The Canadian Pacific Railway Bill was then adopted in committee and read a third time and passed.

The Bagwell, Wand and Middleton divorce bills were read a second time on a division and Sir Alexander and the Manufacturers'.

Sir John Macdonald made the promised oxplanations respecting the Manufacturers' Insurance Company and the connection of Sir Alexander Campbell with the vice-presidency. When the company was organized in Toronto Sir Alexander Campbell was in England. He had left Mr. Fred Barwick to look after his affairs and when it was desired that he should accept the vice-presidency Mr. Barwick wrote to him stating the facts and asking him to subscribe for the stock necessary to qualify him. Sir Alexander snawered by cable: "Letter received. Answer, yes. Subscribe same amount of stock as Macdonald."

He also wrote a latter stationard.

He also wrote a letter stating that he was very glad to accept the position of first vice-president under Sir John Macdonald, president, and would, subscribe for the same amount of stock as Sir John had. Mr. Barwick before rower of attorney to do so of stock as Sir John had. Mr. Barwick having power of attorney to do so subscribed for the stock and paid the call demanded, and Sir Alexanderwas duly manned first vice-president, but upon his return from England Sir Alexander Campbell changed his mind for reasons which need not be alluded to now and determined that he would not take up the stock or assume the office. As there were numerous applicants for the yacancy he was not further pressed.

When he found that his name was still being used in the newspapers, Sir Alexander had saused his solicitor to write to The World the letter which had caused the matter to be $20,000 over and above his insurance of $20,000 over and above his insurance of which has been hanging fire so long, as the measure went through very quietly to-night without objection. The Government's new arrangement with the commany will probably be brought down to-morrow. A large number of questions were answered by ministers at the afternoon sixting.

Mr. Slanly inquired: Has she Government's minister arising from the combine system as the afternoon sixting.

Mr. Slanly inquired: Has she Government are converted any petitions from the share holders of, the Grand Trunk Railway Company? If so, has any action been taken thereon?

Sir John Macdonald replied that a petition from Grand Trunk siarcholders had been resirved, protesting against the grand to able sides to any railways durilenting or competing aims to strong lines. No action course by taken un the petition, but it would be considered when any rail way claims come before the Government on the fourt.

Mr. Milock asked whether the attention of the Government and been drawn to the asticle in The Kinghner rointing out structural elees in the St. George bridge whered y lier arrivary bridges to save whether they are also structurally defective.

Sir John Macdonald answered that the Government's might be secondary to the committee.

Mr. Milock asked whether it is the intention of the Government to mind to be necessally discussed in the straight of the control of the Government to introduce such as bulk and my bouverable friend will therefore be deprived of the opportunity of voling against the bill, which he did twice before.

The C.F.R. Bill Passed.

After recess in committee of the whole the House resumed consideration of the Canadian Pacific Railway Debenture Consolidation Bill. Hon. Mr. Laurier inquired about the arrangement with the Canadian Pacific Railway. Believe and Salisbury link of the Short Line Railway, about which Sir John had spoken the other evening.

Sir John said that when he had mentioned that agreement it had not passed the Council. Since then it had become a minute of the Council but not an order, having been forwarded thus evening for His Excellency's signature. He hoped to be able to lay it before the House to-morrow.

Hon. Mr. Laurier said that as this Canadian Pacific Railway bill was a private one and intended only to improve the efficiency of the service he would not oppose its passage.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Complicated Toronto Case Taken Up-Mi Mead's Claim for Good Will. OTTAWA, April 8.—The case of O'Keefe v.

Curran was taken up in the Supreme Court to-day. This is an involved and complicated case, which has excited great differences of opinion in the judicial mind. Mr. Mead, at one time a partner of the firm of O'Keefe & Co., Toronto, seeks complemention for the good will of the business. The firm carried on business in Toronto for two years and Mead retired. The whole question turned on the articles of partnership, and whether under the circumstances of Mead's retirement he is entitled to be compensated for the good will, for which he claims $12,000. Christopher Robitson, Q.C., appeared for the applicants, and Measure. McCartly and Warren for appellants. The appeal is from the Court of Appeal for Ontario, setting asite the judgment of Justice Cameron, dismissing the plaintiff's action with costs.

Not one of The Times' counsel has yet received a penny in fees; only the explenaes of witnessee have been paid. The explanation is that The Times entered upon the commission business confipaid. The explanation is that The Times entered upon the commission business confident of an ultimate grant from the Government, but the collapse of the letters alters the situation, and a grant is out of the question. The Times therefore has to face an unexpected expenditure of £50,000 of law expenses, plus another £50,000 for libels. Mr. Water is a very rich man, and he may come to the rescue of his fellow proprietors, but the position of The Times is threatened.

Another Letter from Stonley. LONDON. April 8.—Henry M. Stanley's letter to the Royal Geographical Society was read at the meeting of that body this evening. The letter consists mainly of a pepetition of whiat has already been published. He describes at length the various devices by which the natives endeavored to prevent the advance of the expedition. One of these was to dig shallow pits across the path of the column and fill them with skewers, which were defuly covered with leaves. The skewers pierced the feet of Stanley's men, inflicting wounds that in many cases developed into gangrenous sores. The men who were lained in this manner were seldom of further service.

Mr Stanley calls the matives "cuming reques" and says that for the purpose of extertion they always presended that the country was suffering from a famine. The friendles, he says, withhold information, but the natives who were captured by the expedition imparted all they knew, Mr. Stanley believes that the lake he discovered in 1876 belongs to the Congo. 5 9 read at the meeting of that body this evenin

THE YORK-STREET WHARF.

Ferry Boats Will Run From It Again This The old wharf at the foot of York-stre is now in a badly torn-up condition. For years it has been in bad shape and at times it was dengerous because of the many holes in its rotten planks. There were men at work its rotten planks. There were men at work yesterday under the direction of Mr. Frank Doty and Commodore Williams tearing down the old warehouse which was built 50 years ago for the purposes of an elevator. The joists in this building were saved by hand and are as sound as when put into the building. They are being used to form a new floor on the wharf, which will at last be in a decent condition.

The Doty Ferry Company has arranged with the C.P.R. to use this wharf till the end of the boating season, which will be about the first of October, when it will be removed. Conger's coal yard buildings and Hicks' two to bastlosses will be demolished on May I and then the water front between Yonge and York-streets will be entirely clear.

The Summer Resorts.

Toronto's numerous summer resorts are already being touched up, independent of the touch of nature which is said to make all the world skin. The Hastings is going over to lumber, shingles, etc., for the summer hotel which P. G. Close will build in his Lake View Park this season. There are 105 acres in this park, and it will be one of the cool attractions of the season.

They Maike Things Mixed Ug.

The Chief of Police is much opposed to the men smployed on the Toronto fire and police patrol wearing their present uniform, which so much resembles that of a city officer. His particular objection is that very often citizens give these men important information, believing that they are constables, the information thus conveyed never reaching Headquarters. He is preparing a memorial asking the City Council to pass if no sible a by-law regulating might watchmen of all grades.

Soft is the radiance of the moon,

Bright are the stars above us, Close come we to the night's own noon; And in the still and silent hours While Fancy roves her misty bowers Think we of those who love us. And some are far, and some are near; The heart has room, aye, ample,
For nigh or not they all are dear;
And friends are friends o'er sea, o'er land; "I's heart to heart, like hand to hand, Thus time and space we trample.
