In the past three months we have refused several offers made by Canadian and United States agencies, but we see nearly all our contemporaries have accepted them. In a case where we were requested by a patent medicine concept to furnish figures, we find an agency interfering, and asking us to insert the patent adv., with the usual modest discount of one-fourth the amount. Our reply is always the same: "We are not running ads. for foreign concerns at lower rates than we charge our home deal era." Of course, we cannot fight this system alone, and we look to our brethere for their co-operation. We can give all the space needed to cheap advertizing concerns, but we would prefer to eliminate them alto gether. We are of the opinion that the system is dishonoring to the profession and a sort of self-depreciation on the part of publishers. The system has become in tolerable to us, as it must be to mage of our contemporaries."
