AUTOS

What We Got

- The new Free Trade deal phases out all tariffs on Canada-U.S. automotive products over 10 years.
- Producers will have to have 50 per cent North American content in their vehicles, to qualify for tariff-free trade between Canada and the U.S.

Here's What We Kept

- The FTA keeps Auto Pact conditions and benefits for GM, Ford and Chrysler.
- The Big Three must keep their commitments covering Canadian production levels.

How Do You Benefit?

- The deal is binding on all Canada-U.S. auto trade, including that now conducted under the Auto Pact.
- If you are a parts manufacturer, you will benefit from the new rules. The FTA encourages vehicle assemblers to purchase more Canadian and U.S. parts.
- Ontario and Quebec will be the major industrial beneficiaries.
- Canadians will be able to import used cars and trucks.
