

"Hark! heard you no
And there and
Yes some uneasy
As he turns

"Porting their useless anchors,
The barge came drifting by,
A fearful fleet for a ship to meet
Under the midnight sky;
Their keels are fathoms under,
Their prows are sharp as steel,
Their stroke, the crash of thunder,
All silently on they steal."