

PUNCE'S CURIOUS DREAM.

Some people say that dreams come to pass
But I don't think mine ever will
For I dreamt I saw new paving-stones
All the way up Mountain hill.

I dreamt that the Mayor of Quebec Belonged to the J. O. G. T.
But that is the most improbable
And strangest thing that could be.

I dreamt that the ladies were never deformed
With bustle or grecian bend
That chignons and all other vanities
Had bust up and come to an end.

I dreamt that Old Colonel Gogy
Had given up going to law
And that the dandified foppish young Quirnet Never in his life said, haw! haw!

I dreamt that the peelers were very brave
And never flinched in a row
While everyone knows the lazy louts
Would run away from a cow.

Perhaps you will say that I had this strange dream,
Because I had drunk too much punch
But as far as I can remember
I took nothing but cider at lunch.

PUNCE.

The Philadelphia man who was arrested in Delaware for horse stealing wrote home to his friends that he was temporarily detained there by a heavy pressure of stocks.

The most attentive man to business on record was he who wrote on his shop door;
"Gone to bury my wife; return in half an hour." He was no relation to the lawyer who put upon his office door: "Be back in five minutes," and returned only after a pleasure trip of three weeks.

Near Knoxville, the other night, a young girl, who was unexpectedly interviewed by the family as she was about cloping with the object of her virgin affections; knocked the old man down, laid out two brothers with a cistern pole, kicked the hired man in the stomach, and got away with her lover, and "made the raffle."
We wish that heaven had sent us such a woman as that.

Hypocritical City Missionary. Davis is wearing a black patch over his left eye, he pretends it is affected by the cold, but we fear that the ingredients composing that frost, were hot whiskey and water.

A meeting of the Scotchmen was held in the basement of the Scotch church, as to the propriety of having a march or reunion on

The march to proceed by the St. Foy road, up the Belvidere and into town by the St. Louis road. The pipes on passing the different burying grounds to play the Dead March in Saul. After passing, the tune "Hey Johnny Cope, ain't ye wakin yet," to be struck up. This band for the future to be known as the Scotch Greys.
God bless the Duke of Argyle.

What is Brain worth in Quebec.

This is a question often asked but seldom answered, can any of our Peter street answer. We mean particularly those with more money than brains, who employ young men having considerable of the latter article to do their work and pay them according to the dictate of their own parsimonions souls.

If the said Magnetes would wish us to be more explicit they have only to say so, and vide next issue of saturday.

To the electors of the County of Bel-lechasse.

Fredet M.P.P. the batteau member of the above county elected by a large majority over Dr. Blanchet who was rejected and dishonored by all sensible and intelligent people. A straw shows, which way the wind blows in the Federal Parliament in relation to our county.

A Levis Citizen.

A Peter street Notary was called upon the other day by two young men for professional assistances.

One of them commenced: Mr. Our father died and made a will."

"Is it possible? I never heard of such a thing," answered Mr.

"I thought it happened every day," said the young man.

"It is the first case of the kind," answered Mr.

"Well," said the young man, "If there is to be any difficulty about it, we has better give you a fee to attend to the business."

The fee was given, and then M— observed: Oh: I think I know what you mean You mean that your father made a will and died. Yes, yes, that must be it, that must be it. But he took the fee, nevrtheless.
