

And then we knew that we were home,
A happy week had come and gone,
And in the town by rail.
We'd come to sigh and say, alas!
Life's come, I swear, to a pretty pass,
Without a Forestdale.