily News." For their information, we may say that a building (the age of which our "Oldies" inhabitants cannot remember), and for the past ten years used for keeping sheep, situated in an unhealthy locality, is being fitted up as a Hospital for sick people that may come by steamer or boat from other places, and we understand this is being done at the Public Expense.

Last year the S.U.P. Society drew up a Petition to the House of Assembly, which was signed by them and also a large number of other citizens, asking that a hospital be built for the benefit of sick fishermen, and people that may have to come to Burin, to be treated by our doctors, as it was found to be very difficult to get a place to board them or to perform surgical operations. This building is taken as the answer to their request! A Stable!

Why not every large Outport where there is a resident doctor, have some kind of building where patients and sick fishermen can be treated properly? The cost of a small Hospital (say to contain four beds), would not be great, and would save the Government the cost of sending sick people by rail and steamers from long distances, to the General Hospital at St. John's. We have as competent doctors in the outports as there are in St. John's, who could treat patients just as well, if they had proper facilities.

The cost of upkeep of such Hospitals could be largely defrayed by contributions from local and foreign vessel owners to a Sick Mariners' Fund, the same as in Canada and the United States. In those countries in every small port that a vessel calls, they have to pay to a Sick Mariners' Fund. Why not have the same in this country. Over 100 foreign and Nova Scotia vessels called at this port last year, and if they paid according to tonnage and crews, quite a fund could be collected. But we must leave this for Sir Robert Bond to do after 1913.

CORRESPONDENT.

SEALS IN GULF.—The s.s. Invermore, which reached Port aux Basques from Sydney at 2.40 p.m. yesterday, steamed through a good deal of heavy ice in crossing Cabot Strait. The floe worked up through the Straits of Belle Isle to the Gulf, and while crossing the ship sighted four old seals with their young near them on the ice.
