BAY OF QUINTE, 26th December, 1853. Sir-I hope you will be so kind as to publish the following statement relative to an examina-tion of the Mohawk Mission School, which took place on Saturday last (the 24th inst.) That school is supported by the New England Company, and is under the superintendence of the Rev. G. A. Anderson, who is the rector of this mission. His wife, some time ago, visited the school, and was so well pleased with the progress the scholars had made, that she stated that she would give prizes to the most deserving of the scholars, viz. for the greatest proficiency in the different branches taught; for the best knowledge in the Church Catechism and in the Principles of the Christian religion; and also for the most regular attendance at school, as well as improvement in conduct. The several prizes were awarded without favor to the seveal persons considered the most deserving of them, and they were contended for in a most earnest and zealous manner. The knowledge displayed by an Indian girl more particularly, in the several branches in which she was examined, was highly gratifying. She was examined, was highly gratifying. proved herself to be well acquainted, and solved all the problems given to her, and well she ment in Buffalo is intense. mendation of the teacher. At the conclusion hovided by Mrs. Anderson for the children in the school room; they were waited upon in the most attentive and careful manner by the Rev. Mr. Anderson, the Rev. Mr. Lauder, of the Napanee Mission, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Lauder, Miss Roberts, and other respectable persons present. After the children dined, all the persons sons present partook of an excellent dinner prepared for the occasion. The prizes were then given to those scholars to whom they were awarded; when the Rev. Mr. Anderson informed he would give each of them a present. This unexpected news had a pleasing effect upon them; their faces brightened with joy and gratitude to their kind elergyman and this calculation. Has a side of the solution of the solu titude to their kind clergyman, and this school examination will not soon be forgotten by them In conclusion, I would remark, if all clergymen would take the same trouble with their schools, and ladies go to some expense in providing Prizes; good and efficient teachers employed, LAWLESSNESS IN TORONTO .- It is to be hoped that the attention of the new City Council will frozen to death on the railroad tract in Chinbe immediately aroused to the necessity of providing for the unprotected state of the city. The several tragical events, so lately enacted in its very heart, are alarming in the extreme. One man throttled and put into the watter at the very foot of Yong street—another supposed to have been made away with, and last seen at the Corner of King and Toronto-streets—a woman set upon and nearly strangled, in Queen-street and the cabman so brutally beaten the other died from it,—are circumstances calculated to arouse public attention. There must be a bad being taken for the general safety! Why is nat other fixings.

On Monday last an accident of a melancholy character occured on the line of the Great estern Railway, about one and a half miles from this city, resulting in the death of John Price, a fireman, and the loss of three lows, besides very serious injury sustained by the locomotive and cars. It appears that on the train from the Suspension Bridge to this the property of R. A. Land, Esq., three cows, which are supposed to have been down drink-ing, ascended the left bank, and got on to the At the time the locomotive was about yards fram the cattle, and the engineer mmediately whistled for the breaks to be put on, and reversed the engine. The distance was Wever altogether too short to stop the train in, and the consequence was that the engine came in contact with the cattle, and was thrown partly down a small embankment. The deceased The Splendid II. S. It is with deep regret we record the death of this amiable and promising young man, who was favorably known to most of the youth of this place, and who had endeared himself to all by his guileless disposition and childlike simplicity of character. The insidious disease, which blighted the bloom of his early days, was attended, as usual in such cases, with alternate hopes and fears—but the rapidity with which he sprang out of boylood into youth, and the bright, heetic flush which glowed upon his cheeks, bespoke the fatal nature of his illness, and to all but his doating-parents seemed to mark him as the victim of a premature decline. Throughout a long and depressing illness he manifested true Christian patience and resignation—no murmur or repining escaped his lips—he always endeavored to conceal his increasing weakness from his sorrow stricken parents, in order to save their feelings—at the same time he meekly chided their over-anxiety, and fond attachment, and cautioned them against worshipping or making an idol of their child. His Bible and Prayer-

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Backwood, still under the fatherly care of Christo. North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is at this time unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that Magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons," and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer,) "The Gree Hand," "Katle Stewart," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messis. Scott & Co., so that Subscribers to the Reprint of that Mag zine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.
