FEEBLE-MINDED TO LEARN CANNING

Hot and variety of fruits and vegetables now grown in connection with the institutions for defectives and the prison farm is somewhat amazing in its scope, and the excellence of the product has been attested by exhibition at fall fairs, where their presence has called forth admiration.

Products of the Cow.
In addition to the venture in the field of preserving, it is probable that a more serious attempt will be made to render the institutions completely independent as regards dairy and beef supplies. The actual figures of the number of pounds of milk, butter and cheese are already in the hands of the department together with the amount of meat annually consumed and the rate of its consumption.

The success of the government crops for the season bespeaks the success of the enterprise planned. From every quarter the reports have been most encouraging and in many cases more than enough crops have been gathered.
Next season the agricultural end of the work will be pushed with great vigor.
Extensive tile drainage operations are already under way.

The plan of the government as shown merely displays another phase of the work now being done in brick-making and building at the various farms. The supplies are at hand, and by organization are turned to good account by the inmates who enjoy a double profit from the industry.

FINE EXHIBITION AT THE LIBRARY

Ontario Society of Artists and Special Services Will Be Held

WORK IS EXCELLENT SALVATION ARMY ALSO

Output Speaks for Assiduity Meetings Will Be Held in and Artistry of the Barracks and at Massey Hall.

The joint exhibition of the Ontario Society of Artists and Society of Graphic Arts opened last night at the Art Museum, College Street Library.

There are in all between three and four hundred water colors and pastels, illustrations and etchings, and the output generally speaks for the assiduity and artistry of the workers.

It might be held to say that master pieces are numerous. Indeed few are competent to make such a pronouncement, but none may deny that among them is a work of such merit that it is hard to differentiate the "Children's Pets," a scene in Rottterdam, is an attractive piece of work by Bell Smith. Many figures, the children in pinnies and pinafores, and white curious headpieces of the Dutch peasant with the tall bulging of the square as a setting, make a picturesque combination.

The Old Norman Church, a small picture, but one that shows the artist's and proportion, together with rich subdued coloring, is by G. A. Reid, as is also the Blacksmith's Shop, another striking ensemble.

John W. Cotton has "The Willows," a landscape, particularly true to nature, the light on the trees, the bit of blue sky between the branches, the bridge and the man leading the cow well worked out.

A wealth of detail and vivid coloring found in the Old Dutch Garden, by Wall Cousins. One of the largest and best in the gallery is "The Toronto Art Students," by W. Bengough.
