

WIT AND HUMOR.

The New Haven Register wants a Patti night in that village. Dear sir, a Patti night includes Nicotini, and Nicky is said to be very expensive. —Atlanta Constitution.

An Ohio girl sued a man for breach of promise, and proved him such a mean scoundrel that the jury decided that she ought to pay him something for not marrying her.

Never despair. Many a boy who goes around with a yellow patch on his blue pantaloons may some day write a volume of poetry in blue and gold, or have a silver plate on his door.

A man intruded into an Irishman's shanty the other day. "What do you want?" asked Pat. "Nothing was the visitor's reply. "Then you'll find it in the jug where the whisky was."

Says the Albany Argus: "Great truths are often said in the fewest words." Do you mean the remark of the Indian who, sitting upon a wasp's nest, arose and remarked: "Heap hell!" —Boston Post.

Persistent Party.—Not at home? But are you sure he isn't? Don't you think you had better go and ask? "Now, Madam—No, sir, it wouldn't be a bit of good." He told me he wasn't, most distinctly. —Tudor.

Sophia, sentimentally: "I dearly love to listen to the ticking of a clock. It seems to me that a clock has a language of its own." Mr. Smart: "Yes, Sophia; the clock has a language—you may say a dial-ect."

The great American punsters must be off sleigh riding. Not one of them has noted that the bride of the son of the New York Times proprietor was formerly Caldwell and is now called Jones. —Philadelphia News.

A gentleman, giving a lecture to some boys, was explaining how no one could live without air. He then said, "You have all heard of a man drowning; how does that happen?" The ready answer was, "Cause he can't swim."

"Father," said an inquisitive boy, "what is meant by close relations?" "Close relations, my son," replied the father, "are relations who never give you a cent." The boy said the old man, then, was the "closest" relation he'd got.

"Ella, is your father at home?" said a bashful lover to his sweetheart. "I want to propose something to him." "No Clarence, papa is not at home, but I am. Couldn't you propose to me just as well?" And he did, with perfect success.

A charming young actress who called upon a prominent critic to beg some good words in a forthcoming article, began the conversation by saying, with an appealing look, "It is the first time that I have ever been out without my mother." —La Figaro.

Those brutes of men.—First Benedict:—"Well, this weather suits you?" Second Ditto:—"Capital, capital! And you?" First Ditto:—"I believe you; my wife has such a cold she can't speak. Ha, ha." Second Ditto:—"Splendid! So has mine. Ha, ha, ha!"

"I just went out to see a friend for a moment," remarked Jones to his wife, as he returned to his seat in the theatre. "Indeed," replied Mrs. J. with sarcastic surprise. "I supposed, from the odor of your breath, that you had been out to see your worst enemy." Jones winced.

The New York Mail's society reporter states that Miss Fidget broke a $5,000 vase at Mrs. Gush's party the other night and never apologized. "She didn't think it worth while to apologize for such a trifle, knowing, as she did, that Mrs. Gush could buy another just like it for 75 cents."

In Paris every employe demands a New Year's gift of somebody. A young man presented himself at the door of Mr. G. "What can I do for you, my friend?" "I've come for my New Year's present." "I don't know you; who are you, anyway?" "I'm the clerk of the Sheriff who make a seizure here the other day."

Couldn't see the fun: A man at a church fair thought it would be a good joke to put up a leather medal to be voted to the most unpopular man in the ward at 10 cents a vote. But he wasn't so tickled with the notion when he was unanimously elected to take it. He could not see anything funny in the result. —Anon.

A little girl once told a letter from her mother to an old lady friend. "Many thanks, my child," she said; "you may tell your mother that you are a good child and are a faithful little messenger." "Thank you, ma'am; and I shall tell her too that I didn't ask you for 10 cents, because mamma told me not to."

At a table d'ote in Normandy a very polite gentleman notices the older carafe and pours out for all his neighbors. "Madam, a little cider?" "Oh, monsieur, thank you." "And you, monsieur?" "With pleasure. But you are giving me all; you have none left for yourself." The gentlemen, with satisfaction: "Ah, now I can have some fresh."

Peppery pleasure: "Miserable!" said young Byronds. "Of course I'm miserable, and I can't help looking so. I'm invited, and can't refuse to attend a party given by the girls at the boarding-school. They're going to cook the supper themselves, and I shall have to eat some of the bread and cake, and I shall die in awful agony before morning. I know I shall." —Boston Post.

At a Sunday-school examination, the teacher, after what he had been studying and repeating, said he could forgive those who had wronged him. "Could you?" said the teacher, "forgive a boy, for example, who had insulted or struck you?" "Yes, sir," replied the lad, very slowly, "I think—I could, but he added in a much more rapid manner, "I could if he was bigger than I am."

ACCURATE TIME-KEEPING. Many of the discoveries of science which at the time are regarded merely as refinements—very interesting, but without practical value—sooner or later find their special use in supplying wants before unmet. It is but one of the evidences of the advance of civilization that exact methods of dividing and measuring time are now in demand, not only by scientists and professional men, but also by individuals as a matter of convenience. It has come to be highly important to know what is the exact time of day to the second, in circumstances where, half a century ago, it would have quite sufficed to know the minute or even the hour. This may be due to the increased value of time when measured by the number of events, or the magnitude of operations which modern civilization is capable of crowding into a given interval; there can be no doubt that a second-to-day, records a greater stride in the world's progress than did many hours in the days of our ancestors. Of so great importance, for many evident reasons, has the knowledge of the exact time become, that much thought of some of the best heads has been devoted to methods of ascertaining it and making it available by distribution of public use.

Consumption Cured.

SINCE 1870 Dr. Sberar has each year sent from this office the means of relief and cure to thousands afflicted with disease. The correspondence necessitated by this work becoming too heavy for him, I came to his aid. He now feels constrained to relinquish it entirely, and has placed in my hands the formula of that simple vegetable remedy discovered by an East India missionary, and found so effective for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Diseases; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints. Its remarkable curative powers have been proven in many thousand cases, and, actuated by the desire to relieve suffering humanity, I gladly assume the duty of making it known to others. Address me, with stamp, naming this paper, and I will mail you, free of charge, the recipe of this wonderful remedy, with full directions for its preparation and use, printed in German, French or English.—W. A. Novis, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y. 16-1360w

SKOBELEFF'S SPEECHES.

The Times prints a letter from St. Petersburg which it says has the best of reasons for knowing accurately describes the situation. The letter declares that Skobelev's speeches were pre-arranged between him and Ignatieff. It is said the object of the latter is to embroil matters to such a degree as to create an opportunity for him to offer his services to the Czar as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

A RUSSO-AUSTRIAN WAR IMPENDING.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 9.—It is feared in official circles that a war between Russia and Austria is inevitable. The question of calling out the reserves is seriously discussed. It has, at least, been decided in principle that some preparatory measures should be taken. Exaggerated apprehensions of the palace party cause them to look favorably on a rapprochement with Austria.

THE HERO OF THE HOUR.

St. Petersburg, March 6.—When General Skobelev arrived here on Saturday last about one hundred persons assembled to meet him. Admission to the railway station was refused them. As soon as the General made his appearance he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. He rapidly traversed the crowd smiling, saluting, and distributing here and there a warm shake of the hands. He got into a carriage without delay accompanied by his Lieutenant. There were only three or four officials in the crowd.

MOTHERS! MOTHERS! MOTHERS!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it; there is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle. (G26)

APPARITION OF THE VIRGIN.

A CHILD WHO SAW IT TELLING HER FATHER—THIS SPECTACLE SEEN IN FRANCE IN 1824.

Troy, March 6.—The Rev. Peter Havermans is the pastor of St. Mary's Church, which is the richest Roman Catholic congregation in this city. He was ordained in the priesthood over half a century ago. A correspondent of The Sun called upon the aged clergyman this evening to obtain his opinion of the alleged apparition of the Virgin Mary at the Jones domicile in this city. Father Havermans said that yesterday afternoon Annie Maloney, aged 14 years, who lives in the Jones house, called on him and asked what she ought to do when people told her not to tell the truth.

"Do not heed them, my child," replied the priest, "but tell the truth at all times."

"That is what I thought," answered the child, "and I will tell you what I saw. I know, Father, that I saw the Blessed Virgin at the house where I live in the rear of 300 Flat street. I saw it first and told the others, I began to tell about it outside, and was told that I must not do so."

Father Havermans did not wish to give an opinion of the alleged apparition of the Virgin at Mr. Jones' house, but said it was possible that what the Maloney girl had said was true. She was a very good girl. That again it might be a delusion, he said. It was not in his parish, and he had not made any investigation. "But," he added, "a miracle is as liable to happen here as anywhere else. I am not a skeptic; but I remember an apparition which was witnessed by thousands besides myself. It was while I was a student at Poitiers, in France, on the Jubilee of Leo XII., in 1824. When the services were about to commence at mid-day, across, apparently two hundred feet high, waved over the edifice and remained for nearly an hour. This wonderful spectacle was discussed by the press, and the name of the structure was changed to the Church of the Holy Cross. On the occasion of my recent visit to Europe I saw a man who had been a paralytic who was instantly cured by a visit to Knock Chapel in Ireland. The Church is very reluctant to move in these matters, and, in fact, discommences them; and up to this time the alleged miracles at Knock have not received the approval of the Church. Whether anything will be done in this case I do not know; but it is within the province of the Bishop of the diocese to appoint a committee of investigation."

The excitement over the alleged apparition does not diminish. At 5 this afternoon it is estimated that there were over five hundred persons in the neighborhood of the Jones residence, but only a favored few were admitted. —N. Y. Sun.

Erst's Cocoa—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Erst has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame. —Civil Service Gazette. Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets and tins (1 lb. and 1 lb.) labelled "Erst's Cocoa & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London, England." Also makers of Erst's Ointment, Biscuits, &c.

FASHION NOTES.

Linen green is a new shade. The new red is carnation color. Sateen is a good material for a domino. Satin, with jet heads, is the new gimp. Redingotes and poulaines are revived. Combination costumes are losing favor. Double-breasted sacques are out of style. Worth is bringing plain stints into fashion. New cotton satinettes are as lustrous as silk. Jersey dresses are fashionable for little girls.

The Valois style retains its hold on public favor. Cashmere and India shawls will be in high favor. Stained glass designs are copied in new spring goods.

The latest form of the poke bonnet is the "London Witch." The "Comets of 1881" is a new design for cambrics and lawn.

The masculine style of dress for women is going out of vogue. Sunflower yellow crops out in ribbons and other millinery goods.

Sleeves made of fine flowers are pretty on evening dresses. A pouf just below the back of the waist is on the newest dresses.

Moons and large polka spots will be stylish for spring dresses. Sicily and Turkey reds in bright ruby-like shades will be much worn.

Embroidery patterns, done in feathers, appear on new ball dresses. Maiden hair fern is mixed with orange blossoms for brides' dresses.

All shades of color are represented in the grounds of the new satetees. Satin toilets are much used for receptions and afternoon entertainments.

Quarter trains are more stylish than either short trains or demi-trains. Foulard handkerchiefs have large bills of three colors on a white ground.

More Pekin in narrow stripes of satin on a moire surface is a pretty novelty. Feathers trim many ball dresses, but flower garnitures are not exploded.

Jasmine and white lilacs are mingled with orange blossoms in bridal wreaths. Chipped feather rosettes, in pale pink shades, trim newly imported bonnets.

The passion flower is a favorite design in printed satetees, percales and cambrics. The new batistes follow the colorings and designs of the new satetees and percales.

Straw hats and bonnets will be worn almost to the exclusion of chip this spring. Gilt nails, with flat, square heads, are used to fasten cloth dresses instead of buttons.

Many small capote bonnets are seen among the first openings of spring millinery. Lenten costumes will be made of fine black wool, trimmed with braid or with lace.

A plainly but well made and tastefully draped costume often eclipses a more elegant toilet. Pure white, without any yellow or ecru tinge, will be more fashionable than the creams and ecrus.

Sleeves are very short, and generally consist of a shoulder-piece plaited in fan shape, or a bow and two crossed draperies. A novelty in ornaments for evening wear is flowers of gold, silver or steel filigree. They are worn in the hair, on the corsage, and looping the cash or skirt draperies.

The liveliest and purest shades of rose, pink, blue, mauve, maize, and other light colors are seen in spring satetees in addition to the sage grays, bronzes, olives, hunter's maroon, navy and turquoise blues, black and white.

New woollen dress stuffs have appeared in albatross cloth, and French bunting and nuns' veillings will live through another season; and because useful and durable they will perhaps acquire standard position in the list of dress fabrics.

Trimming ribbons are wider than those of last season, and will measure three to four inches. Another new ribbon combines fulle seducante with the lace patterns and with satin; thus the centre stripe will be frilled, a lace stripe edges this on one side, while on the other side is satin with broad small flowers or leaves. There are also ribbons that are more half their width, and the moresque lace designs make up the other half; sometimes a watered stripe is through the middle of the ribbon, and there are lace stripes on each edge.

Waists cut low in the neck, "a la grecque," with shoulder-pieces of precious stones, are to be the style. Jewels are to be much worn on ball dresses, arranged in novel ways. Branches of flowers and leaves, in diamonds and other stones, as well as very large beetles of precious stones, are worn on the dresses. The latest named are on the waist.

The bunches of emblematical flowers are arranged in branches, placed one over another, and twisted around the arm, reaching to the elbow, or are arranged to form algrettes for the hair. White satin and tulle toilets are trimmed with natural flowers, arranged for the purpose.

THE BRADLAUGH BUSINESS.

LONDON, March 8.—An ugly feeling is growing up here over the Bradlaugh case, and there are serious fears of a popular uproar over it.

VOLTAIRE!

Voltaire said of an apothecary that his employment was to pour drugs, of which he knew little, into a body of which he knew less. This may be said of hundreds of practicing physicians, who daily are prescribing drugs of which they know little, for the cure of coughs, colds, lung diseases, asthma and consumption. The patient's constitution is often impaired by such treatment. One bottle of N. H. Doves' Vegetable Balaicoma Elixir has in many cases cured obstinate coughs and colds, and has proved a never-failing remedy for lung diseases and consumption. There is a certainty of recovery when the Elixir is used.

BEST AND MOST COMFORT TO THE SUFFERING.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels; Sore Throat; Rheumatism; Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful. —Brown's Household Panacea, being acknowledged as the great Pain-Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted. It is really the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the Stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds, and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. (G26)

THE U. S. MINISTER ON THE COERCION ACT.

LONDON, March 9.—The United States Minister, replying to an application on behalf of American citizens arrested in Ireland, says the Coercion Act is contrary to the spirit and to the foundation of the principles both of English and American jurisprudence, but is the law of the land and controls all persons domiciled in proclaimed districts of Ireland, whether British subjects or not. It is manifestly futile to claim that naturalized citizens of the United States should be exempted from the operation of the Act.

THE ANNEXATION OF LUXEMBOURG.

LONDON, March 8.—It is reported that the convention between Germany and France, for the annexation by the latter of Luxembourg is contradicted.

THE APPROACHING CONSISTORY.

Rome, March 8.—It is said that at the approaching Consistory the Pope will create seven new Cardinals, including Mgr. McCabe, Archbishop of Dublin. It is understood that this expresses the Pope's approval of the efforts of Mgr. McCabe in the cause of law and order.
