A Splendid Electionist. A Splendid Elecutionist.

A Splendid Electionist.

Those who go to Victoria Hall on Thursday evening to hear the recitals of Prof. S. H. Clark, of Trinity College, Toronto, may prepare themselves for a decidedly great treat, as Mr. Clark is a splendid elecutionist. He appeared at the Congregational Church last season and delighted a large audience. Wherever he has appeared the papers and public have heartily praised his selections and the masterly rendition, Thursday evening's recitals will be under the auspices of the East Middlesex Teachers' Association, which meets in this city on Thursday and Friday.

Removing Corn Tassels.

have noted for some time was conducted last season at the Cornell University Experimental Station. It was to test the claim that if the tassels are removed from corn before they have produced pollen, the strength thus saved to the plant would be turned to the avaries and a larger amount of grain be produced. In the general corn field a plat of 48 rows, with 42 hills in each row was selected for the experiment. From each alternate row the tassels were removed as soon as they appeared and before any pollen had fallen, this being done four times—on July 21, July 25, July 28 and Aug. 4. The corn stood till ripe and on Sept. 29 to Oct. 1 was cut, husked, the stocks and ears being weighed and counted, with the following result:

100

No. stalks ... 4,186 4,228 100 101
Weight of 100 stalks 82 79 100 96
It will be seep that the number of good ears and the weight of merchantable corn were both a little more than 50 per cent. greater on the rows from which the tassels were removed than on those on which the tassels were left. This was not only true of two sets of rows as a whole, but of the individual rows as well. The whole plot suffered severely by drought. The hills of corn were three feet six luches by three feet eight inches apart; soil dry and gravelly and moderately fertile. As for as the time taken to remove the tassels could be estimated it paid from a commercial standpoint last season to remove all the tassels from half the rows. It might not be so on another soil, or in another season or under another soil, or in another season or under other conditions. Several important points remain to be investigated. A Traveler Rejoicing.
