

in mind that for other purposes the quill pen, the silver sand-box, the stiff parchment and the blackened lamp are still with us, a little dusty perhaps, but never obsolete and never in a hurry.